Nixon may enter hospital

LONDON (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg said here today former President Richard M. Nixon has indicated in a telephone conversation that he expects to be hospitalized soon for his phlebitis.

The American envoy in London said that the secondary blood clot above Nixon's left knee had reached the area of the groin and there was a danger it could go further up his body.

"Mr. Nixon made no mention of how he felt but his voice was firm and seemed completely normal to me," Annenberg said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Annenberg said Nixon telephoned him from San Clemente on Tuesday night to discuss — "full of enthusiasm" — Annenberg's hopes and plans for setting up a school of international communications to broaden international understanding.

Annenberg said that he had visited President Ford on Sept. 6 and asked him to relieve him as ambassador to Britain no later than Oct. 31.

"Speculation that I was a catalyst in President Ford's decision to pardon President Nixon is totally untrue and ridiculous," Annenberg said. "I would never presume to discuss a matter of that character that lies wholly in the province of the President himself."

Besides talking to Nixon several times on the telephone recently, Annenberg had dinner with him on Aug. 23 at San Clemente and invited the former president to his Califfornia estate Sept. 8-12.

The ambassador said that, in all his contacts with Nixon, he had purposedly avoided discussing the former president's health.

"I am sympathetic to Mr. Nixon; he gave me the greatest honor of my life. am concerned about his health but I don't have to spell that out to him."

Annenberg said that when the Nixons used the Annenberg estate he stayed away as a matter of policy so they could relax better.

"They went there because I persuaded them that the weather was better than at San Clemente. Mr. Nixon has a great reverence for the landscape which is a sanctuary from the outside world.

"I understand that they did a good deal of resting. His leg was probably bothering him. Most of their meals were served by tray in the guest facilities. I can't say if Mr. Nixon played golf. Mrs. Nixon enjoys fishing for bass and other fish in my ponds."

Annenberg said that, besides discussion of a possible literary agent for Nixon's planned book, the main matter that had been discussed in his recent contacts with Nixon was Annenberg's plan for a school of international communications.

Annenburg is a former Philadelphia newspaper publisher.

"In my opinion, nobody is better qualified in the field of international relations to advise me than former President Nixon," he said.

Hearnes denies dumping

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)--Charging possible political motivation, former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes Tuesday denied any unusual dumping of Revenue Department records in the waning days of his administration.

Revenue Director James R. Spradling said earlier that personnel and other confidential records were dumped in a landfill near here before he took office.

"Everybody in town knew they were destroyed," said Spradling, a Republican.

But Hearnes, a Democrat, said all the important records, such as bank deposit files, were intact in state offices. He admitted that personnel records were altered and moved, but said that was a normal practice in a change of administrations.

"I'm only interested in sales tax and income tax records," he said.

A federal grand jury is investigating alleged corruption during Hearnes' administration, including the Revenue Department. Agents have expressed some difficulty finding some records, but none required by the grand jury.

Hearnes said former Revenue Director James Schaffner could tell present officials where to look for the bank deposit records. Schaffner, now in Oklahoma Gov. David Hall's administration, said no department records had been removed and he knew nothing of records being taken to a landfill.

Hearnes said such charges so soon before elections

Application being prepared for regional port district

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An application for a Southeast Missouri Regional Port District and Authority to submit to the Scott and Cape Girardeau County Courts for their approval is in the process of being prepared by the advisory port authority committees of both counties.

A joint agreement between the counties was reached Monday which enabled the application to be submitted to both courts, which must pass identical resolutions approving execution of the contract.

Upon the recommendation of Cape Girardeau County Prosecuting Attorney A. J. Seier, who prepared the agreement, the committees decided that the agreement, proposed resolutions approving execution of it and completed applications for a port authority would be submitted to both County Courts no later than Sept. 30.

The joint cooperative agreement is one of the steps necessary in submitting application for a port authority to the Missouri Department of Transportation.

Upon approval of County Court resolutions adopting the agreement, each court will appoint four members to an eight- member Southeast Missouri Regional Port Authority board of commissioners. A ninth member will then be chosen by the eight appointed ones. This board would administer the port district and the county port authorities would become extinct.

Seier and Scott County Prosecuting Attorney James Moore who aided in preparation of the agreement's final draft, speculated that all aspects of the port authority application would be ready for submission to the DOT about Oct. 1.

The newly formed agency could call a public hearing on the application as early as mid- October, they said.

Both County Courts and the authority committees are aiming at approval of a port on the Mississippi River to serve the proposed port district. Although discussions on exact location have not been held, members of both County Courts have agreed during informal discussions that a site near the mouth of the Diversion Channel south of Cape Girardeau would be ideal.

Several members of the advisory committees attended a public hearing in St. Louis Sept. 10 on a DOT port authority application of St. Charles County. It was the first such hearing held by the department, which granted St . Charles its request for an authority.

Rushing, who has chaired the advisory committee meetings since work on the port authority began early in the summer, said he was amazed that there was no opposition at the hearing and that it took only about 30 minutes at the conclusion of the hearing for the DOT to decide in favor of the request.

He said he was of the opinion the DOT was impressed by the delegation from Cape and Scott counties and noted that representatives who were expected to attend from other prospective port authority districts did not attend.

Seier noted that St. Charles had a specific proposal showing exact location of the proposed port. But, he said, this likely would not be necessary for the Southeast Missouri district's application since it would request that all of Cape County be designated for a port authority.

Moore noted that the application could be submitted without feasibility studies, which would be costly at this stage of development.

Interfund borrowing revealed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Unauthorized interfund borrowing and lack of effective investment policy has been discovered in the operations of the Pemiscot County court, state Auditor John Ashcroft said Tuesday.

In releasing a three-year audit of the county through last December, Ashcroft also made 26 recommendations for improvement in the operations of the treasurer, collector, sheriff, circuit clerk and county clerk.

The audit report showed a deficit balance of more than $80,000 in the federal revenue sharing account, representing interfund borrowing, which is not allowed by law.

Because federal revenue sharing funds were invested in certificates of deposit that did not mature until January 1974, the report said checks on the funds were paid from a common bank account with money from other county funds.

The federal revenue sharing deficit was made possible because of cash balances in general revenue and road and bridge funds which ranged from $80,000 to $400,000, the report stated.

"Considerable income could have been earned if those idle funds were invested," Aschroft noted, advising the county court to invest all county funds not required for operating expenditures.

Ashcroft also recommended that the court order proper payment to four officials whose salary had been miscalculated. Changes in population and assessed valuation, the bases for compensation, had not been considered he said.

3 lots are rezoned for commercial use

The City Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday night voted to rezone lots 23, 24 and 25 in block one of Sunset Addition from "B" two- family district to "D" commercial district.

The request for the rezoning was made by Melton Brown, who wants to set up a car repair shop on the lots.

A petition was presented to the board by owners of property which borders the lots saying they were in favor of the rezoning.

The commissioners included lot 25 in the rezoning, although they do not know who owns it, to prevent spot zoning of the property.

The commission voted not to approve a request by Dick McDougal, 1040 N. Kingshighway, that the strip of road in front of his house and the island in front of Bloemer's Grocery, be taken over and maintained by the city.

According to McDougal,

BACK TO "STANDARD" TIME

Most everyone, we are sure, will applaud the decision of Congress (by a vote of 383-16) to return the United States to Standard Time from November through February.

The year- round Daylight Saving Time was enacted by the Congress during the peak of last winter's energy and fuel shortage, on the alleged grounds that the emergency legislation would save up to two per cent of the electrical energy consumed by the country. At the time, many people wondered why it should be thought that a light burning in the darkness of early morning would consume less energy than a light burning in the evening. Last spring, a study completed by the U. S. Department of Transportation confirmed the doubting Thomases; the amount of energy saved was less than ¾ of one per cent, rather than the expected two percent.

As a result of the study, the Department of Transportation recommended that the United States should observe Daylight Saving Time for eight months of the year, and Standard Time during the months when the mornings are darkest — from November through February. It was upon this recommendation that Congress acted.

So, it's good news that sleepy- eyed laborers will no longer be forced to drive to work in the pitch black of night, nor will school children be forced to wait for their buses in the darkness of early dawn.

That still won't take care of the millions of cows in the United States who are unable to tell the difference between Daylight Saving Time and Standard Time. But, Congress can't do everything.

EACH END EQUAL AND BOTH ENDS AGAINST THE MIDDLE

Harry was head of the Amalgamated Association of Office Boys, Helpers, Stamp Lickers, and Letter Sealers. Harry had firm convictions, one of which was that each end of anything was equal to the other, even if opposite. On this basis he insisted that what his office boys got equaled in all respects what the president at the other end received.

As a result, the boys had equal access to country club membership, unlimited personal telephone calls during working hours, use of company planes and boats, fishing lodges, stock options, etc. The only thing they lacked was private secretaries.

Many of the boys felt this should be included in their next contract. One principal reason in asking for this was that many of them had to sign their pay checks with an X. With a private secretary they could have someone sign their name. It was quite embarrassing to sign with an X, especially checks for such large amounts. A private secretary would also lift their ego and it would increase their status if they were able to talk with their neighbors about their secretary.

The better halves, however, nixed the idea, feeling that some of these secretaries might have other ideas. The wives wouldn't necessarily care if the secretaries' eyes were on the boys themselves, as few would rate as God's gift to women. But as far as the pay check was concerned, they wanted an EX on that, no other hands - positively.

Harry had been able to get all this for his boys for several reasons. If his boys walked out, the typewriter-ribbon changers, ball- point- pen replacers, ink- well fillers, and pencil pointers would not cross their lines. So not only would the presidents have to lick and stamp their letters, but with these other people out, business would soon come to a halt under the reams and reams of paper work the government of Acirema had forced on business. Then, of course, whatever the boys got, the top brass also received something to match. After all, it was only a few golderas, somebody else's money - the stockholders'. You can easily guess that Harry and his boys always turned up in the lily fold.

WILL COMMON SENSE PREVAIL?

So far, President Ford hasn't turned his back on reality by insisting that the American economy is healthy and that inflation will be contained in the very near future. Nor has he yielded to the political temptation to use "band-aids" or "instant cures" to gloss over the fundamental imbalances in the economy. To the contrary, with his statement against the imposition of price and wage controls, he seems to have committed himself to the more orthodox inflation - fighting measures.

The new President may have been left with no other choice. For far too long, the majority of politicians in Washington have tried to sweep inflation under the rug. Instead of biting the bullet, they have resorted to all sorts of gimmicks to hide it. Mandatory controls, voluntary controls, price freezes, jawboning and a list of other measures have been tried. All have failed and, in the meantime, the price that the average guy in the street must pay has gone higher and higher. Now, with the bubble about to burst, there is simply no other recourse than to return to time- tested principles.

With economic forecasts tilting almost unanimously to the gloomy side, it is sure that President Ford will be besieged with a variety of schemes to alleviate the pain of the adjusting recession in the coming months. His well-publicized trait of "common sense" notwithstanding, it remains to be seen whether he can resist the appeals of expediency. At present, it appears that the new Administration is committed to a balanced budget and to continued restraint in monetary policy. If these policies remain in force, they might go a long way toward curtailing inflation in the coming months. If not, the odds against controlling inflation in the foreseeable future are overwhelming.

PATRIOTISM NEEDED SOMEDAY

It is not inconceivable we will one of these days go to war with the Soviet Republic. Maybe they will attack us, or possibly we will try to rescue some of our friends such as Israel, England, or any of our other allies. With the precedent and example about to be set by President Ford and Attorney Gen. Saxbe, quite likely many of our patrioticless youth will flee to Canada or Sweden until the fighting is over. Then they can look forward to "Earned Re-entry," by taking a "Pledge of Allegiance," and serving in some nonmilitary role for a year and a half. Even that may be waived if we get someone in charge of things at Washington who has never done anything to protect the United States and to keep it free from oppression. Wouldn't it really be silly to require a pledge of allegiance from those who deserted their country after having taken such a pledge, or from those who would rather run away than stand up for their country. We hope, and will also pray, that Congress has the authority to override a Presidential declaration on amnesty. The St. Louis Globe Democrat has just taken a survey by ballot on the question of amnesty and an overwhelming number of people were against any form of amnesty. Ask yourself, does our country have any place in society or citizenship for a person who will run away to another country to escape service for the United States of America?

TO HELP EASE THE PAIN

The Detroit News

Now that most of us have given unto Caesar what he believes to be his, there comes to mind an idea that, put into effect, might ease, if not the pain, at least the inconvenience of it all.

Along with the last-minute scramble to compute one's annual income taxes, there is the extra struggle to find not only a suitable envelope but also postage, and accurate postage, at that, to mail the return. With more and more people filling the long form, often calling for documention to accompnay the blasted thing, the question of accurate postage becomes more than a bother, particularly late on the eve of April 15.

Therefore, the suggestion is made here that all levels of government that levy income taxes pay the postage through use of prepaid and suitable envelopes or what ever means is most conveninet. Postal service employes should be happy to handle this free mail service, especially considering the junk mail they tote around all year. Plus the fact that these envelopes contain their livelihood—or, at the least, part of it.

COMMENDATIONS FOR THE CONGRESS

Education officials, parents and others across the nation are commending the House at Washington for approving a bill that would ban federal funds for busing of school children solely for the purpose of effecting desegregation.

They do not now and have never favored taking children out of their own area merely for the purpose of equalizing racial numbers in another, more distant school. There are too many disadvantages to the children, to the parents, and to the taxpayers who must foot the busing costs. These objections are voiced by people of all races, whether black, white, brown, red or yellow.

All of us want equal educational advantages for all children.

Most of us however, believe the proper way ochieve this is to upgrade the educational facilities in the schools that are not up to standard. The same money that is used for busing for desegregation could better be used in improving those low rated schools.

Everyone would profit by abandoning busing for desegregation purposes, and concentrating on upgrading of schools as they are, regardles of which race predominates.

WORK, WORK, WORK

Ever read in your Bible where it says "Six days thou shalt work?" God told us that at the time He created the world. This was brought out Sunday in a sermon by Dr. Joseph Grant of Moberly, which we listened to from our bed in the Nursing Home. Dr. Grant called attention to what happened to Corinth, Greece's great city, and to Rome, when the people let idleness take the place of work. He had just mentioned that it was Labor Day Sunday. And he went on to say that much of our nation now gets along on a 5- day week, some on a 4- day week, and a lot of people hope for a 3- day week. It is true that we are getting more and more holidays, more for an excuse to not work, than for reasons of remembrance. And one of our top government people said a few days ago, if the impending recession continues to develop and unemployment increases, there are plans for a huge program of public works. Immediately it occurred to us that those forced to take a public job would likely organize, go on strike if the hours were not shortened, the pay increased and the fringe benefits enlarged. We grew up in a day and age which taught us the way to make more was to work more and produce more. We worked for 25 cents a day, and after awhile got a raise until we made 50 cents a day. On the latter and higher wage scale we hitched a horse to a delivery wagon early enough in the morning to be at the grocery story at 7 a.m. We worked until 6 p.m. and forgot whether we had half an hour or a full hour off for dinner. This schedule lasted six days a week except that on Saturdays we drove that delivery wagon until 7 p.m., a full 12 hours of work with just time off for dinner and no coffee breaks. It was interesting to note the advertisement of Famous- Barr, the largest retail business in St. Louis, that all of its stores would be open on Labor Day.

'LEAKS' IN HEARNES PROBE

By Richard H. Weiss
A Member of the Staff

A former assistant U. S. attorney has released a memorandum in which he told Bert C. Hurn, U. S. attorney for the Western District of Missouri, that he had "serious and grave questions over the manner in which a special investigative group under Hurn was conducting investigations into alleged political corruption.

In the memorandum dated June 20, 1974, Patrick Eldridge, who resigned his job in Hurn's office Aug. 26, made the following allegations about the activities of the special investigative group:

. That an assistant U. S. attorney has engaged in leaking names of persons who were to appear before a grand jury investigating the administration of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. Eldridge said that Paul Anthony White was the source of the leaks which caused some members of the press to "formulate(s) their own opinions, cast(s) aspersions, make accusations and quote(s) 'reliable sources' or 'a source' as giving them the information."

. That Hurn agreed to the grand jury leaks so that the public would be informed of corrupt acts on the part of former state officials who would now be barred from prosecution because of the statute of limitations. In the memorandum Eldridge quoted Hurn as saying: "'... the public has a right to know what the bastards have done and why we were not prosecuting them."

That White has accumulated over a 3- year period documents without a grand jury investigation and without the use of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Eldrige said: "These documents are very definitely in some cases being used as the source of the initial investigation into various fields of the Special Investigative Group."

. That some of the documents should have been acquired through subpoenas rather than from confidential sources. Eldridge said in an interview yesterday that White told him he got some of the documents from a source in the administration of Gov. Christopher Bond.

. That when he (Eldridge) was reviewing the inventory of the investigative group he found a heading on one file which linked a high government official in the Hearnes administration with a front man for the Maifia. Eldridge, in the 'memorandum, called the file label 'LIBEL — EITHER DIRECT OR BY INUENDO.(sic)"

Hurn said he would have "no comment whatsoever" on the memorandum and indicated that he would stand by previous public statements that his office has been completely objective and nonpolitical in its work.

White could not be reached for comment.

Immediately after his resignation Eldridge charged Hurn with conducting an investigation of the Hearnes administration which "Is purely political in nature." At that time Eldridge indicted that his June 20 memorandum would outline the charges.

Eldridge said in an interview Saturday at his Raytown home that he was reluctant to release the memorandum publicly until the Justice Department had had a chance to investigate his allegations. However, he changed his mind, he said, when a reporter called him and said the memorandum was leaked by a source in Washington.

Eldridge has also charged Hurn with conducting an investigation of a former state Republican representative in order to make his office seem nonpartisan in its work. Hurn is a Republican and Hearnes is a Democrat. Eldridge said he had been ordered by Hurn to inspect insurance contracts between the state and a St. Louis County insurance firm with which former Rep. R. J. (Bus) King (R-Clayton) was associated. Hurn has denied these charges.

Eldridge moved here from Phoenix when he was appointed an assistant U. S. attorney. He had been in private practice in Phoenix 12 years and ran once on the Democratic ticket for country prosecutor. Eldridge says he has since become a Republican.

UN IS PREACHING GLOBAL CLASS WARFARE

At the World Population Conference in Bucharest, all the ugly sentiments surfaced. One formal recommendation runs as follows: Resolved that this conference promote the establishment of a new economic order by eradicating the causes of world poverty, by ensuring the equitable distribution of world resources, by eliminating the injustices of existing world trade systems and exploitation perpetrated by capitalistic multinational corporations.

As Ray Vickers grimly told Americans in the Wall Street Journal: "One of the main targets of the meeting is you. You eat too much. You consume too much of the world's natural resources. You don't give enough foreign aid to needy countries. You are raising this overpupulation specter to practice genocide upon poor Third World nations by preaching family planning to them. You could solve the problems quickly by sharing your wealth with the poor of India, Botswana, South Yemen and all the other impoverished nations. The subject fits neatly into a Communist propaganda campaign that seems aimed at convincing the Third World that affluent America is the root cause of most of the world's ills."

Despite the endless affronts, and the sorry record of non- achievement, Washington persists in coming back for more. Congress and senators are eagerly vying for places on the U. S. delegation to the forthcoming UN World Food Conference in Rome, where the champagne doubtless will flow, and the cup of anti- Americanism will run over. In accepting the Nobel Prize two years ago, Alexander Solzhenitsyn condemned the United Nations as "immoral." In our book the UN is guilty as charged.

CRIMINALS AS "CONSUMERS"

Half of all the serious crimes in the United States today are committed by persons under 18, legally classified as juveniles. The mild term "juvenile delinquency" is still officially used to cover even the most vicious crimes perpetrated by these young people.

With only 20 negative votes, the House of Representatives has passed a new Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Act which would impose more federal "standards" and controls on the efforts of states and communities to cope with the wave of young criminals. It would place new restrictions on the suspension or expulsion of even the most dangerous young people from schools, where they often terrorize fellow students and teachers alike.

These controls and restrictions would be administered by a new Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Administration to be set up, not in the Justice Department or even the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, but in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

To cap the climax, the bill refers to plans for special treatment of young criminals by means of "programs of community supervision and service which maintain community and consumer participation in the planning, operation and evaluation." The "consumer" here means no more nor less than the young criminal himself.

When criminals become consumers, what happens to the victims? Almost no publicity has been given to this exceedingly dangerous bill with its fantastic philosophy of criminals as "consumers." Every effort should be made to block it in the Senate, and if this is not successful, to prevail upon our new President Gerald Ford to veto it. HLH

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Acting President Haig

WASHINGTON — Our own White House sources have confirmed former press secretary Jerry terHorst's report that President Ford and his staff, when they moved into the White House, found Gen. Alexander Haig functioning as the "acting president."

This characterization of Haig has been given by sources totally familiar with the White House operations during Nixon's final months. The harrassed former President had become so obsessed with his Watergate woes, they say, that he left Haig in charge of running the country.

To his credit, the able, articulate Haig held the government together as the Watergate nightmare slowly stifled the oval office. The only exception: He left foreign affairs in the hands of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

We have now established beyond doubt that Nixon spent almost his full time brooding over his Watergate predicament and scheming with a few trusted advisers how to get out of it. "He was like a man groping through a poisonous fog," said one source.

Haig handled the presidential powers, which were thrust upon him, wisely and well, our sources agree. He was acutely conscious of his military background and tried to take a civilian's view of the nation's problems, they say.

He has tried quietly to relinquish his tremendous powers, according to our sources, since President Ford took over. But the White House staff is so conditioned to taking orders from Haig that he still wields more authority inside the White House than Ford's top aides.

This is one reason the President would like to ease Haig out. But it has been a problem finding an appropriate assignment for the man who behind the scenes has been exercising the powers of the President.

Footnote: General Haig refused comment.

WATCH ON WASTE: As part of our watch on waste, we have uncovered another Ernest Fitzgerald in the National Institute of Education, which dishes out government millions for educational research.

Fitzgerald was the cost analyst who was fired by the Air Force for blowing the whistle on cost overruns.

Now the NIE has fired a $21,300- a- year contract specialist under similar circumstances. This latest Ernest Fitzgerald is Robert Drucker.

The NIE claims Drucker was fired for failing to do his job. But on close examination, it looks suspiciously like it was his zeal to save money for the taxpayers that got him in trouble.

The $8 million contract went to Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory of Portland, Ore., on a noncompetitive, favored-source basis. As the negotiations reached a climax, Northwest's Dr. Larry Fish flew to Washington to complain about the low fees.

He took his complaint among others to Marc Tucker, a power at NIE, who previously had worked under Fish at Northwest. Tucker immediately ushered his former boss into Drucker's office and suggested pointedly: "It seems to me you guys should sit down together."

In the language of the Washington bureaucracy, when a bigwig says this to an underling, it means "strike a deal." But Drucker refused to allow Northwest more than a 4-1/2 per cent fee, which still gave the lab a whopping $360,000 profit.

Drucker also held the line in other negotiations. Suddenly, his performance ratings, which had always been high, began to plummet. A few days ago, he was fired.

Drucker has also complained about a $6 million grant in 1969 to Far West Laboratory for Educational Research in San Francisco. The lab bought a huge old warehouse with the money but occupies only three floors. The other three floors are going to waste.

He has objected, too, to a $4 million deal with Southwest Educational Development Laboratory of Austin, Texas. He questions a $230,000 developer's fee and a $300,000 prepaid rental.

Both Tucker and Fish insist that their friendship had nothing to do with the awarding of the $8 million contract. All the dealings with NIE, they swear, have been totally proper. The NIE also contends there is no evidence of wrongdoing and, in an unusual move, has taken the initiative to invite the General Accounting Office to investigate.

HUNTING GRIZZLIES: The powerful grizzly bear, which once roamed in great numbers through the West, is now threatened with extinction below the Canadian border.

This is the main conclusion of an unpublished Interior Dept. report which warns that the animal may be endangered unless immediate steps are taken to protect it.

To save the grizzly, the report urgently recommends that "sport hunting be temporarily banned" in the Yellowstone Ecosystem of Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

Conservationists estimate that only about 900 of these magnificent carnivores still survive in the lower 48 states. Yet the state of Montana, where the largest population of grizzlies exists, issued 919 grizzly permits for this year's hunting season.

If only a small number of these hunters are successful, the entire species could be nearly wiped out in the area. Yet Montana has refused to close down its season, and the U.S. Forest Service has refused to take action.

Ann Landers

Breast reconstruction is sometimes possible

Dear Ann Landers: Your encouragement to women who have had a breast removed was greatly appreciated by those of us who have gone through the experience. Mrs. Birch Bayh's letter which backed up your statements was a beautiful shot in the arm. My thanks to you both.

And now a question, which I hope you won't think is foolish. I had a mastectomy in 1970. Since that time I have been wearing a bra with a built-in breast and it looks very natural. No one would suspect it wasn't real. But I have heard and read a great deal about those silicone implants for women who are flat-chested or want to be larger. Would such an operation be possible for those of us who have lost a breast to cancer? Will you check with an authority and let me know? Thanks and God bless. -- Greatful in Great Neck

Dear G: I checked with one of the world's most distinguished surgeons, a pioneer in the field of reconstructive surgery. He is Dr. John Marquise Converse, at the New York University Medical Center. His reply is as follows

"If, after a breast has been removed, the skin has remained intact and is of good quality, an implant can be placed under the skin thus reestablishing the breast contour and a degree of symmetry with the opposite breast. In some cases, however, the skin of the breast must be removed during the operation and the area skin grafted. In such cases the implant cannot be applied.

"Some surgeons do not approve of placing an implant after an operation for cancer. In such cases, a prosthetic breast (made of rubber) is advised. Thousands of women are wearing the false breasts built into their bras and find them completely satisfactory. The reconstructive operation can be performed by grafting tissue from the abdomen up to the breast, but a number of stages are required and the results are not very impressive."

So there you have it from the Mt. Olympus of medicine. And now I hope you will return to your physician and see if you qualify for reconstructive surgery. If he says no, please don't be unhappy. Thousands of women are using artificial breasts built in to their brassieres and they are indistinguishable from the real thing.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a woman, 26, and fairly sane, at least for the present. I am now living with a man I love dearly. He is not the problem. It's his parents. We moved in with them two years ago and it's more than I can take.

J's mother is 68. His father is 71. It's like living in a geriatric ward of a county hospital. There is no such thing as privacy. Our bedroom is the only place I can relax.

I could go on and tell you how unhappy I am, but I don't have that much ink in my pen. I've talked to J about moving, but he says we can't afford to right now. I need a life alone with the man I love. I'm sick and tired of keeping house for his parents. What should I do? -- Old Before My Time

Dear O.B.: Why don't you just shoot 'em? For heaven's sake, girl, don't you understand that you moved in on THEM? If you're unhappy, how do you think his parents feel?

My advice is to clear out -- either with Mr. Wonderful or without him. Two years is long enough for aging parents to put up with a shack job right under their noses.

How much do you know about pot, L. S. D., cocaine, speed, meth, uppers and downers, glue and heroin? Are all these drugs dangerous? Get Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill plus a long, self-addressed envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Many a kitchen shelf or cabinet needs reorganizing! Supplies and equipment should be stored at place of first use.

Top winners recognized

Two of the top three winners in the District Sew with Cotton contest received an opportunity Tuesday night to talk with Debra Ploch, left, of Memphis, Tenn., the 1973 Maid of Cotton and tour manager for the 1975 Maid of Cotton to be selected Dec. 29 in Memphis. Rosemary Scherer, center, of Portageville and Diane DePew of Campbell were recognized as top winners in the district, along with Linda Sue Brigance of Kennett, who was unable to attend the Sew with Cotton recognition banquet Tuesday night at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord.

District winners honored

"Creativity and imagination seem to be suffering today, especially in the field of homemaking," Miss Debra Ploch, tour manager for the 1975 Maid of Cotton, told about 60 people attending the first district Sew with Cotton awards banquet Tuesday night at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord.

Miss Ploch, who recently moved to Memphis, Tenn., from Dallas, Tex., said homemaking talents seem to be suffering somewhat because of the increased emphasis and desire on the part of women to get out of the home and into professions.

"At this banquet we are celebrating creativity and imagination and celebrating cotton," she stated.

"Cotton is the most versatile fabric a person could choose for creative outlet," Miss Ploch told district Sew with Cotton winners, their teachers, youth leaders, parents and guests. Cotton is also a universal fiber, she explained as she related some of the enthusiasm for cotton which she viewed on a worldwide scale during her rein as 1973 Maid of Cotton.

Suzy Nelson of Fairdealing, Judy Eby of Sikeston Route Three; Linda Sue Brigance of Kennett; Judy Staelbel of Kelso, Joyce Anderson of Cooter, Cindy Blagg of Neelyville, and Paula Siebert of Chaffee.

Miss DePew, Miss Scherer and Miss Brigance were recognized as the top three winners in the district. These girls will model their winning garment in March before the wives of Southern Ginners Association members at a meeting in Memphis.

Norman Bartmess, vice president and manager of Kennett Oil Mill Inc., served as master of ceremonies. The event was sponsored by Kennett Cotton Oil Mill Inc., Sikeston Cotton Oil Mill Inc. and Mississippi Valley Oilseed Processors Association Inc., headquartered in Memphis, Tenn.

INSULATE GARAGE WALL

If a home has an attached garage, the wall between it and the house should be insulated by stapling mineral wool blankets between the studs. The vapor barrier should face the house. Although the mineral wool fibers won't burn, the insulation should be covered with gypsum board or some other non-combustible material as an extra safety precaution and to protect the insulation from damage.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

For the last few years neighborhood businesses have been going out of their way to aesthetically fit into a neighborhood.

Our bank blends so well into the surroundings that I expect any day to see a bread card in the window. And we have a service station so homey I feel guilty if I pull in after dinner when he is trying to get his grass cut before dark.

When a beautiful two-story colonial was going up, we took our Welcome Wagon lady aside and said, "Be sure and find out if she works, if they like music, if he has a riding lawn mower and if they are over 30."

She came out of the house in shock.

"Well?" we asked.

"They have two fire trucks," she said.

"Then they have children," I said excitedly, "probably boys with a whole fleet of Tonkas."

"You don't understand," she said slowly. "They have two full-scale fire trucks. It's the Fire Department."

We were quite prepared for a restaurant in Hawaii called Plantation Gardens because the tourist brochure said it once belonged to a plantation owner who converted it to a restaurant.

"Look for a place that looks like an old mansion," instructed my husband.

"Will there be a sign on it?" asked one of the kids.

"There won't have to be a sign," said my husband, "after all, how many old plantations could there be?"

About half an hour later as we all hung out of the window checking each house, we began to notice an abundance of cars. They lined the highway on either side and my husband said, "I'm glad we got reservations. I think we're here."

He slowed down the car and there it was to our left -- a spacious white two-story mansion with rocking chairs on the porch for diners to await their turn and gardens to tour for those with cameras.

"I suppose you get a lot of your business from AAA," I smiled.

The man looked at us blankly.

"There are five of and we have reservations," boomed my husband.

It wasn't until we were being escorted to the larger room that we saw the sign, "Rest Haven Funeral Home."

We parked the car and walked across the beautiful lawn to the entrance where a line was formed. When we got inside the door my husband leaned over to the maitre d' and said, "We're the Bombecks."

"So nice of you to come," he said softly.

"You came so highly recommended," said my husband.

Frankly Speaking

Senate opposes rule requiring belts, buzzers

WASHINGTON — The Senate has gone on record opposing the Department of Transportation rule requiring a buzzer and interlock seat belt system in new cars.

By a vote of 64-21 the Senate accepted the Eagleton-Buckley amendment stopping "big brother" government from forcing its citizens to protect themselves whether they want to or not.

Similar legislation was passed by the House of Representatives as an amendment to another bill which is now being considered in conference committee.

There is therefore no question that the buzzer and interlock seat belt system will be eliminated from 1975 and future cars.

The wearing of seat belts is a useful safety precaution. But I feel that Americans are mature and intelligent enough to make that decision themselves. Without a doubt this bureaucratic attempt to dictate to individuals in matters which concern only themselves is not only expensive and annoying, but insulting to a person's intelligence.

Increased use of the seat belt because of the buzzer and interlock systems is sometimes cited as a reason the systems should be continued.

But these figures must be given closer attention. Only 15 to 20 per cent of the drivers with the buzzer system use the seat and lap belt. As it is hard to believe that the rest of them drive with the buzz in their ears, it may be assumed that most of them have disconnected the system.

Use of belts in cars with the interlock system started at 60 to 70 per cent. It is now down to about 30 per cent. Drivers are learning how to defeat this system as well.

In the long run, use of seat belts will probably level out to those who would use them voluntarily.

American citizens are overwhelmingly opposed to this denial of their freedom of choice. As evidence of this is the broad support my legislation received in the Senate.

Ideological opposites such as Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and James Abourezk, D-S.D., lined up together to defeat an annoying regulation and a bureaucratic concept that if the citizen does not make the "right" choice, the government must make it for him.

Task forces help determine energy policies

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) State task forces on energy can and will help determine national energy policies, the director of the National Governor's Conference energy project said here Tuesday.

Ed Rovener spoke to 60 members of the Mid-Continent Research and Development Council, meeting here to consider energy planning for an 11-state region.

Rovener pointed out that total state energy problems can best be handled at the state level, with the help of other states and their universities and institutions. The project is strongly committed to conservation of energy, he said.

The meeting of the council, made up of representatives from business, government, engineering and social sciences, was sponsored by the economic department of the College of Administration and Public Affairs at the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Wilbur Jenny, petroleum specialist for the Federal Energy Administration, discussed the impact of the energy shortage on the region. He expressed concern for individual users, which he said oil firms had abandoned in reshaping their market. Jenny said the federal government may require some large gas users to shift to coal, brining problems with water use and rail transportation of the coal, and with pollution control.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — If you want photographs of those quaint wooden fishing boats, take your pictures now because they are about to go the way of the old frigates.

Following the lead of recreational boat makers, commercial yards are switching to fiber glass reinforced plastic for the material's safety and durability advantages.

A manufacturing company here, the nation's largest producer of shrimp boats, has been phasing into fiber glass for four years.

Firefighting equipment demonstrated at Dexter

DEXTER — The owner of the property smiled Tuesday evening as three houses and two sheds burned slowly to the gound in the 200 block of Matthews Street, north of the Swift and Co. processing plant.

"Nice night for a burning," C. M. Lawson, a land developer from Louisville, Ky. and owner of the property, said. An arsonist or villain burning his property for the insurance? No, the occasion was a demonstration test of a new kind of firefighting equipment.

Demonstrated was a foam-making machine described by Fire Chief Al Banken as "not the answer to fire fighting, but another way to fight fire. We're always looking for ways to upgrade the department, and this is one possible way."

"Everybody's impressed when they see this machine in action," Alex C. Waters, owner of Waters Automatic Fire Protection of Sikeston, said, as he set up the machine before the demonstration.

"It takes about a minute to set up," he explained, "and it's ready to go. The main difficulty is finding a source of water-- a fire hydrant or a pumper."

The fire department came prepared to give a realistic demonstration.

On hand to witness the demonstration were Mayor Willis Conner and Aldermen Doren Vancil, Leslie Day and Bob Curtis.

"It was a pretty interesting demonstration," Conner said.

Will the Dexter fire department get a foam making machine? "I don't know yet," Conner said. Would he support such a move? "I haven't made up my mind," he said.

People started to gather around the deserted houses about 6:30 p.m., and firemen set the first house on fire at 6:45.

As the flames grew in the deserted, rundown house, the order was given and the machine started. A three- foot wide hose rolled from the machine and foam was directed into the burning house through a window.

In a minute and 16 seconds the flames were all smothered.

"We didn't hardly get a chance to get it going good," one firemen yelled.

"Open the back door, and we'll blow the foam out and do it again," Waters responded.

The second time a different house was burned, and this time the flames were allowed to grow. The limbs on a nearby tree began to catch fire in an impressive blaze.

Again the machine was turned on and the foam leaped into the building and smothered the flames almost instantly. A blazing board fell from the roof into the foam, smoldered a second and went out. Foam oozed out through the windows and firemen waded through the bubbles.

Lawson was going to have the buildings town down but said the fire department wanted to test some new equipment and he was glad to let them burn.

Waters estimated that it cost $6.50 to put out the first fire, and $19 to extinguish the second one even though "they used twice as much foam as was needed."

"We were all well pleased with the machine," Banken said. "We were amazed at how fast it put the fire out. And it's good for all kinds of fires -- oil, gas, even electrical."

"You can also use this foam to keep other houses from burning," Waters said. "You simply build a wall of foam between the flames and the other houses to contain the fire. It takes maybe a minute."

Police announce 3 arrests

Police today announced the arrest of Gary L. McClain, 226 Broadway Ave., and Marvin H. Gilmore, 704 N. Ranney St., for allowing a dog to run loose and Rachel Sue Bennett, 208 Smith St., for careless and imprudent driving.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Let us stop going over the same old ground again and again, always teaching those first lessons about Christ. Let us go on instead to other things and become mature in our understanding, as strong Christians ought to be. Surely we don't need to speak further about the foolishness of trying to be saved by being good, or about the necessity of faith in God; you don't need further instruction about baptism and spiritual gifts and the resurrection of the dead and eternal judgment.

Last known prisoner of war returns today

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Emmet James Kay returned today to freedom as the last known U.S. prisoner of war in Indochina. He insisted he knew of no other Americans in custody.

The lanky commercial pilot said the pro-Communist Pathet Lao had treated him so well he left good friends behind him.

Kay, 47, of Hawaii, landed here shortly after sundown after a two-hour flight from Thailand in a C9 Nightingale hospital jet to climax a day in which he went to freedom from imprisonment in a cave in Sam Neua in northeastern Laos.

"As far as I know there are are no other Americans there," he said on arrival.

A British army major who flew to Sam Neua to pick up Kay, said he saw the American exchange warm embraces with his Communist captors in an emotional farewell.

The officer, Maj. Peter Shield, said he pledged them he will work toward peace in Indochina and quoted at length from a book the Pathet Lao gave him. He strongly opposed U.S. intervention in Indochina and said he fully supports the Indochinese people "in their struggle for peace," Shield related.

Maurice Gralnik, olitical-military officer of the .S. Embassy in Vientiane, id Kay had been told by his iptors that whenever they had ome across the site of a plane ash, they had buried the odies of the dead and had iken no one prisoner.

"Presumably, they meant mericans," said Gralnik, who scorted Kay and his wife, lorence, after the pilot was urned over to American uthorities in Vientiane.

Drug increases body's defenses

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug significantly increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment.

The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and some other infections.

Because interferon is effective against all viruses, it has been considered promising in the control of respiratory infections, such as the cold.

Colds are caused by so many types of viruses that a vaccine against all of them is thought impractical.

The scientists at the university's medical school in Chicago said they used 39 young volunteers to study the effects of propanediamine.

Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the scientists said the results of their study make them optimistic that ultimately effective drugs can be developed for the common cold and other viral respiratory infections.

An editorial in the journal points out that the limitation on use of the drug is that it must be administered throughout the period in which a person might catch a cold.

And it notes that the production of interferon decreases with repeated stimulation.

Fifteen subjects in the Illinois experiment were given the new drug via nose drops. Then they were exposed to cold-causing viruses.

They developed either no cold symptoms or so few that they were considered insignificant.

Other subjects not given the drug were exposed to the same viruses. They developed severe colds.

Highlights and sidelights

Missouri governor's veto not overridden since 1838

JEFFERSON CITY — A Missouri governor's veto has not been overriden since 1838. And that record will stand for at least another year because the second veto session in the state's history came and went early this month with no bills enacted over Gov. Christopher S. Bond's vetoes.

Bond has vetoed 26 bills passed by the General Assembly during the last regular session. House Republicans stopped the only Senate attempt to override. A pay raise bill for employes of the St. Louis collector of revenue fell 18 votes short in the House after senators had voted earlier to increase salaries of that office over Bond's veto.

The governor had vetoed nine pay raise bills for elective officials in St. Louis. He said the city is in a tight financial situation and that salaries are lower in comparable offices in Jackson and St. Louis counties.

More than half of Bond's vetoes involved spending bills on appropriations or new programs. He vetoed salary increases for most of the state's judges, for the workmen's compensation division and for the Missouri Boat Commission.

Bond had warned that a tax increase would come about if his vetoes were not upheld.

"One veto would be the signal for the legislature to continue the spending, and that might set the precedent which would ultimately result in a tax increase," Bond said. He said he did not think any vetoes would be overridden.

Still, key legislators thought two bills stood good chances of being passed. Those bills would have increased aid to dependent children in the state by $3 per month and given Missouri junior colleges an $8 million increase. House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, and Senate president pro tem William Cason, D-Clinton, tried in vain to raise the necessary votes to override the two vetoes.

The junior college bill fell three votes short of the two-thirds majority required for Senate passage, while the aid to dependent children bill fell five votes short. Both bills passed easily in the 1974 regular session.

House members thwarted an attempt to override Bond's line item vetoes of $3.5 million for higher education. The override attempt fell 23 short of the 109 votes needed.

House Appropriations Committee chairman James Russell sought to override the higher education veto to prevent further tuition or fee increases at seven state colleges and universities. But Robert Snyder, minority floor leader, told the House, "You will be voting fiscal irresponsibility if you override this veto."

Old age assistance payments to university employes accounted for $2 million of the vetoed higher education funds.

Not all vetoed bills were considered during the two-day session. The Senate dealt with only five of the 14 vetoed Senate bills and the House considered only six of 10 House bills.

Insurance agent to be granted designation

Dwayne C. Lorenz, agent for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., is among 2,200 who will be granted the chartered life underwriter designation at national conferment exercises of The American College of Life Underwriters Sept. 24 in Bal Harbour, Fla.

Dwayne C. Lorenz

Lorenz, who maintains his office at 731 N. Main St., began business in Sikeston in 1970. He is a past president of the Sikeston Life Underwriters Association, in which he currently serves as vice president.

He lives in Westview Estates and is the youngest CLU in Southeast Missouri.

The American College grants the CLU designation to men and women engaged in activities directly or indirectly relating to the insuring of human life values. In order to qualify, the candidates must pass a series of professional examinations and meet the stringent experience and ethical requirements of the college.

The CLU study program was established to meet the professional education needs of the men and women who provide life and health insurance service for the public.

The courses cover such areas as: fundamentals of life and health insurance; group insurance, health insurance and pensions; law, trusts and taxation; finance and economics; and business insurance and estate planning. This year's 2,232 graduates bring to over 32,000 the total number of people who have received the designation since The American College was founded in 1927.

The typical candidate for the CLU designation enrolls in a special study class at a college or university and spends four to five years in the program.

Persons who attain the chartered life underwriter designation may use the term or its abbreviation (CLU) after their names and wear a CLU key. They are also eligible to apply for membership in the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, a professional body whose principal objective is to maintain high standards of service to the public.

Cadillac offers elegance, value

DETROIT- The 1975 Cadillac, incorporating a newly designed front end with many refinements and engineering innovations, offers automotive elegance and customer value and convenience.

All domestic 1975 Cadillacs which include the Calais, De Ville and Fleetwood series, are equipped with the General Motors catalytic converter unit, which in addition to reducing emission of pollutants, will also help permit improvements to Cadillac driveability and fuel economy.

In the area of design, the grilles, hoods, front fenders and front lights are all new on this year's standard models.

The grilles feature a bold horizontal and vertical cross hatch design, emphasizing a height reduction accomplished in the vertical face of the hood. The grille and hood designs contribute to a lower, more distinctive overall front end appearance for the 1975 Cadillacs.

The single most attributable factor to the contemporary front end on the standard Cadillacs is the lamp theme, incorporating rectangular head lights and rectangular shaped parking and cornering lamps, which are set in the front fenders as a continuation of the head lamp.

A new fixed rear quarter window for the 1975 Calais and De Ville Sedan models affords the customer increased rear visibility.

Fourteen exterior color finishes are new, offering the Cadillac buyer an excellent blend of metallic, non-metallic and firemist colors, complemented by a selection of 14 padded vinyl tops and 8 convertible tops.

The 1975 Cadillac Fleetwood Eldorado lineup includes a coupe and a convertible, with a newly designed grille and front bumper. The front of the fender has been changed on the popular front-wheel-drive Eldorado, with the front bumper outer bar now being vertical. The new urethane fender extensions deflect and move rearward when the bumper is impacted. They assume their original shape when the bumper returns to position, reducing costly sheet metal repairs from minor front-end accidents.

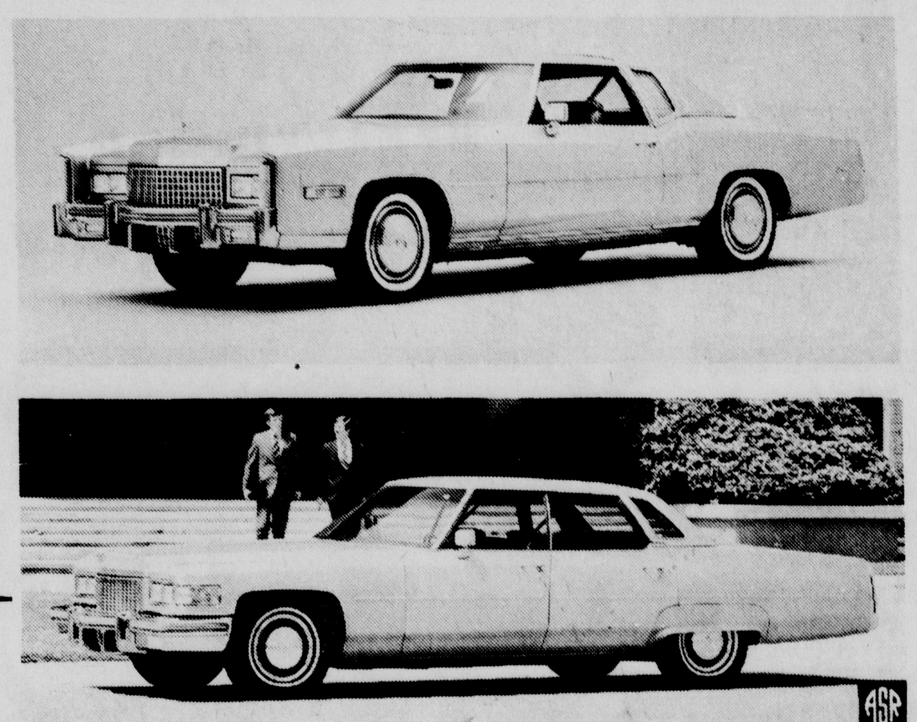
Cadillac's new standard items such as 2.73 axle ratio and GM specification steel belted radial tires, both of which were introduced as standard equipment on late model 1974 Cadillacs, and the new catalytic converter equipped engine have all contributed to an increase in fuel economy for 1975.

An "economy" setting feature has also been incorporated in the automatic climate control unit. When used in temperatures between 30 and 70 degrees, this new customer value feature will. under most conditions, automatically facilitate comfortable in-car temperatures, while not activating the compressor unit. This setting contributes to increased fuel economy, without loss of the customer comfort when used as recommended.

In addition, an optional electronic fuel injection system will be available shortly after the start of production. This is the optimum known system for providing the precise amount of fuel equally to each cylinder.

Several other fuel economy oriented engineering advancements have been made for 1975. Among these are a recalibrated, modified quadrajet carburetor, a high spark advance vacuum spark unit with tighter tolerances, a fast warm-up intake manifold system, and an electric choke for more positive choke operation.

Further customer value engineering advancements for 1975 include newly designed engine mounts for isolation of engine noise and vibrations.



DETROIT—The 1975 Cadillac Fleetwood Eldorado series again features both Coupe (above) and Convertible models and utilizes rectangular headlights, as on the standard Cadillac. A newly styled grille on these popular front-wheel-drive cars is highlighted by larger rectangular openings and bold vertical fins. A new fixed rear quarter window has been added to the Coupe, providing a larger glass area than in past models. The rear wheel openings are new on the 1975 Eldorados and no longer feature a cover.

The 1975 Cadillac Calais Sedan (below), along with the Sedan de Ville, features a new fixed rear quarter window, offering a larger rear glass area. Calais interiors for 1975 are highlighted by the new plaid "Morgan" cloth, which complements the 21 exterior paint colors and 14 padded vinyl tops.

All 1975 Cadillac models incorporate valuable fuel economy oriented engineering advancements as standard equipment, such as a lower ratio economy axle, several engine refinements, GM specification steel belted radial tires and an "economy" setting for the Climate Control unit.

World News In Brief

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Ford, here to argue that "a global strategy for food and energy is urgently required," expanded an address to the General Assembly to laud Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Ford departed from his prepared text to underscore support for Kissinger, who was disturbed Tuesday by reports that a "transition recommendation" to Ford urged that the secretary be stripped of his role as the President's assistant for national security affairs.

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford's clemency program has temporarily freed most of the 95 Vietnam-era draft evaders in federal prisons, but some may be back. To some, Ford's offer to do alternative service in lieu of jail was no different than what they had refused to do before they were imprisoned. They said they owed the nation no service for refusing to fight in what they called an immoral war. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe had ordered the imprisoned draft evaders released late Tuesday on 30-day furloughs to give them time to appeal their sentences to a newly created clemency board.

CHICAGO (AP) — Inflation has brought on the biggest cafe caper in history, says a restaurant executive. Customers are walking off with just about everything but the kitchen sink. "People are calling for more rolls, bread, butter and crackers for their tables and are carting much of it away in their pockets, purses and in doggie bags — there never have been so many requests for doggie bags," says Larry Buckmaster, executive director of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association. Buckmaster said the take-home trend has been noted by many of the association's 4,800 members, who blame spiraling food costs.

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug significantly increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment. The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and some other infections.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Three Japanese terrorists who occupied the French embassy in The Hague for four days and the comrade they freed from a French jail were flown to the Middle East today, but their final destination was not known. The gunmen from the Japanese Red Army terrorist group released their nine remaining hostages, including the French ambassador, unharmed Tuesday night and took off from Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport in a French Boeing 707 jet with $300,000 ransom and a volunteer crew of two Dutchmen and a Briton. The plane refueled this morning at Aden, on the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula, and took off again but the destination was not known.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Emmet James Kay, believed to be the last U.S. prisoner of war held in Indochina, was flown today to Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines for a medical checkup after his release by the Communist Pathet Lao. Kay said he felt "great, just great" when he arrived in Vientiane aboard a British Embassy plane that brought him from Sam Neua, the Pathet Lao capital in Northern Laos where he was held for 16 months. Looking thin but healthy, the 47-year-old commercial pilot hugged by his wife, who had flown to Laos from their home in Hawaii.

Bond says Ford program for war resisters may be inadequate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Ford's program for the re-entry of Vietnam war resisters into American society may be inadequate in some cases, according to Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Bond, speaking to newsmen Tuesday, said he believed the maximum 24-month period in alternative service would not be sufficient for milirary deserters, who should instead face judicial proceedings and possible imprisionment.

"I recognize the President took a difficult step in trying to heal the wounds of a divisive war," the governor said, "but I would have rather seen a case - by - case review. Twenty-four months would not be adequate in some cases."

Similar feelings had earlier been expressed by state Veteran Affairs Director Robert Edwards, who acknowledged that while resisters are being given a chance to resume normal lives in the United States through the plan, the men who died during the war "weren't given a chance, were they?"

Bond agreed with other state Republican leaders that he has seen some slippage in Republican support in Missouri since Ford's pardon of his predecessor Richard Nixon 10 days ago.

"Quite a number are disturbed by the individual actions of the President," the governor said. But he contended pardon dissatisfaction would only directly effect the President's popularity. It will have a lesser effect on GOP congressional candidates and little effect on state office candidates, he indicated.

On state issues, the governor said he is awaiting the final submission of information from his Department of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing before making any decisions concerning the state's 8 per cent interest ceiling on long-term loans, the lowest in the nation.

He said, however, that a special legislative session to raise the ceiling has not been ruled out as an answer to the problem, which many have claimed has dried up the home-buiding market in the state.

The departmental inquiry into the problem, ordered by Bond, concludes Friday with a hearing in Kansas City.

At the opening of the news conference, Bond issued his fourth "report to the taxpayers" concerning the operations of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations.

Department Director Geoffrey McCarron said he plans to appoint a broad-based committee, of possibly 10 members, to review the operations of the state Board of Mediation and make recommendations for giving the board expanded responsibilities.

While not stating what the new responsibilities might be, McCarron indicated that the board should be given some authority to mediate bargagining disputes between public employes and management.

Low numbered plates case goes to appeals court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state's effort to eliminate the tradition of lownumbered auto license plates has gone from the circuit court of Cole County to the state Supreme Court and now to the state Court of Appeals in Kansas City.

The Supreme Court's Division One transferred the case Tuesday to the Kansas City court, upholding the contention of Walter McQuie that the high court did no have original appeals jurisdiction unless it decided the case involved revenue laws.

McQuie represents John and Dorothy Van Dyke of Montgomery City, who won a Cole County Circuit Court decision saying they can retain their license number, 1-248, which they have had since 1948.

Their suit, filed after Revenue Director James Spradling announced plans to discontinue numbers 1 through 9,999, was based on the license plate law which says the revenue director must assign a number to applicants and they are entitled to keep that number when they sell their vehicle.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond criticized the low number plates as a symbol of special favors and vetoed in 1973 a bill allowing "personalized" plates for an extra fee.

Spradling has said that while the circuit court decision stands, he will continue to renew the low numbers.

He has No. 7 on his official car but his private No. 7 has been given to U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor, R-Mo., of the 7th Congressional District. Five of the state Supreme Court judges have plates with four or less digits.

Richard Weiler of the attorney general's office argued that letting the circuit court decision stand would mean that all of the 2 million or so persons holding noncommercial license plates could demand that they keep their present license numbers.

This would cost about $4 million, depleting revenue of the Highway Commission, because the plates would have to be indexed, filed and mailed, he said.

At present, persons obtain their license plates at random from the Revenue Department branch offices.

McQuie argued that state law says the right to use a particular number does not expire upon the end of the registration period. He said the law calls for new plates, but not new numbers, to be issued every year.

He cited several references in a 1939 law which says the revenue director shall assign the license plate number to an individual.

While the law does not say specifically that license numbers are to be assigned on a permanent basis, it says numbers shall be assigned, and has this phrase:

Except that a set of plates for commercial vehicles shall not be assigned on a permanent basis."

The language was retained when the law was changed in 1947 to have permanent plates, with a tab covering the registration year; in 1951 when the revenue director was allowed to change the registration periods, and in 1969 when the state returned to issuing new plates every year.

Spradling says he favors going back to multiple-year plates to save money.

Farmers group to have adequate monetary funds

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — By the end of this week, the National Farmers Organization will have enough money to meet its obligations, including loans payable to members, NFO President Oren Lee Staley predicts.

He said that nearly $1 million in additional commitments to the NFO were phoned to the home office here Tuesday.

"The folks who contributed over $5 million to the NFO at our emergency meeting for action in Des Moines obviously got busy immediately when they got home and obtained further dues payments, contributions, loan forgiveness and donations from other sources," said Staley.

The Securities Exchange Commission has charged the NFO with fraud and deceit for accepting $8 million in loans, mostly from members, without taking in enough dues to repay those loans.

The SEC also claims the NFO did not tell farmers who loaned money all the outstanding obligations the organization has.

A hearing on the charges was to be held Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Des Moines.

NFO members from throughout the nation gathered together in Des Moines Monday and were told the NFO needed $10 million to remain alive.

The NFO contends there would be no case against the organization if the SEC would recognze as assets more than $42 million in uncollected dues, dating back several years.

Approximately $2.4 million in delinquent dues has been collected since the SEC took its original action, Staley claimed.

The SEC also charged the NFO was not capable of repaying its members, while Staley countered the NFO could more than meet its debt by collection of unpaid dues.

Cox awarded $1,500 in 'suit on a bet'

CHARLESTON — A Circuit Court jury Monday ruled in favor of L. R. Cox of Charleston and awarded him $1,500 damages in his "suit on a bet" brought against Viverette Lee of Charleston after deliberating about two hours and 20 minutes.

The suit was filed Aug. 31, 1973 in Magistrate Court by Cox, who charged that on or about Oct. 30, 1972, he made a bet with Lee and Delmar Alcorn of Bertrand as to the true identity of the writer of certain writings in a notebook.

Alcorn alleged that Lee had written in the book, a fact which Lee disputed. Cox and Alcorn then bet Lee $1,500 each that Lee was the writer. The men then wrote out checks totaling $1,500 each and gave them to Eugene Wade of Charleston as stake holder.

The suit then charged that before the real facts had been determined as to whether Lee had written in the notebook, Lee and Alcorn went to Wade and said the bet had been called off. Alcorn's check was returned to him and torn up. Alcorn reportedly then notified Cox that the bet had been called off and repudiated, and informed him that he had received his checks back and had torn them up.

The suit further states that on Nov. 9, 1972, Lee cashed three checks signed by Cox.

Witnesses in Monday's trial were Oarmen McKinley, Delmar Alcorn, Don French, Eugene Wade and Owen Stader.

Three dissolution of marriage decrees granted Monday by Judge Marshall Craig included: Mary Ann Linley and Gary Lewis Linley, with Mrs. Linley receiving custody of one child and $20 per week for child support; Peggy Jo Pry and Dewey J. Pry, with custody of two children awarded to Mrs. Pry, along with a total of $75 per week for child support; and James Edward Snowden and Evelyn Sue Snowden, with custody of one child awarded to Mrs. Snowden and $15 a week for child support.

In turning down the request, the commission decided it would be too expensive for the city to take care of the land which is of no use to the city.

The commission tabled a request by Charles Ainsworth, 600 Allen Blvd., that a vacant lot owned by the city on Allen Boulevard be deeded to him. Ainsworth has said he would like to take care of the property and plant tress on it.

"If these were irregularities there, they were irregularities in January, 1973, as well as September, 1974, and it makes one suspicious that it (the disclosure) was done for political purposes," Hearnes said.

Special board meeting set

BERNIE — Supt. Elmer "Doc" Dunn announced today that the board of education will have a special meeting Tuesday night following the school bond election.

If the $695,000 bond issue passes, Dunn said the board will set up a meeting with Donnellen and Porterfield, a Poplar Bluff architectural firm, to proceed with plans for construction of additions to the high school and elementary school buildings and other improvements.

Cards' pitching, hitting, running topple Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lithe, lean Lou Brock has just slid into the No. 2 spot on baseball's all-time stolen base list, but he seemed surprised that he had drawn a swarm of reporters.

"Why me? Go see Gibson, Hrabosky, Simmons ...," he said with a puzzled smile after helping the St. Louis Cardinals edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 13 innings Tuesday night.

True, Brock alone hadn't given the Cardinals their sixth win in a row and sent the Pirates to their sixth straight loss, and Brock alone hadn't boosted St. Louis 2 1/2 games ahead of runner-up Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Yet it was he who had scored the winning run after his second stolen base of the game.

The score was 1-1 into the 13th when Brock lined a single to left. It was his first hit of the game off Pirate lefty Jerry Reuss, who lost despite a startto-finish eight-hitter.

"The only foolproof way to stop Brock is to keep him off base," Reuss said later.

Brock had reached base twice previously. In the third he had been caught stealing. In the 10th he had stolen second to extend his own single season record to 108.

No. 109 came neatly and cleanly in the 13th inning after Reuss had made six straight tosses to first.

It was his 744th career steal, one more than former base thief Eddie Collins, whose 1930 retirement came nine years before Brock was born.

"I was fatigued in the 13th, but I was able to read Reuss' body movement and get a good jump," said Brock.

"Even if they had pitched out they wouldn't have gotten me," he added.

After stealing second, Brock took third on a sacrifice bunt by Ted Sizemore and trotted home with the winning run when Ted Simmons belted a sacrifice fly to the warning track in left.

That one run was enough because Cardinals starter Bob Gibson and reliever Al Hrabosky combined for a no-hitter over the final 9 2-3 innings.

The 38-year-old Gibson allowed a solo homer by Al Oliver in the first, but he checked the Pirates over the next eight innings.

Hrabosky, who pitched the final four innings to raise his record to 7-1, drew loud boos because of his penchant for stepping off the mound to psyche himself.

"I walk off the mound and turn my back to the batter to give myself confidence," Hrabosky explained from behind a dark moustache.

"Tonight was the first time I got booed and I liked it," added the Cardinal lefty, who has allowed just one earned run in his last 26 appearances.

"Let them boo," he added with a devilish grin. "I hate people anyway. I think a relief pitcher has to hate people.

"I'm talking basically when I'm on the mound," he added.

"We've always felt we had the best club," said Hbrabosky. "But the Pirates are a good club and they're not going to fold. We have to keep on winning."

League battles top prep grid

SEMO high school football moves into the third week of play this Friday night as the conference race opens in each division.

Last week was the final warmup for all teams in preparation for the upcoming conference season.

Sikeston had their trouble with the big boys from the big city of Kansas City but the season should get easier as the Bulldogs will hardly be facing any teams as big as Farmington or Lillis in the conference. The Bulldogs will be traveling to Perryville to take on the school that coach Terry Smith came from and built a fine football program. Sikeston will be looking for their first win over the Pirates in the last five years.

Dexter surprised Jackson 31-21, last week and Friday night coach Clyde Vaughn's Bearcats will begin to defend their Southern Division championship against Portageville at home. The PHS Bulldogs were the victims of the Charleston Bluejays last week at Charleston as the "Big" plays did them in.

The Big conference game in the Northern Division will be at Kennett where the Poplar Bluff Mules invade the Indians. The Mules edged Springfield Glendale 20-15 last week and seem to have things going right after an opening loss to Fox. Kennett shutout Malden 13-0 to tuneup for the contest. Jackson will travel to Ste. Genevieve for a non- conference bout before their conference season opens up nex week. Jackson had their hand s full in their loss to Dexter last week.

Hazelwood visits Cape Central in a big city battle. The Tigers aren't as strong this season as in the past five and will be having their troubles when the conference season begins for the Bengals.

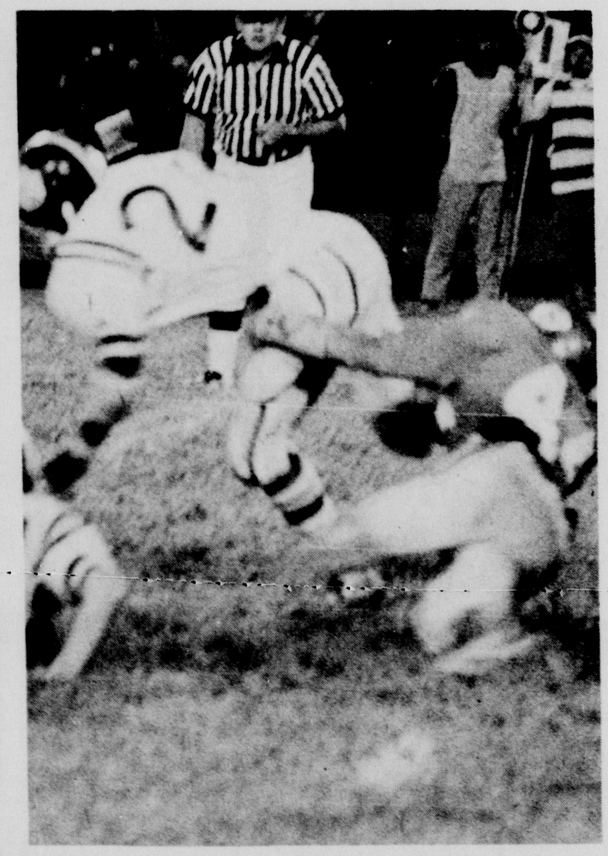
Caruthersville takes on Southern Division rival Hayti after taking last week off. The HHS Indians romped over hapless South Pemiscot 38-0. This battle is always a close one no matter who is favored.

Illmo- Scott City travels to Malden in a non-conference battle. The Rams almost had their 19 game winning streak ended last Friday night at East Prairie but came from behind in the second half to win their 20th straight over a three year period.

The East Prairie Eagles travel to Chaffee to take on the Red Devils in a conference game. Chaffee took a tough loss last week to St. Vincent's of Perryville.

Doniphan visits Potosi for a big non- conference game. The Dons are hoping to whip the big Potosi team.

The Charleston Bluejays will be taking on St. Vincent's of Perryville at Perryville Friday night. The Bluejays will be showing St. Vincents plenty of speed and a good passing game.



SHS's Rob Newman (44) brings down Kansas City Lillis halfback in game Saturday night at Public Schools Stadium. The Bulldogs took a 14-13 loss from the Kansas City power, the teams second straight one point loss this season and third straight in a three year span.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rick Cash, a starting defensive end who was cut by the New England Patriots last week after a stint as team player representative, has been signed by the Philadelphia Bell of the World Football League.

Goose biologists are beginning to learn where the Canada geese that migrate through Missouri nest on Canada's Hudson's Bay, and how to predict what success the birds will have. The studies should enable the goose experts to set seasons that benefit both hunters and geese.

Goose guessing being refined

JEFFERSON CITY — Setting the Canada goose hunting regulation always has been a case of taking the best available information (which is limited), combining with a sixth sense, taking a deep breath and letting fly.

It has worked well. But if current studies in the far northern tundra pay off, the flock of Canada geese that migrates through Missouri each autumn will have its health measured before it ever leaves Mr. Hudson's Bay.

Missouri is one of several states cooperating in the program which is designed, first, to delineate the eastern prairie population's nesting site and, second, to figure out a method of determining productivity from an annual survey.

If waterfowl biologists can combine the known northward migrating flock of adults with an accurate estimate of young produced, they can design a fall hunting regulation that will offer hunters the maximum opportunity without cutting into the post- season flock population considered minimum.

"We've pretty well pinned a majority of the birds to about a 5,000 square mile area of the tundra along Hudson's Bay from Churchill to York Factory and inland maybe 20 miles," says Ken Babcock, waterfowl biologist with the Department of Conservation.

"The ideal is to have a north migrating flock of about 200,000 birds, and we feel we should have that next spring. They settle into an area of 60,000 square miles -- but more than 70 per cent of them nest in 10 per cent of that area."

There's not much that can be done to increase survival, for the conditions that affect mortality of young geese are not those that, for example, plague ducks.

Ducks suffer more from loss of habitat than anything else -- draining of marshlands -- and the obvious solution is to provide more marshlands, something that the federal government and private groups such as Ducks Unlimited have been doing.

But the geese nest in uninhabited tundra and weather appears to be the largest mortality factor. "We've always felt the week before and the week after hatch is the most critical," Babcock says.

"Our limited observations indicate that the birds tend to lose whole broods, rather than having them picked off one at a time by something. They either raise what they hatch or they don't raise any at all."

The average brood size to flight stage over the last five years was 2.5, down somewhat from the best years because of late springs. "We've found that late springs result in smaller clutch size and less productivity," Babcock says.

On the other hand, the number of nesting females in 1974 was up 14 per cent from 1973 and that should help offset the lower average broods.

Part of the problem in studying the nesting birds is their extreme wariness, Rich Malecki, a University of Missouri graduate student, and George Seek, an area assistant at Shell- Osage Wildlife Area are two of the team involved in the productivity study.

"They tell me that they frequently put field glasses on geese a half mile away and see them running as hard as they can go," Babcock says.

"These birds have been to school. They've had contact with man before."

Now waterfowl biologists are going to bird school themselves and the result, hopefully, will be one on which hunters and geese both thrive.

Rabbit prospects for the upcoming season are "cautiously optimistic" according to Ken Sadler, Department of Conservation rabbit biologist. Although population surveys showed little increase from last year, Sadler thinks weather conditions kept rabbits from being seen. The season is Oct. 1 — Feb. 15, with a daily limit of six, possession limit of 12.

Baseball for CHS

CARUTHERSVILLE

The Caruthersville high school may have baseball as a spring sport for the first time in the school's history when baseball season rolls around in 1975.

The school has never had baseball due to the lack of playing facilities. But as a result of the England Park improvement program, Kiwanis Field has been renovated and the dimensions for a baseball diamond has been added.

At the recent meeting of the school board, the issue was discussed but no action taken.

"We feel it would be a good thing," Superintendent of Schools Carl Hutchison said. "For that reason we are checking into the matter more fully."

Repayment agreement is reached

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Agreement has been reached between the state Highway Commission and the state treasurer's office on repayment of nearly $21 million in interest earned from invested highway funds.

Although the deal has not been officially closed, Treasurer James I. Spainhower said Tuesday it was only a matter of his formally notifying the highway department of his acceptance.

"The Highway Commission offered to settle on a four-year payback period and I have verbally agreed with them to do so," Spainhower said when reached by telephone at a meeting in St. Joseph.

Under provisions of the plan, agreed to by the six-member commission Aug. 14 and transmitted to Spainhower's office a week later through the attorney general's office, four annual payments would be made beginning this December to repay the $20,947,286 in interest that had been mistakenly deposited in the state's general revenue fund between September 1967 and this June. The first payment will total $5,242,286 and the remaining three payments will each be $5,235,000.

Resolution of the issue concludes the controversy which began early this year with the state Supreme Court's decision that the interest earned on invested road fund money must be redeposited in the road fund and that interest put in general revenue over the seven year period would have to be repaid.

Although there had been some suggestion that the entire $21 million would have to be repaid in a lump sum, which Gov. Christopher S. Bond said would place the state in a financial crisis, there appeared to be little doubt that some agreement would be reached on a time-repayment plan.

Members of both the House and Senate appropriations committees, who are charged with watching the state's budget, had initially supported a seven-year repayment plan while the highway commission proposed a three-year program. Spainhower had suggested that a five-year plan would work out best. The four-year proposal came, officials said, after discussions concerning a compromise.

Division of Accounting Director W. J. Raftery, in his fiscal statement for August, said interest from invested highway funds is still being deposited in the general revenue fund because procedures have not been implemented to allow it to go directly into the state road fund.

"A method is being developed by the state treasurer and the highway department which will permit interest received to be allocated to the appropriate accounts during the month in which it is received," Raftery said. "It is estimated that this transfer will be made prior to Sept. 30, 1974."

The total amount of interest earned on highway funds for July, August and September and to be transfered to the state road fund would not exceed $1 million, Spainhower said.

Pension law seeks to aid plan problems

By STUART SYMINGTON
U.S. Senator—Missouri

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The first significant legislation to regulate private pension plans and to protect the pension benefits of employes has been passed by Congress and is now public law.

This legislation seeks to respond to problems that have arisen in private pension plans. For instance, bankruptcies and mergers sometimes have resulted in loss of workers' pension rights.

Many Missourians had written to me to report that despite many years of employment under pension plans on which they had counted, it would be difficult for them to obtain retirement benefits.

To help remedy some of these problems, I cosponsored the pension protection bill.

The new law does not require businesses to provide pension plans for their employes, but it does set standards to be met by employers who now have or any extablish such retirement programs.

Some 35 million Americans are now covered under private pension plans. This law is an important step toward assuring them and millions of workers in the future that their pensions will be protected and that their pension programs will be equitable.

Small Business Seminar — Nine federal agencies will cosponsor a conference on government assistance to small business Sept. 30-Oct. 1, 1974 at the Plaza Inn in Kansas City, Mo. The Small Business Administration is coordinating the meeting in conjunction with the Departments of Commerce, Defense, Housing and Urban Development, Labor, the Environmental Protection Agency, Federal Energy Administration, General Services Administration and Internal Revenue Service.

The conference was organized to answer questions and inform smal business of the services offered by these agencies; services which can assist in business development, expansion or management. A $15 registration fee covers the price of admission to all activities, including two luncheon meetings and 24 "how to do it" Seminars.

Inquiries should be sent to the Small Business Administration, 911 Walnut, Room 2300, Kansas City, Mo. 64106, phone (816) 374-5288.

State Highway Department fails to use money

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state Highway Department has failed to make use of millions of dollars in interest-free federal loans, causing either delays in construction projects or loss of interest on state funds that could have been invested, according to state Auditor John Ashcroft.

"During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1974, approximately 30 million was expended by the department for regular right-of-way acquisition using state funds and partial reimbursement by the federal government," an audit report on the highway department released Tuesday, stated.

But the report noted that in 1973, the highway department told the federal government to redistribute $1.2 million it had been given in interest-free advance right-of-way loans, which did not have to be repaid for seven years, and that in fiscal 1974 the department did not even apply for such loans, whose repayment period had been extended to 10 years.

"Had all available interest-free funds under the advance federal right-of-way revolving fund been used, the department would have had additional funds to do even more construction work in the state, or could have earned additional interest on state funds invested by the state treasurer," the report stated. The audit covered a two-year period through June 1973.

Ashcroft recommended the department take full advantage of the federal loan program in the future and also in the 43-page report called for better use of other federal funds, improved staffing and policies in the internal review and auditing section and strengthened property control.

The report said nearly $9 million in federal funds for highway use "were unnecessarily tied up" for as long as six years, recommending release of such monies as quickly as possible so new projects can begin at an earlier date.

That situation appeared to result from lack of coordination of those funds, the report noted.

Williams inspires new league

By EARL HENDERSON
MAN WITH FORESIGHT

Sikeston, a town of approximately 15,000 people, has numerous outstanding men, but a newcomer, had the desire, fortitude, ambition, conviction of self, dedication to youth, and the can- do- attitude to push these convictions till someone listened and the community now has a Little League football program.

Floyd Williams, originally from Mariana, Ark., and more recently from Scottsboro, Ala., was this man.

Floyd knew nothing of Sikeston's great football years. He only knew that his son Vince, Mark Henderson and Randy Bohannan who played little league football in other communities, had nothing to do but be a spectator, and being a spectator wasn't enough for these boys.

Knowing the importance of physical activity for boys like Vince and others, Floyd Williams wanted to do something, and like so many of us, he didn't day - dream, he like so many men- of - action, did something about it.

Floyd met a man — Clem Beal — of the Bank of Sikeston, and convinced Clem that he had a good idea. Mr. Beal arranged to speak before the Sikeston JC's about Floyd's proposal. Clem talked and Floyd answered questions. An Idea! A Dream! it was almost a reality.

JC'S ACCEPT CHALLENGE

No organization is 100% for anything — JC's no exception, but with men like Robb Mitchell and Charles Blumenberg on Floyd's side, to push and fight for the league, how could the JC's resist?

Robb and Chuck pushed Clem and Floyd's proposal and the JC's not only took on the management of the league but sponsored one of the four teams in the league. It was decided that in this first year the league would consist of sixth and seventh graders with four 25 man teams.

The JC's appointed a committee to organize the league. Robb Mitchell and Charles Blumenberg were the co-chairmen. Members were: Phil Boyer, Dane Lair, Dennis Ziegenhron, Eric Piel and Steve Sikes.

Charles Blumenberg revised the little league rules of Scottsboro, Alabama, to conform to the general purposes of this league, which are:

1. Provide boys an opportunity for fun and enjoyment through a football program.
2. Teach boys football skills and techniques.
3. Practice good sportsmanship and physical fitness.

Phil Boyer arranged for practice and game fields along with lining up officials. Dane Lair is secretary- treasurer and arranged the schedules. Eric Piel and Scott Mathews were in charge of publicity. Clem Beal acquired the sponsors who in turn gave money to the JC's to purchase equipment for 100 boys.

Steve Sikes arranged for Sikes Sporting Goods Company to purchase the best equipment possible for sale to the league at cost. The players purchased their own shoes and mouth- pieces and the league furnished the rest. The retail price of the equipment would be close to $50.00 per player. Safety- being a prime factor in the league, was kept in mind in selection of equipment.

LEAGUE ORGANIZATION

The league formulated rules and by-laws under which to operate. A nine member commission, of which five are JC's, and one from each team, are charged with the operation of the league. At this time the only names available are those of the JC's: Robb Mitchell, Charles Blumenberg, Eric Piel, Dane Lair and Phil Boyer.

The commissioners are charged with the responsibility to see that the rules and by-laws are carried out by each coach, player and parent, and to rule on any infraction.

The league had two basic ideas when formed: One- Everybody gets to play and second - there would be no tryouts.

Idea one is enforced in the rules by the third quarter rule which states that the eleven most inexperienced players will play all the third quarter. Idea two is also in the rules. The complete rules and by laws, along with the purpose of the league are stated below in their entirety.

LEAGUE RULES

GENERAL PURPOSE OF LEAGUE:

The purpose of this league is to provide a recreational football program with major emphasis upon fun and enjoyment for young boys interested in playing and learning the skills of football. Major emphasis of this league is to:

1. Provide boys an opportunity for fun and enjoyment through a football program.
2. Teach boys football skills and techniques.
3. Practice good sportsmanship and physical fitness.

The program will always promote safety -- first play by encouraging only programs with strict controls over age, weight, equipment and proper behavior of participants, adult coaches and spectators.

LIABILITY:

The Sikeston J. C. Little League Football, League, Officers, Sponsors, Coaches, Managers, Referees or any other Supervisory Personnel are not responsible for injuries to person or damage to property. This is entirely the responsibility of persons participating, such as players, coaches, managers, officials, parents and spectators -- All of whom participate at their own risk.

PRACTICE:

More than three players of the same team on the field with a coach from the same team will be called a practice. It shall be the duty of the Commission to investigate all complaints and determine if there has been a violation of the practice rule and take action according.

If a player misses practice for any reason, he must, at the discretion of the coach, bring a written excuse from his parents before resuming practice again. All boys must play in every game. If for some reason a coach feels he should bench a boy, he must notify the Commission before the game in writing, expressing the reasons. The decision will be made by the Commission, and must be implemented.

Unlimited practices per week will be allowed until school starts, but no longer than two two- hour sessions per practice. After school starts, two two - hour practices per week and one game, or three practices will be OK if there is no game scheduled that week. No practice will run longer than two hours or will run later than seven o'clock P.M.

Violation of this rule or any other rule set forth in the By-Laws and the Constitution of this department will mean the suspension of that coach in violation from the league immediately upon a majority vote of the Commission. If the Commission feels that the other coaches of the league should vote on the matter they will be allowed to vote only after a majority vote of the Commission. It shall be the responsibility of the Commission to see that each head coach is furnished with a set of rules and regulations at the beginning of each season. This is in no way to be used to exempt the coach of his responsibilities to the league.

No player will be allowed to participate in any one scheduled game without at least two two- hour practices. Failure to abide by this rule will mean an automatic forfeit for that team in which this player participated in.

It will be illegal for any person to participate in any practice helped by a coach in this league without a permission - to - play slip (liability slip). This slip must be on file with the Commission. Failure to do so will mean a forfeit to that team on the up-coming game. All liability slips must be on file with the commission of each individual player prior to his first practice. Penalty for not abiding by this rule will mean a forfeit for that team in which that individual player dressed out.

Before the season starts, scrimmage games will be allowed; but not to exceed four eight- minute quarters.

STARTING LINE-UPS:

Starting line-ups must be printed or typed complete with name, jersey No. and position. Any teams' line-up or roster can be changed by the Commission. If upon detection that the intent of the third quarter rule has been violated by person or persons a coach may have starting. This change can be done with or without the approval of the head coach. All starting line-ups must be turned into the press box to the third quarter director five (5) minutes prior to starting of game. In case a coach does not have his line-up in on time there will be a ten (10) yard penalty for delay of game; no decision or discussion will be necessary. The time- keeper will notify the official of this penalty. If in case the starting line-up is not as states above, that teams' coach will correct the lineup and will be charged with a delayed penalty.

GROUND RULE SAFETY PROPOSAL:

1. Bull in the ring shall not be done.
2. Scramble for the ball shall not be done.
3. Head-on tackling shall not be done at a distance of more than four (4) yards. Weight balance within a few pounds will be observed.
4. Beware of exhustion of the child.
5. Burma road shall not be done.
6. Wind sprints shall be limited to three (3) each of not more than forty (40) yards each. Laps are limited to one of not more than one hundred (100) yards per practice.
7. Duck walk plus any other exercise that causes total (maximum) bending of joints shall not be done.

Each coach is cautioned regarding over- exerting the child. Abuse of the players will not be tolerated.

PLAYER LIMITS PER TEAM:

Each coach should file with Commission his completed roster prior to the first scheduled game. No player can be added once the season has started, except when a team gets down below twenty- five boys, and then the players will be assigned by the Commission by written notice to that head coach with name of player, age, team to be assigned to, permission to be assigned to that team, and signed by the Commission. Without this information he cannot be accepted.

MEMBERSHIP

Any boy meeting the requirements as to age, weight, and residence as set forth shall be eligible for participation. The Commission shall have the authority to suspend, discharge or otherwise discipline any member, coach, player or other person whose conduct is considered as detrimental to the best interests of the association.

Members of the Commission shall, upon evidence of misconduct of any boy, notify the coach of the team of which the boy is a member within twenty- four (24) hours of the act. The said coach shall appear, in the capacity of an advisor, with the boy before at least three (3) members of the commission within three (3) days of the act, for appropriate action.

LEAGUE CHAMPIONS AND AWARDS:

League Champions will be determined by the team with the greatest number of wins. In case of a tie for a league championship, a playoff game will be scheduled to determine a winner. Should the playoff game end in a tie, the game will be determined by the penetration system.

The Sikeston J. C. Little League Football League will provide trophies to the League Champions and the runner-up in each league.

UNSPORTSMANLIKE CONDUCT:

Any player or coach whose conduct is unbecoming, who curses, is unsportsmanlike or in any way is ungentlemenly, stands to be put out of a game. The officials will report all such conduct to the Commissioner. Should the same individual be reported a second time, he will be brought before the Commission for disciplinary action which could mean suspension from the league.

PLAYER WEIGHT:

The establishment of player weight and control shall be as follows:

Age 11 - 12 - 13

PEE-WEE

1. No minimum weight.
2. Maximum weight shall be one hundred fifty- five (155), pounds during the second weight check.
3. No back in this league shall weight more than one hundred twenty (120) pounds.
4. There will be two (2) weight checks in this league as stated above.
5. Any boy weighing over one hundred fifty-five (155) pounds on the night of the second check will be dropped from the league.

ESTABLISHMENT OF WEIGHT:

1. Weights shall be based on a boy stripped, with the exception of playing shorts. Weighing of the boys in uniform is acceptable provided a suitable and consistent allowance is made for the uniform weight.

PUNT RULE:

In the Pee Wee League the high school rules will be in effect, with the exception after a punt the receiver will have a five (5) yard rule in effect to protect him. This five (5) yard rule will mean he the receiver will have five (5) yards to catch the ball before a defensemen can tackle the receiver. The purpose of this rule is to keep a man from getting hit as soon as he touches the ball.

Violation of this five (5) yard catch rule will mean a fifteen (15) yard penalty for the defensive team. This again will be a judgment call by the official and no way can it be protested.

KICK-OFF RULE

There will be kick-off's in the league this year. High School rules will be in effect on these kick-offs for the league. The only exception will again be the five (5) yard rule for the receiver to field the ball.

PEE-WEE LEAGUE:

Pee-Wee's will carry twelve (12) man roster and in case of an injured player the opposing coach will select this injured players replacement. In case a team has less than twenty- five (25) players, the opposing coach will select these or this player to participate in the third quarter. The Pee-Wee rule will be the same as stated in Part "C" of above Midget League, except it will be numbered as 13- 23 on the roster for third quarter team and, as last year, no Pee- Wee coach will enter onto the field.

No player starting the game on offense shall be permitted to play in third quarter on either league.

On the night of the third game, no coach will change his third quarter roster in the league for the remainder of the season. If in case of injury or a boy quits, the roster must be changed and it must be in writing in the form of a request and must be approved, in writing, for the commission.

PROTESTS:

Protests on matters of judgment as rendered by any official will not be considered. Protests of eligibility will be heard. Protests must be in writing and submitted to the Recreation Office no later than twenty- four (24) hours after termination of the game. The protest must be made known to one of the officials handling the game to the effect that the game is being played under protest. It will be up to the protesting team to furnish proof of guilt. Within twenty- four (24) hours after receipt of the written protest, the Recreation Director will select a protest board. The protest board, upon notice to the team managers of teams involved, shall conduct a hearing within forty- eight (48) hours after their appointment. The protest board shall render a decision on whether the protest shall be allowed, or not allowed, within six (6) hours after the hearing is closed.

Teams found guilty of using ineligible players not only lose the protested game, but violators are also subject to suspension from the league. No forfeit or replay will be allowed due to the conduct or a decision of any official, but teams may protest in writing to have said official appear before the board of directors for disciplinary action.

All protests must be filed with a ten ($10) Dollar deposit. If, in case the protest is up-held, that head coach will be refunded the ten ($10) Dollars without interest. If a coach protests a game during that game and informs the official the game is being played under a protest and after the game is over, he changes his mind as to the point that he no longer wants to protest the game, his ten ($10) dollars will be paid within the following three (3) days, meaning if you tell an official a game is being played under a protest you will pay ten ($10) dollars whether you decide to carry out the protest or not. If this ten ($10) dollars is not paid within three (3) days, this coach will be suspended from the league without any voting, meeting or discussion.

At no time will an assistant coach protest a game unless he has been appointed head coach for that game because of absenteeism of the official head coach. The head coach is the only person that can legally file a protest.

OFFICIALS:

All league games will be played with two (2) officials, one of which must be a "Journeyman" scheduled by the league secretary. No game will start without at least one official and then only when mutually agreed upon by both team coaches. League officials will report all undesirable situations to the Commission. Should fans or spectators at any time get out of hand or display conduct unbecoming to the league's reputation by booing players, parading up and down the side lines, or showing conduct detrimental to the game, the umpire will have the responsibility of informing the coach that should this conduct continue, he will penalize the team whose spectators are in question. Should this behavior continue, the official can penalize the team.

GAME

No team can go on first count, but can start on the second. Mouth pieces must be worn by each player in accordance with high school rules. There will be three (3) time outs per half. The coach will not go on to the field; Whereas, A team captain will be necessary in the league. The only exception for this rule to change be for an injured player; Whereas, the head coach is permitted to go on the field. Coach and players must stay inside thirty (30) yard line with teams' or on both sides of field. If both teams are on same side, each team will stay within fivteen and forty- five (15-45) yard line. Time between halves will be ten (10) minutes and between games fifteen (15) minutes. Failure to meet these times will be a cause for delay game penalty.

The team scheduled for next game cannot enter field area until the beginning of third quarter of the present game. The home team will warm up on the Northeast end and visiting team on the Southeast end. Both leagues will play six (6) minute quarters consisting of four (4) quarters.

COACHES

All coaches will keep their rosters up- to - date and on file with the Commission. If a coach has an inadequate file, as to the point he has one or more players participating without a liability slip on file with the Commission, the games these players dressed out for will be forfeited.

Head coaches are responsible for conduct of assistant coaches and players before, during and after the game. Each head coach will see to it that his team, upon entering the gate of the football field, will sit together before the game and will not allow running around. Coaches are responsible both before and after their games. In reference to this statement, any player whose conduct is unbecoming to his uniform will be reported to his coach. Upon such a report by the Commission, that coach will see to it that player is not dressed out at the next game. He must sit out for one game. If reported again, his uniform will be taken by that coach.

There shall be four coaches permitted per team for the training and direction of players. Any coach, whether head or assistant, who deliberately breaks any rule in this constitution, without just reason, will or can be dismissed from this football league.

All coaches, whether head or assistant, must be approved by Commission. This pertains to any help during practice, as well as, game. If an illegal coach, meaning a person not approved by the Commission, is used during practice or game this will mean a forfeit for this team in up- coming game or that game which this illegal coach participated it.

If for some reason a coach feels he should bench a boy, he must notify the Commission, prior to the game, in writing, expressing his reasons.

There is nothing in the constitution that states as assistant coach will automatically be head coach if a head coach quits or retires. All head coaches must be appointed on a year to year basis. No exception will be made to this. This also means assistant coaches as well, meaning although you may have coached last year, this does not mean that you will be able to be head or assistant coach this year without the approval of the Commisssion.

ROSTER:

After the night of the first game, all boys that participated in that first game or any boy issued equipment at later date and then dropped from that team roster for any reason the head coach of that team will file with the Commission within five (5) days after the player has been dropped or quit: Name of player, address of player, father's name of player, telephone number, and reasons, if known, for being dropped or quitting. Failure to do so in this time limit will mean a five (5) dollar fine to that head coach for each boy not reported. Failure to pay the fine will mean dismissal of that head coach. This penalty money will be used for the purpose of buying cokes for this team. This roster that has to be turned in within five (5) minutes to starting time should show a teams' first eleven (11) as 1 - 11 and third quarter team as 15 - 25. Failure to evaluate in this manner will mean a forfeit for that particular game for the use of illegal players. No excuses, will be heard for not abiding by this rule.

Remember that the third quarter team will be selected from bottom up. The most unskilled boy will be on the third quarter roster. If in case a team has less than twenty- five (25) players and has to use the same or the first eleven (11), the opposing coach will select this or these players to play in third quarter. Each team will be twenty-five (25) boys per team and will be maintained by assignment by the Commission. If it becomes necessary to add more to the twenty- five (25) man per team roster, the board will make the decision.

To repeat a statement pertaining to evaluation of the roster. This does not mean a boy that may be great on defense and poor on offense makes a third quarter player. We mean a boy that is unskilled both defensively and offensively for third quarter. League evaluation and line-up will be 1 - 12 best players; 15 - 25 will be your third quarter team and also repeating the statement, all boys over this will be noted as extras on the roster and can participate in any quarter except third quarter.

INJURED PLAYER:

Any boy injured in a ball game will be taken out of such ball game, within the judgment of the head official the boy's health or safety is in jeopardy. Any boy injured badly enough to need the care of a doctor must present a written statement to the coach before he can return to practice or play in a game.

If a player is taken out of the game or time out is called because of an injured player, this player must stay out for one play. Failure to keep him out for one play will mean a fifteen (15) yard penalty for that team. Explanation for injury meaning a coach having to call the out or an official having to call time out because of an injured player.

TEAM SPONSOR COMMENTS

1. Sikeston JC's: You cannot write enough about the JC's. Just read the purposes of the league. Anyone who believes in these ideals would want to sponsor a team.

2. Bank of Sikeston: Why involved? Ned Mathews said, "We realized the need the city has to get young people involved, and the need for a sponsor. We also like to support any worthwhile activity, and thought this was a good opportunity for young people."

3. National Lock: Gaylen Kruger of National Lock said, "Our company has an obligation to attempt and help promote the community, and little league football will not only do this, but will provide youth a recreational activity."

4. Sikeston Daily Standard: We were more than happy to sponsor a team, and hope that these young boys prosper from their experience and stay associated with the game throughout their life.

It's a great game and the experience they gain from this program should help them both mentally and physically, and hopefully give them the added and needed experience to stay with the sport throughout school.

Sikeston High School has been a dominant figure on the gridiron until recent years ... We hope this program will be a determining factor on returning the Bulldog's to the prominence they and the townspeople once enjoyed.

Winning in this league is only secondary, the sportsmanship and experience is the big thing. Although we would like to see The Daily Standard squad win the title. It's only natural though.

We look forward to the season and hope all the athletes stay with the program. Who knows ... maybe one of these young men will be yours and our next professional idols.

BULLDOG'S COACH INVOLVED

Head coach Terry Smith of the Sikeston Bulldog's was approached by the JC's to help with the league. Smith — totally committed to football — and already overworked and overloaded with his own football activities, graciously accepted the JC's challenge.

Smith met frequently with the coaches and JC's. Smith formulated a play book based on the plays the boy's would need when playing on the Junior High teams.

Smith is excited about this league. These boys if handled right by the coaches will be future Bulldog's. Coach Smith said, "I'll be glad to hold a football clinic next summer for the players and coaches, and help the coaches in anyway possible."

Smith knows what he's doing when he said, "I hope the coaches and parents look at this league in its right perspective, that is, these kids are inexperienced, and will not do well, and should not be expected to win always. Parent pressure on their kids to play well, when they don't have the ability at this time can cause them to quit football forever. This league should be child centered and not parent- coach centered."Thanks Coach Smith — Remember it's the boy's game, they will get along O.K.

LEAGUE COACHES COMMENTS

Qualifications that the league looked for in approving their coaches:

1. Interested in children.
2. Background in football.
3. An attitude to treat everyone equally, regardless of ability.

1. National Lock
Head coach: Floyd Williams
Ass't Coaches: Dr. Larry Lester DDS, Rev. Ed. Stephenson

Williams the league founder works for Clinton Construction Company as a field engineer. Williams said, "The boys are really enthused, and want to play football. Vince, Randy and Mark know what it's like to participate, and the other boys are eagerly awaiting the first game with the JC's."

2. Sikeston JC's
Head Coach: Steve Ferrell
Ass't coaches: Dennis Overby and Brian Montgomery

Steve Ferrell was an All- State tight- end for Sikeston in 1971, and holds the Bulldog's pass reception record. Steve volunteered to coach as soon as he heard about the league. Steve works for Ferrell Coal Co.

Steve said, "This league is great, it doesn't matter if you win, it's to teach the boys the basic fundamentals of football." Steve feels all his boys are learning fast and really want to play. His first eleven can run plays by themselves and the players have a good attendance record.

3. Daily Standard
Head coach: Ron Carmody
Ass't coach: Craig Hahs

Ron Carmondy was an All- State center in 1956 for the Bulldog's, and played one year at Southeast Missouri State University. Ron said, "Football is my sport, and volunteered to coach as soon as the league was announced." Ron has a terrific philosophy — That of the league. Ron told me that he was small as a freshman and if the coach would have told him he couldn't play because of his size, he would have quit forever. Ron had a smart coach then and made all-state for him. Ron believes in that type of philosophy. Every boy needs the opportunity to try.

Ron said, "This league will give our kids more of a jump in football before high school as compared to the other communities, and every coach has to keep in mind that everyone has to play and not to get down on these little boys. Our job is to teach fundaments, so the boy's can learn the sport. A boy must love contact and remember that football is a team sport and one boy can't do it alone."

4. Bank of Sikeston
Head coach: Ray Sanders
Ass't coach: Terry Williams

Ray Sanders works for United Parcel and when he saw the article in the Standard volunteered to coach. Ray played football in Jr. and Sr. high and two years in the Army as linebacker and offensive guard.

Ray's team is a little behind at this time through no fault of his. Most teams received their equipment and play books several weeks ago. Ray's team received their Sept. 6th and 7th. Ray is experiencing an attendance problem. Of 25 boys on the roster only 15 have never missed a practice. Some of these enthuisastic boys are his lesser ability boys now.

Anyone who can count to eleven can realize it takes 22 boys who attend regularly to scrimage and have regular positions. Come on Bank of Sikeston parents, if your boy wants to play football see that you get him to practice and if he doesn't want to play turn in his uniform and give another boy a chance.

Coach Sanders said he knows this league will help the high school in the future and likes the idea that everyone must play. and "if you lose every game, but the boy's grasp the fundamental ideas of football, the league will be worthwhile," he said.

PARENT- PLAYER COMMENTS

Mr. Clayton Bohannan said, "Fantastic! Best thing that happened in Sikeston, help high school in future, produce good football players for someone in the future. The kids play just as rough in the backyard, it's safer now."

Mr. Bill Ferrell said, "Good for the boys and future of Sikeston high school. Kids are getting in shape and looking good."

Joey Kyle said, "I like the league, like physical contact, fun - Don't like exericses - like to hit."

Paul Murphy said, "I like contact, wanted to play, wouldn't be doing anything now if it wasn't for football."

What's the law?

The case of the frightened passenger

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Frieda boarded a 747 jet airliner in anticipation of commencing her vacation. Instead of heading for a first- class resort, however, her destination soon looked like it might be a place of last resort.

The plane was hijacked and, notwithstanding the fact that the hijacking was ultimated squashed, Frieda was flattened by the experience. Certain that she was going to die and frightened half to death, she suffered a severe psychic trauma and sued the airline for damages.

"Under the law," argued the airline, "a person can only hold an airline liable when there is an accident and he suffers bodily injury. In this case, there was no accident and Frieda suffered only mentally."

"If I suffered no bodily injury," was Frieda's answer, "how come by body suffered so? And since the hijacking was unforeseeable and unexpected, it certainly could be considered an accident."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit frightened Frieda to collect for her hijacking experience?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge siding with Frieda, held that if a hijacking causes a passenger to suffer severe fright that manifests itself in an objective bodily injury, the injured passenger can collect damages sustained as a result of the injury, including damages for mental suffering.

COOKING-UP

The recipes for today's Cooking Up column were provided by Mrs. Pat Benney of Sikeston, chairman of the Delta Community branch of the Southeast Missouri Diabetes Association. Although the recipes are designed for diabetics, others will find them a treat, also.

The local chapter was formed March 17 of this year in Sikeston and serves the areas in and around Dexter, Poplar Bluff, Sikeston and Cape Girardeau.

Diabetes is a major personal and public health problem for which there is no cure or preventive. In the United States, it ranks as the fifth leading cause of death by disease, the second leading cause of new cases of blindness and is a major cause of heart attacks, strokes, high blood pressure, gangrene and kidney failure.

Conservatively estimated, there are now 4,400,000 diabetics in this country, of whom up to 1,600,000 have not yet been detected.

There is a widespread public misconception that diabetes was conquered more than 50 years ago when insulin was discovered ... Insulin was a major discovery and because of it many severe diabetics can control their condition and live longer, but complications of the disease are still a problem.

With proper care and control, most diabetics can lead a normal life.

The SeMo Diabetes Association was formed to further the general welfare and undertake in the public interest activities which will improve the wellbeing of people afflicted by the disease.

No filler added to meat loaf

FAMILY DINNER
Spanish Meat Loaf
Potatoes Snap Beans
Raisin Bread Pudding

SPANISH MEAT LOAF

No starchy "filler" is added.
2 eggs
1-3rd cup milk
1 pound ground beef round
Small onion, minced
1 or 2 roasted peeled green chilies (from a 4-ounce can), seeded and minced
Medium clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried thyme
½ teaspoon salt
2 slices bacon

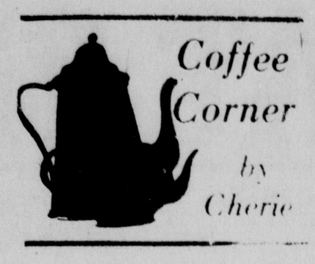
Beat eggs with milk until combined. Add all the remaining ingredients except the bacon; mix well; mixture will be very soft. Turn into the center of an ungreased 11 by 7 by 1½ inch baking pan or similar utensil; with a spatula, shape into a loaf that is about 8 by 6 inches. Place bacon crisscross over top, tucking in ends. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven for 1¼ hours. Let stand about 5 minutes before cutting. This meat loaf is moist but slices well. Any leftover is good sliced cold and used in a sandwich. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LIME PIE

It's so declisious that having to do some of the preparation just before serving is worth it.

4 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lime rind
¼ cup lime juice
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
9-inch baked flaky pie shell

Beat egg yolks, gradually adding ¼ cup of the sugar, until thick and pale colored; beat in lime rind and lime juice. Cook over hot but not boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover and cool. Just before serving, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until they hold stiff peaks; gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar until very stiff; fold into lime mixture. Turn into pie shell. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 15 minutes. Serve at once.



There's only one thing worse than having a fella out for football, and that's having two fellas out. They started this Pee Wee League this year just in time for Brete my sixth grader to sign up, and of course Lee who is a ninth grader had already gone out for this great fun but something else to worry mom half to death sport last year. I mean it's not bad enough that you have to lay awake nights thinking about broken necks, crushed kneecaps and teeth (especially now that you've put out a fortune on braces) knocked out, but the inconvenience of the thing is almost too much. A day or two ago as I was cooking my fifth meal for that particular day and was listening to Charles avidly discussing plays with the guys and they were all talking about how much fun they were having, well, I almost flew among them with the iron skillet and laid some skulls open myself; but, taking a tight grip on another potato I squeezed that instead and then having given vent to some of my pent up emotions prepared to clean the kitchen so that in an hour or two they could have their sixth meal — the bedtime snack. You think I'm kidding? Not so!!! I arise in the morning fry sausage, eggs, juice, milk gravy and buscuits — meal one. Plus, while they're eating that I make sandwiches and pack school lunches (and I wasn't even counting that as a meal). Then, at noon Charles comes home and I fix him a grilled ham and cheese and a piece of pie — meal two. At three - thirty Lee goes straight from school to football practice, but Brete who doesn't have practice till five thirty, comes home starved and since his practice won't be over until seven thirty, I have to feed him right then. Usually a couple of hamburgers, fried onions, chips and a piece of pie will tide him over till later — meal three. At six thirty Lee walks in the door with his stomach growling like a lion and then all of us except Brete sit down to a large dinner — however, it has to be a roast or something that will stay warm easily, because at seven thirty Brete is picked up starving from his practice and I must feed him his big dinner then — meal five. By now I am getting awfully tired of pots and pans, but no sooner do I get all washed and put away than I hear two male animals say, "How about another piece of pie mom, with maybe a pizza to go with it!" And as I open my mouth to make a rude remark I hear from the depths of his big easy chair where he has reclined all evening, "Say, fellas, wouldn't some brownies and milk taste good with that too?" No wonder I hate football so very-very much!!

EGG AND SALAMI SALAD

We suggest using Genoa salami.

Watercress or other salad greens
6 hard-cooked eggs, halved and stuffed
½ pound sliced salami
Sweet roasted red peppers, from a jar
Radishes and carrot sticks or curls

Arrange the watercress at one side of each individual salad plate; top with eggs — 3 halves for each plate. Place the salami at other side of plate and top with remaining ingredients. Makes 4 servings. For the stuffed eggs, mash yolks with mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste; spoon back into egg-white cavities and sprinkle with paprika.

PEANUT BUTTER BRAN MUFFINS—Good to pack in a back-to-school lunchbox and nutritious fare for the whole family.

Peanut butter goes to school

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Youngsters who take lunch to school will undoubtedly often carry along peanut-butter sandwiches to enjoy with a glass of milk.

That's all to the good because two peanut-butter sandwiches plus a glass of milk supply about three-quarters of the protein a school-age child needs every day.

On a day when a sandwich is of another variety, tuck in a couple of Peanut Butter Bran Muffins. These, unlike most other muffins, are good cold as well as hot from the oven.

PEANUT BUTTER BRAN MUFFINS

¾ cup flour, fork-stir to aerate before measuring
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup ready-to-eat whole bran cereal
1 cup regular or skim milk
½ cup creamy or chunk-style peanut butter
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 egg
½ cup raisins
Grease 12 medium-size muffin-pan cups (each 2½ by 1¼ inches).

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder and salt.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the bran and milk to moisten bran.

In a medium mixing bowl cream peanut butter, butter and sugar; add egg and beat until blended. Beat in bran mixture. Stir in raisins. Add flour mixture and stir only until flour is dampened. Fill muffin-pan cups 2-3rds full.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — 25 minutes. With a small metal spatula, loosen edges and remove; serve hot. Or remove muffins to wire racks to cool and serve cold — in this case store muffins in a tightly covered tin box.

Makes 12.

Four hundred recipes are given in the illustrated "Cecily Brownstone's Associated Press Cookbook" available by sending $4.95 (check or money order made payable to "The Associated Press") to this newspaper in care of AP COOKBOOK, Box G4, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.

Add variety to breakfast

Breakfast menus may seem limited, but there are a wide variety of foods that can be enjoyed at breakfast. Try these frozen French toast breakfast sandwiches and add variety to breakfast while surprising the family.

Frozen French toast makes great sandwiches

FRENCH TOASTED MEAT 'N CHEESE SANDWICHES
Makes 3 sandwiches

One 9-oz. pkg. frozen French toast
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash curry powder
6 slices Cheddar cheese
3 slices cooked chicken or ham

Place French toast on cookie sheet or foil. Heat in preheated hot oven (400°F.) about 8 minutes. Remove from oven. Combine mayonnaise, mustard and curry powder; spread on toast. Top 3 toast slices with 1 slice cheese, 1 slice chicken and 1 more slice cheese. Cover with remaining 3 toast slices, spread side down. Return to preheated oven (400°F.) an additional 4 to 5 minutes or until cheese is melted.

BREAKFAST SANDWICHES
Makes 3 sandwiches

6 slices bacon
One 9-oz. pkg. frozen French toast
2 tablespoons creamy or chunk-style peanut butter
2 bananas, thinly sliced

Pan-fry bacon until crisp; drain on absorbent paper. Prepare French toast in toaster or oven according to package directions. Spread 1 teaspoon peanut butter on each toast slice. Cover 3 toast slices with sliced banana. Top with 2 bacon slices. Cover with remaining 3 toast slices, peanut butter side down.

Try these special pancakes

BLUEBERRIES AND CREAM PANCAKES

1½ cups pancake mix
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1 and 1-3rd cups milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
8-ounce container sour cream
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Fresh blueberries, sweetened if desired

Stir together the mix, lemon rind, milk, eggs and butter until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto a hot lightly greased griddle; when covered with bubbles and edges look cooked, turn; brown other side. Stir together sour cream, sugar and lemon juice. Place 2 pancakes on each serving plate; top with sour cream and blueberries. Makes 12 pancakes

On this date —

In 1759, the French surrendered Quebec to the British.

In 1810, Chile declared independence from Spain.

In 1850, the U.S. Congress passed the Fugitive Slave Act, permitting slaveowners to reclaim slaves who had escaped into other states.

In 1931, Japan began military occupation of Manchuria.

In 1961, U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was killed in an airplane crash in Northern Rhodesia.

In 1967, the United States said it would build an antimissile network to counter any attack by Communist Chinese missiles.

Ten years ago: Government sources in Washington reported that two U.S. destroyers had sunk at least one and possibly three unidentified vessels in international waters off North Vietnam.

Five years ago: President Nixon addressed the U.N. General Assembly and urged the United Nations to put diplomatic pressure on North Vietnam to begin serious peace negotiations.

One year ago: East Germany, West Germany and the Bahamas were admitted to the United Nations.

House resolutions commend state 4-H

COLUMBIA — Three resolutions commending 4-H in Missouri were adopted by the Missouri House of Representatives during the September session of the 77th General Assembly.

Introduced by Ed Bohl of Harrisonville, representative from the 115th District, the resolutions first commended 4-H members and volunteer leaders on the 60th anniversary of the founding of 4-H in Missouri.

The first 4-H clubs in the state were organized in Iron County in 1914, according to Frank Graham, director of extension youth programs at University of Missouri-Columbia.

Other resolutions commended the Missouri International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) program and the Missouri 4-H Foundation, both celebrating 25th anniversaries this year.

"Since 1949, the Missouri IFYE program has sent 89 former 4-H members abroad to 38 countries and has had 162 exchanges from 48 nations visit here," Graham said.

The Missouri 4-H Foundation was established Oct. 10, 1949, as a non-profit educational corporation through which private citizens, organizations and businessmen could support the Missouri 4-H program.

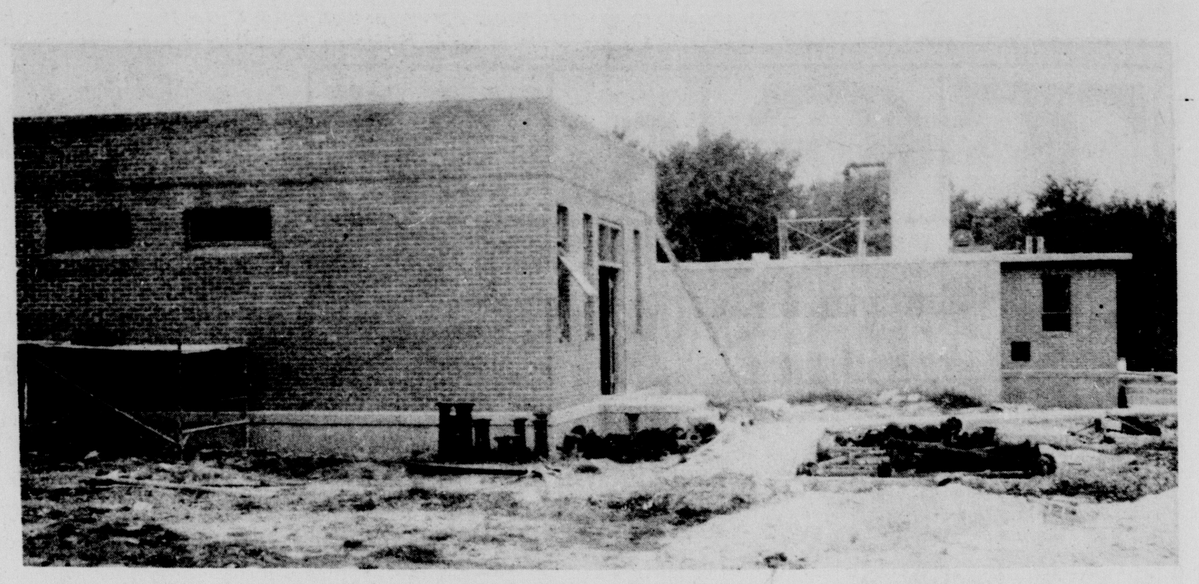
Bohl, a former 4-H club member, IFYE delegate to Australia and extension youth specialist in Cass County, was also instrumental in arranging the proclamation of October as 4-H Month in Missouri by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Four-H programs in Missouri are administered by the University of Missouri Extension Division through local extension centers in all of the state's 114 counties, Graham said.

"About 52,000 boys and girls in Missouri are currently enrolled in 4-H programs," he said, "and nearly 15,000 adult leaders are volunteering their time."

Plant takes shape

Bloomfield's new $250,000 water treatment plant is beginning to take shape as construction work progresses. Mayor J. C. Newcomer said construction is expected to be completed by April.



Vo-Tech center offers adult evening classes

HOWARDVILLE — The New Madrid County R-1 Vocational Technical Skills Center has started adult evening classes in 16 different areas and will continue to offer courses through April.

Four different courses are offered in each area, starting Sept. 5, Nov. 7, Jan. 30 and April 10. A person may enroll in any or all of the courses offered if he meets the qualifications.

To qualify for enrollment students must presently be working in the field of instructional choice and need instruction to improve or upgrade skills, or they must be unemployed and desire to develop job entry skills.

A minimum of 10 students must be enrolled before any course will be held.

Courses are scheduled to be held three hours weekly from 6 to 9 p.m. each Thursday, except for classes starting April 10 which will meet on Monday and Thursday nights.

A fee is charged for each course to cover materials used. The fee is payable when the course begins.

Areas in which courses are offered include graphics, welding, business data processing, auto body and fender, air conditioning and refrigeration, drafting, clothing and textiles, farm mechanics, auto mechanics, electronics and electricity, accounting, typing, reception skills, institutional foods, health occupations and building trades.

The courses are scheduled to last either nine or 18 weeks.

Unemployment benefits announced

JEFFERSON CITY — Unemployment insurance benefits paid out at local offices in Cape Girardeau, Caruthersville, Kennett, Poplar Bluff and Sikeston totaled $385,123 for August, according to Murl Nash, informational supervisor for the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

The most benefits, $122,589, were paid at the Sikeston office. The Cape Girardeau office was second at $112,314. The Caruthersville office paid out the least with only $21,271. The office at Poplar Bluff paid out $88,084 in benefits, and the Kennett office paid $40,865.

The office paying out the most benefits statewide was St. Louis, $2,421,050, and the one paying out the least was Marshall, $16,401.

Benefits paid statewide were up 4.9 per cent from July.

John F.Meystrik, director of the Missouri Division of Employment Security, said that this was due to unemployment in the automobile and related industries as a result of the energy crisis.

Missourians to voice opinion on reform

ST. LOUIS — Controversial recommendations that the Missouri House of Representatives be reduced by 38 members and that the lieutenant governor be removed as presiding officer of the Senate will be subjected to public opinion at six regional hearings.

"This is the first time in modern history that Missourians have been asked directly for their ideas on legislative reform, and we anticipate a large public response with the voicing of strong opinions," said William H. Harrison, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Joint Interim Committee on Improvement and Modernization of the General Assembly.

Harrison's 25- member committee, appointed by the House, Senate and governor, is charged with recommending specific plans for modernization of the legislative branch of state government. Research consultants have submitted a variety of proposals, including a call for sharp increases in legislative salaries, and the committee now intends to test public reaction and wishes in hearings throughout the state.

Hearings are scheduled Oct. 1 at Columbia, in the public library auditorium; Oct. 3 at Kansas City, in the City Council chamber; Oct. 8 at Cape Girardeau, in the common pleas courtroom at city hall; Oct. 10 at Kirksville, in the circuit courtroom at the county courthouse; Oct. 15 at Springfield, in the City Council chamber; and Oct. 17 at St. Louis, in the Missouri Historical Society auditorium at the Jefferson Memorial Building, Lindell and De Baliviere.

Each hearing will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until all wishing to testify have done so. Additional hearings may be scheduled in other Missouri cities if public response indicates such a need. Harrison said time reservations for testimony were not required, but said scheduling would be helpful. Groups or individuals may reserve time by contacting Harrison at P. O. Box 267, St. Louis, Mo. 63166.

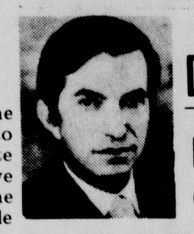
Work of the legislative reform committee is designed to update the legislative branch in much the same manner that state administrative agencies were revamped this year in reorganization of the executive branch of Missouri's government.

Consultants who recommended reducing the size of the Missouri House cited present problems of management, expense, facilities and the number of committees.

Having the Senate choose its own presiding officer, a position now held by the lieutenant governor, was presented as a matter of equality with the House which chooses one of its own members as Speaker. Proposed salary boosts were based upon inflation, annual legislative sessions and increased workloads which have arisen since the last salary increase in 1967.

Other recommendations being considered by the committee include proposals to reduce the number of Senate and House committees, remove most state agencies from the Capitol in order to provide additional committee rooms, enlarge and restructure legislative staff and services and establish a central records office for legislative and public use.

Besides seeking public reaction to proposed changes, the committee hopes to gather a broad range of comments from groups and individuals who have met with either success or failure in legislative relationships.



Dr. Lamb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 24-year-old woman. I would like to know about the Rh negative factor. I have one child, he was a 7-month pregnancy, but I didn't have any trouble in his delivery. I have Rh negative blood, and I would like to have another child. Different people have told me it is dangerous for a second child since I have the Rh factor. My husband has type B. I also have a heart condition, but my heart specialist said I could have more children. Could you tell me the facts of Rh blood? I do not want to take any chances if it is dangerous.

DEAR READER — This is a problem that shouldn't exist today. It is preventable. Did you know that 12 per cent of the couples in American marriages are between an Rh negative woman and an Rh positive man?

The Rh factor is a substance that most people have in their blood. Such a person is Rh positive. If you don't have the Rh factor and it gets into your body, for example from a transfusion of Rh positive blood, you develop an immunity to Rh factor. It is literally a foreign body, and the body takes measures to reject it.

When the prospective mother is Rh negative without the factor and her developing baby is Rh positive (which means the father had to be Rh positive) some of the Rh positive cells formed by the baby will leak across the placenta into the mother's circulation. These sensitize her to Rh positive cells. She becomes allergic, so to speak, to Rh factor. If the baby is also Rh negative (about two out of five in such a union will be) then there is no problem.

But when the baby is Rh positive the antibodies developed against the Rh factor by the mother get into its circulation. Here they start an allergic-like reaction that destroys the baby's Rh positive red blood cells. If the process is severe it will result in a still birth. Less severe instances may cause jaundice and other damage to the baby.

It doesn't matter that your husband is type B. What counts is whether he is Rh positive. It is important whether your first baby is Rh negative or positive. If he is negative you may not yet have antibodies against the Rh factor. If you get pregnant and the next baby is Rh negative there will be no reaction. It takes a sensitized Rh negative mother with an Rh positive baby to create the problem.

Now, sensitization can be prevented by giving the mother an injection of protective immunoglobin within 72 hours of delivery of an Rh positive baby. This will protect the mother and baby for the next pregnancy. Here is the catch, though. You must also have this done after an abortion or miscarriage, whether it was for medical reasons, social reasons, or spontaneous. If the pregnancy is two months along and is an Rh positive fetus it will sensitize the mother. If there is any question about the age of the fetus the shot should be given to the mother. The protective vaccine carries no significant risk.

You have left some unanswered questions — your husband's Rh factor (positive or negative), your baby's Rh factor, and whether you have had other pregnancies. These must be answered before anyone can advise you properly.

'La Boheme' opens Memphis opera season

MEMPHIS — Puccini's all-time favorite opera, "La Boheme", will open the Memphis Opera Theatre 1974-75 season. It will be staged Oct. 3 and 5 at the Auditorium Music Hall.

Starring as the ill- fated lovers of the romantic opera are Metropolitan Opera baritone Raymond Gibbs in the principal role of Rodolfo, a poetn, and lovely New York City Opera soprano Patricia Craig as Mimi. Baritone John Darrenkamp of the New York City Opera will sing the role of Marcello, a painter, and young soprano Harriet Beebe will sing the role of his sweetheart, Musetta.

Others in the cast include young American bass Tom Fox in the role of Colline, a philosopher; baritone Joseph Galiano, as Schaunard, a musician; and Ronald Combs, in the dual roles of Penoit, a landlord, and Alcindor, a councillor of state. Rounding out the cast are Michael Walker, as Parpignol, and Richard Vernon, as the Custom House sergeant.

Guest directed by James de Blasis of The Cincinnati Opera Company and The Corbett Foundation, Boheme will be conducted by maestro Kurt Klippstatter, designed by John Wright Stevens, lighted by Thomas Mendenhall and costumed by Dean Brown.

Other productions of the season include "La Forza Del Destino", Oct. 31 and Nov. 2, with Martino Arroyo; "La Traviata, Jan. 11, with superstar Beverly Sills, and "Of Mice and Men, March 6 and 8.

Season tickets are still available and all students are offered a substantial discount at the Memphis State University ticket office, located in the Student Center.

Betterment meet set

JEFFERSON CITY — The 11th annual Missouri Community Betterment Conference will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 22 and 23, according to an announcement by Joe Butler, director of the Missouri Division of Community Development, which now administers the Community Betterment Program as a result of state government reorganization.

This year's conference will again be held at the Jefferson City Ramada Inn and will get under way with a luncheon session on October 22.

The program for this year's conference will revolve around a series of seminars explaining services and programs of the recently established Community Development Division. Conferees will have an opportunity to participate in seminars on funding for community facilities, community management programs, local and regional planning or industrial development and other assistance programs available from state government.

The registration desk will open at 8 a.m. on Oct. 22., but Butler urged delegates to register in advance if at all possible. "The conference always draws overflow crowds," he said, "and this year seems to be no exception. There are in excess of 300 communities in the program; and our records reveal that in these communities, where there is significant civic involvement, considerable progress toward economic growth is occurring."

Butler indicated that a good example of this is the fact that Missouri Community Betterment towns gained 87 per cent of all jobs created by new industries in nonmetropolitan Missouri last year.

As a caution to those planning to attend.

Labor members urged to register and vote

ST. LOUIS — Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, urged Missouri's labor union members today to get back into the decision - making process in government.

"I think it is important," he told delegates to the State AFL-CIO convention, "that you get your members interested enough in government to get out and register and vote.

"In our recent primary election, only 30.2 per cent of our registered voters turned out, and I think such apathy cannot long continue if we are going to preserve our democratic system of government.

"What it means, apparently, is that almost 70 per cent of our citizens are willing to turn over their government to the eastern educated and oriented whiz kids appointed by our eastern educated and oriented millionaire state officials; and how are the working people going to get a fair shake out of that?"

Cason said it is important for all working people, either in the shop or on the farm, to get involved in government instead of leaving it to the "experts" and the upper echelon of society.

"Politics and government cannot be a spectator sport for the working guy who pays the taxes or the housewife who is worrying about her budget," he said. "It is important that the working man who earns a living by the sweat of his brow get back in the game and insure that he is not ignored in governmental decisions."

In these times of economic stress, when prices keep going up faster than ever before, Cason said the people who pay most of the taxes should take a hand in the election of their legislators and their state and national officials.

"Personally," he said, "I am committed to no new taxes next year and I hope that if revenue collections continue to hold up the way they have been in the last two months, we may even be able to make some tax cuts to help those at the bottom of the scale.

"So far as I am concerned, the year 1975 in the Legislature should be the year of the taxpayer."

Letters to the Editor

"A DAUGHTER'S LOVE
By Gene Godwin

If we all had love for one another
Like my daughter has for me
Then what a wonderful place
This world would surely be

If we showed our true emotions
With tender loving pride
Then all quarrels would have ended
All hatred would have died

There are gaps in generations
But I know there is none in mine
Our love grows ever stronger
Just like a clinging vine

And when I have gone to heaven
My little girl will carry on
I will remain in her heart
Our love shall not be gone

Balanced federal budget urged

INDEPENDENCE — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) Friday night called for a return to fiscal responsibility in government during remarks at the opening of the "Santa-Cali-Gon Fair."

"Unless our government recaptures the determination and the spirit of frugality exhibited by those pioneers who left Independence on the Santa Fe, California and Oregon Trails, inflation will not be brought under control," Symington asserted.

"We need a return to a balanced federal budget.

"During the years when this town's number one citizen, the late President Harry S. Truman, led the nation, our economy showed a steady growth and the federal budget was very nearly in balance," Symington said.

"But during fiscal year 1970 through the estimated budget for the current fiscal year, 1975, the total deficit will be more than 78 billion, 400 million dollars. These figures are based on the estimates of the Office of Management and Budget."

"Total outlays during the Truman years were 409 billion dollars, with a deficit of only one billion, 57 million dollars. If we exclude the fiscal year 1946 when the country was winding down from World War II, the Truman years would have shown a 16 billion, 600 million dollar budget surplus," the Missouri senator said.

Hate mongers are own worst enemies

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The nomination of Nelson Rockefeller for the vice presidency has brought expected screams of protest from those who loathe his politics or his money. Much of the dissent is honest and intellectual and therefore welcome. Some other, however, is fanatical and so constitutes only confusion and possible danger.

The muckiest opposition, and perhaps also the most perilous, can be heard on the street corners of several of America's largest cities. There, almost any day, members of something called the National Caucus of Labor Committees, pass out literature and empty opinions condemning Rockefeller as an oppressor of the people. Such is the ferocity of the complainers, and the dread reputation of their group, that federal law agencies are said to be "seriously concerned" that the opponents may yet turn their hatred of the Vice President - designate into something violent.

The concern may be legitimate. Though outwardly not much more that another of the small hate groups which try the nation's tolerance, NCLC has something else: magnetism. As did the Symbionese Liberation Army, it is able to draw recruits from mainstream America, program them and ever after expect conformity and obedience. The Nazis of Hitler's Germany made the tactic high art; "We can," said Goebbels, "take anyone and make him do anything." So too, reportedly, can the NCLC today.

I base the latter comment not only on evidence from government investigatory bodies, but also on a personal experience. A friend of mine joined NCLC at the beginning of the year and ruined his life by devoting it. I won't name the friend, suffice it to say that until January he was a young man of good nature with a lovely wife and promising future. Now, after nine months in NCLC, following orders, he is jobless, drawing unemployment compensation from a system he deplores, a ne'r-do-well loafer who has abandoned his promise for the glories of hating Nelson Rockefeller.

His wife, who still hopes for his return, says the ruination of his life began almost without notice. "One day he just said he was joining NCLC and he did. At first he lived at home and I tried to accept his new interest. But some of the things he began saying just made me laugh. So he moved out. He said he didn't want to get a divorce but he was going out to 'return the country to the working people.' Now, after all this time, we hardly even talk. I don't see him anymore at all."

Though forsaken herself, the wife has not forsaken my friend. In an effort to understand her husband's radical philosophy, she met and talked with former NCLC members. Then she talked with friends of members and relatives of members. Finally, in desperation for knowledge, she went to the FBI.

"What I learned was this: nobody, but nobody, has anything good to say about NCLC. Everyone agrees it's made up of confused people who subscribe to the dictates of a founder named 'Doctor' Lyn Marcus. That's not his real name. Neither is he a doctor. All he dictates is hate, hate Rockefeller, hate the CIA, hate the whole system."

The wife, naturally, is in a state of severe frustration and at times near depression. "How do things like this happen?" she asks. "How do groups like this form? How do they trap people like my husband?"

The answers, unfortunately, are unknown. No doubt many of the NCLC members, including my friend, are sincere in their wish to change the nation, sincere in their contempt for the Rockefeller fortune. But their blind faith in a hopeless, malicious cause goes unexplained save the fact free men have many rights, including that of being damn fools.

And were the principal horror of NCLC merely the creation of foolish members, the group would merit no editorial comment. Sadly, though, their potential for evil is much more worrisome. "It's the kind of organization that scares me," says an investigator for the House Internal Security Committee, "who knows what crackpots like that will do?"

Still, of course, NCLC may never do anything but simply exist. And, ironically, in such eventuality their foes such as (Nelson Rockefeller) would be safe and only their friends, such as my friend, would be destroyed.

Nixon may enter hospital

LONDON (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg said here today former President Richard M. Nixon has indicated in a telephone conversation that he expects to be hospitalized soon for his phlebitis.

The American envoy in London said that the secondary blood clot above Nixon's left knee had reached the area of the groin and there was a danger it could go further up his body.

"Mr. Nixon made no mention of how he felt but his voice was firm and seemed completely normal to me," Annenberg said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Annenberg said Nixon telephoned him from San Clemente on Tuesday night to discuss — "full of enthusiasm" — Annenberg's hopes and plans for setting up a school of international communications to broaden international understanding.

Annenberg said that he had visited President Ford on Sept. 6 and asked him to relieve him as ambassador to Britain no later than Oct. 31.

"Speculation that I was a catalyst in President Ford's decision to pardon President Nixon is totally untrue and ridiculous," Annenberg said. "I would never presume to discuss a matter of that character that lies wholly in the province of the President himself."

Besides talking to Nixon several times on the telephone recently, Annenberg had dinner with him on Aug. 23 at San Clemente and invited the former president to his Calififornia estate Sept. 8-12.

The ambassador said that, in all his contacts with Nixon, he had purposedly avoided discussing the former president's health.

"I am sympathetic to Mr. Nixon; he gave me the greatest honor of my life. am concerned about his health but I don't have to spell that out to him."

Annenberg said that when the Nixons used the Annenberg estate he stayed away as a matter of policy so they could relax better.

"They went there because I persuaded them that the weather was better than at San Clemente. Mr. Nixon has a great reverence for the landscape which is a sanctuary from the outside world.

"I understand that they did a good deal of resting. His leg was probably bothering him. Most of their meals were served by tray in the guest facilities. I can't say if Mr. Nixon played golf. Mrs. Nixon enjoys fishing for bass and other fish in my ponds."

Annenberg said that, besides discussion of a possible literary agent for Nixon's planned book, the main matter that had been discussed in his recent contacts with Nixon was Annenberg's plan for a school of international communications.

Annenburg is a former Philadelphia newspaper publisher.

"In my opinion, nobody is better qualified in the field of international relations to advise me than former President Nixon," he said.

Hearnes denies dumping

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)--Charging possible political motivation, former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes Tuesday denied any unusual dumping of Revenue Department records in the waning days of his administration.

Revenue Director James R. Spradling said earlier that personnel and other confidential records were dumped in a landfill near here before he took office.

"Everybody in town knew they were destroyed," said Spradling, a Republican.

But Hearnes, a Democrat, said all the important records, such as bank deposit files, were intact in state offices. He admitted that personnel records were altered and moved, but said that was a normal practice in a change of administrations.

"I'm only interested in sales tax and income tax records," he said.

A federal grand jury is investigating alleged corruption during Hearnes' administration, including the Revenue Department. Agents have expressed some difficulty finding some records, but none required by the grand jury.

Hearnes said former Revenue Director James Schaffner could tell present officials where to look for the bank deposit records. Schaffner, now in Oklahoma Gov. David Hall's administration, said no department records had been removed and he knew nothing of records being taken to a landfill.

Hearnes said such charges so soon before elections

Interfund borrowing revealed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Unauthorized interfund borrowing and lack of effective investment policy has been discovered in the operations of the Pemiscot County court, state Auditor John Ashcroft said Tuesday.

In releasing a three-year audit of the county through last December, Ashcroft also made 26 recommendations for improvement in the operations of the treasurer, collector, sheriff, circuit clerk and county clerk.

The audit report showed a deficit balance of more than $80,000 in the federal revenue sharing account, representing interfund borrowing, which is not allowed by law.

Because federal revenue sharing funds were invested in certificates of deposit that did not mature until January 1974, the report said checks on the funds were paid from a common bank account with money from other county funds.

The federal revenue sharing deficit was made possible because of cash balances in general revenue and road and bridge funds which ranged from $80,000 to $400,000, the report stated.

"Considerable income could have been earned if those idle funds were invested," Aschroft noted, advising the county court to invest all county funds not required for operating expenditures.

Ashcroft also recommended that the court order proper payment to four officials whose salary had been miscalculated. Changes in population and assessed valuation, the bases for compensation, had not been considered he said.

Marvin Proffer of Jackson will crown Junior Miss Sikeston Thursday night. Miss Sikeston will be crowned by Missouri State Auditor John Ashcroft Friday night. Missouri Lt. Gov. William C. Application being prepared for regional port district

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An application for a Southeast Missouri Regional Port District and Authority to submit to the Scott and Cape Girardeau County Courts for their approval is in the process of being prepared by the advisory port authority committees of both counties.

A joint agreement between the counties was reached Monday which enabled the application to be submitted to both courts, which must pass identical resolutions approving execution of the contract.

Upon the recommendation of Cape Girardeau County Prosecuting Attorney A. J. Seier, who prepared the agreement, the committees decided that the agreement, proposed resolutions approving execution of it and completed applications for a port authority would be submitted to both County Courts no later than Sept. 30.

The joint cooperative agreement is one of the steps necessary in submitting application for a port authority to the Missouri Department of Transportation.

Upon approval of County Court resolutions adopting the agreement, each court will appoint four members to an eight- member Southeast Missouri Regional Port Authority board of commissioners. A ninth member will then be chosen by the eight appointed ones. This board would administer the port district and the county port authorities would become extinct.

Seier and Scott County Prosecuting Attorney James Moore who aided in preparation of the agreement's final draft, speculated that all aspects of the port authority application would be ready for submission to the DOT about Oct. 1.

The newly formed agency could call a public hearing on the application as early as mid- October, they said.

Both County Courts and the authority committees are aiming at approval of a port on the Mississippi River to serve the proposed port district. Although discussions on exact location have not been held, members of both County Courts have agreed during informal discussions that a site near the mouth of the Diversion Channel south of Cape Girardeau would be ideal.

Several members of the advisory committees attended a public hearing in St. Louis Sept. 10 on a DOT port authority application of St. Charles County. It was the first such hearing held by the department, which granted St . Charles its request for an authority.

Rushing, who has chaired the advisory committee meetings since work on the port authority began early in the summer, said he was amazed that there was no opposition at the hearing and that it took only about 30 minutes at the conclusion of the hearing for the DOT to decide in favor of the request.

He said he was of the opinion the DOT was impressed by the delegation from Cape and Scott counties and noted that representatives who were expected to attend from other prospective port authority districts did not attend.

Seier noted that St. Charles had a specific proposal showing exact location of the proposed port. But, he said, this likely would not be necessary for the Southeast Missouri district's application since it would request that all of Cape County be designated for a port authority.

Moore noted that the application could be submitted without feasibility studies, which would be costly at this stage of development.

Bluff man kills himself today

POPLAR BLUFF — An elderly Poplar Bluff man committed suicide by self-inflicted gunshot wound early this morning, Butler County Coroner Larry Cotrell has ruled.

The body of Archie Albert Wilson, 79, was found in bed at his home by his wife, Hallye M. Wilson, who called her son-in-law, who in turn called the police at 1:55 a.m.

He was taken to Veterans Hospital, where he died at 5:45 a.m.

His body was taken to Cotrell Funeral Chapel, where arrangements are incomplete.

3 lots are rezoned for commercial use

The City Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday night voted to rezone lots 23, 24 and 25 in block one of Sunset Addition from "B" two- family district to "D" commercial district.

The request for the rezoning was made by Melton Brown, who wants to set up a car repair shop on the lots.

A petition was presented to the board by owners of property which borders the lots saying they were in favor of the rezoning.

The commissioners included lot 25 in the rezoning, although they do not know who owns it, to prevent spot zoning of the property.

The commission voted not to approve a request by Dick McDougal, 1040 N. Kingshighway, that the strip of road in front of his house and the island in front of Bloemer's Grocery, be taken over and maintained by the city.

According to McDougal,

BACK TO "STANDARD" TIME

Most everyone, we are sure, will applaud the decision of Congress (by a vote of 383-16) to return the United States to Standard Time from November through February.

The year- round Daylight Saving Time was enacted by the Congress during the peak of last winter's energy and fuel shortage, on the alleged grounds that the emergency legislation would save up to two per cent of the electrical energy consumed by the country. At the time, many people wondered why it should be thought that a light burning in the darkness of early morning would consume less energy than a light burning in the evening. Last spring, a study completed by the U. S. Department of Transportation confirmed the doubting Thomases; the amount of energy saved was less than ¾ of one per cent, rather than the expected two percent.

As a result of the study, the Department of Transportation recommended that the United States should observe Daylight Saving Time for eight months of the year, and Standard Time during the months when the mornings are darkest — from November through February. It was upon this recommendation that Congress acted.

So, it's good news that sleepy- eyed laborers will no longer be forced to drive to work in the pitch black of night, nor will school children be forced to wait for their buses in the darkness of early dawn.

That still won't take care of the millions of cows in the United States who are unable to tell the difference between Daylight Saving Time and Standard Time. But, Congress can't do everything.

I want people who are fearless instead of fearful; men replied in their ancestry and hoped for their prosperity, humble before their God and concerned always with the wants as well as the needs of their fellow human beings. For in a democracy, hierarchy, no matter how nobly conceived, must surely fail without the understanding and the unit of the people.

EACH END EQUAL AND BOTH ENDS AGAINST THE MIDDLE

Harry was head of the Amalgamated Association of Office Boys, Helpers, Stamp Lickers, and Letter Sealers. Harry had firm convictions, one of which was that each end of anything was equal to the other, even if opposite. On this basis he insisted that what his office boys got equaled in all respects what the president at the other end received.

As a result, the boys had equal access to country club membership, unlimited personal telephone calls during working hours, use of company planes and boats, fishing lodges, stock options, etc. The only thing they lacked was private secretaries.

Many of the boys felt this should be included in their next contract. One principal reason in asking for this was that many of them had to sign their pay checks with an X. With a private secretary they could have someone sign their name. It was quite embarrassing to sign with an X, especially checks for such large amounts. A private secretary would also lift their ego and it would increase their status if they were able to talk with their neighbors about their secretary.

The better halves, however, nixed the idea, feeling that some of these secretaries might have other ideas. The wives wouldn't necessarily care if the secretaries' eyes were on the boys themselves, as few would rate as God's gift to women. But as far as the pay check was concerned, they wanted an EX on that, no other hands - positively.

Harry had been able to get all this for his boys for several reasons. If his boys walked out, the typewriter-ribbon changers, ball- point- pen replacers, ink- well fillers, and pencil pointers would not cross their lines. So not only would the presidents have to lick and stamp their letters, but with these other people out, business would soon come to a halt under the reams and reams of paper work the government of Acirema had forced on business. Then, of course, whatever the boys got, the top brass also received something to match. After all, it was only a few golderas, somebody else's money - the stockholders'. You can easily guess that Harry and his boys always turned up in the lily fold.

WILL COMMON SENSE PREVAIL?

So far, President Ford hasn't turned his back on reality by insisting that the American economy is healthy and that inflation will be contained in the very near future. Nor has he yielded to the political temptation to use "band-aids" or "instant cures" to gloss over the fundamental imbalances in the economy. To the contrary, with his statement against the imposition of price and wage controls, he seems to have committed himself to the more orthodox inflation - fighting measures.

The new President may have been left with no other choice. For far too long, the majority of politicians in Washington have tried to sweep inflation under the rug. Instead of biting the bullet, they have resorted to all sorts of gimmicks to hide it. Mandatory controls, voluntary controls, price freezes, jawboning and a list of other measures have been tried. All have failed and, in the meantime, the price that the average guy in the street must pay has gone higher and higher. Now, with the bubble about to burst, there is simply no other recourse than to return to time- tested principles.

With economic forecasts tilting almost unanimously to the gloomy side, it is sure that President Ford will be besieged with a variety of schemes to alleviate the pain of the adjusting recession in the coming months. His well-publicized trait of "common sense" notwithstanding, it remains to be seen whether he can resist the appeals of expediency. At present, it appears that the new Administration is committed to a balanced budget and to continued restraint in monetary policy. If these policies remain in force, they might go a long way toward curtailing inflation in the coming months. If not, the odds against controlling inflation in the foreseeable future are overwhelming.

PATRIOTISM NEEDED SOMEDAY

It is not inconceivable we will one of these days go to war with the Soviet Republic. Maybe they will attack us, or possibly we will try to rescue some of our friends such as Israel, England, or any of our other allies. With the precedent and example about to be set by President Ford and Attorney Gen. Saxbe, quite likely many of our patrioticless youth will flee to Canada or Sweden until the fighting is over. Then they can look forward to "Earned Re-entry," by taking a "Pledge of Allegiance," and serving in some nonmilitary role for a year and a half. Even that may be waived if we get someone in charge of things at Washington who has never done anything to protect the United States and to keep it free from oppression. Wouldn't it really be silly to require a pledge of allegiance from those who deserted their country after having taken such a pledge, or from those who would rather run away than stand up for their country. We hope, and will also pray, that Congress has the authority to override a Presidential declaration on amnesty. The St. Louis Globe Democrat has just taken a survey by ballot on the question of amnesty and an overwhelming number of people were against any form of amnesty. Ask yourself, does our country have any place in society or citizenship for a person who will run away to another country to escape service for the United States of America?

TO HELP EASE THE PAIN

The Detroit News

Now that most of us have given unto Caesar what he believes to be his, there comes to mind an idea that, put into effect, might ease, if not the pain, at least the inconvenience of it all.

Along with the last-minute scramble to compute one's annual income taxes, there is the extra struggle to find not only a suitable envelope but also postage, and accurate postage, at that, to mail the return. With more and more people filling the long form, often calling for documention to accompnay the blasted thing, the question of accurate postage becomes more than a bother, particularly late on the eve of April 15.

Therefore, the suggestion is made here that all levels of government that levy income taxes pay the postage through use of prepaid and suitable envelopes or what ever means is most conveninet. Postal service employes should be happy to handle this free mail service, especially considering the junk mail they tote around all year. Plus the fact that these envelopes contain their livelihood—or, at the least, part of it.

COMMENDATIONS FOR THE CONGRESS

Education officials, parents and others across the nation are commending the House at Washington for approving a bill that would ban federal funds for busing of school children solely for the purpose of effecting desegregation.

They do not now and have never favored taking children out of their own area merely for the purpose of equalizing racial numbers in another, more distant school. There are too many disadvantages to the children, to the parents, and to the taxpayers who must foot the busing costs. These objections are voiced by people of all races, whether black, white, brown, red or yellow.

All of us want equal educational advantages for all children.

Most of us however, believe the proper way ochieve this is to upgrade the educational facilities in the schools that are not up to standard. The same money that is used for busing for desegregation could better be used in improving those low rated schools.

Everyone would profit by abandoning busing for desegregation purposes, and concentrating on upgrading of schools as they are, regardles of which race predominates.

THE MAGIC WORDS

While walking along the avenue, Barton, whose married life was rather stormy, ran into an old friend whom he hadn't seen in some time. During the course of the conversation, the firend said:

"You know, I had words with my wife last week and she left me."

Barton, still smaring from the latest run-in with wife, appeared interested.

"Say, olf pal," he queried eagerly, "do you remember the words?"

WORK, WORK, WORK

Ever read in your Bible where it says "Six days thou shalt work?" God told us that at the time He created the world. This was brought out Sunday in a sermon by Dr. Joseph Grant of Moberly, which we listened to from our bed in the Nursing Home. Dr. Grant called attention to what happened to Corinth, Greece's great city, and to Rome, when the people let idleness take the place of work. He had just mentioned that it was Labor Day Sunday. And he went on to say that much of our nation now gets along on a 5- day week, some on a 4- day week, and a lot of people hope for a 3- day week. It is true that we are getting more and more holidays, more for an excuse to not work, than for reasons of remembrance. And one of our top government people said a few days ago, if the impending recession continues to develop and unemployment increases, there are plans for a huge program of public works. Immediately it occurred to us that those forced to take a public job would likely organize, go on strike if the hours were not shortened, the pay increased and the fringe benefits enlarged. We grew up in a day and age which taught us the way to make more was to work more and produce more. We worked for 25 cents a day, and after awhile got a raise until we made 50 cents a day. On the latter and higher wage scale we hitched a horse to a delivery wagon early enough in the morning to be at the grocery story at 7 a.m. We worked until 6 p.m. and forgot whether we had half an hour or a full hour off for dinner. This schedule lasted six days a week except that on Saturdays we drove that delivery wagon until 7 p.m., a full 12 hours of work with just time off for dinner and no coffee breaks. It was interesting to note the advertisement of Famous- Barr, the largest retail business in St. Louis, that all of its stores would be open on Labor Day.

'LEAKS' IN HEARNES PROBE

By Richard H. Weiss
A Member of the Staff

A former assistant U. S. attorney has released a memorandum in which he told Bert C. Hurn, U. S. attorney for the Western District of Missouri, that he had "serious and grave questions over the manner in which a special investigative group under Hurn was conducting investigations into alleged political corruption.

In the memorandum dated June 20, 1974, Patrick Eldridge, who resigned his job in Hurn's office Aug. 26, made the following allegations about the activities of the special investigative group:

. That an assistant U. S. attorney has engaged in leaking names of persons who were to appear before a grand jury investigating the administration of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. Eldridge said that Paul Anthony White was the source of the leaks which caused some members of the press to "formulate(s) their own opinions, cast(s) aspersions, make accusations and quote(s) 'reliable sources' or 'a source' as giving them the information."

. That Hurn agreed to the grand jury leaks so that the public would be informed of corrupt acts on the part of former state officials who would now be barred from prosecution because of the statute of limitations. In the memorandum Eldridge quoted Hurn as saying: "'... the public has a right to know what the bastards have done and why we were not prosecuting them."

That White has accumulated over a 3- year period documents without a grand jury investigation and without the use of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Eldrige said: "These documents are very definitely in some cases being used as the source of the initial investigation into various fields of the Special Investigative Group."

. That some of the documents should have been acquired through subpoenas rather than from confidential sources. Eldridge said in an interview yesterday that White told him he got some of the documents from a source in the administration of Gov. Christopher Bond.

. That when he (Eldridge) was reviewing the inventory of the investigative group he found a heading on one file which linked a high government official in the Hearnes administration with a front man for the Maifia. Eldridge, in the 'memorandum, called the file label 'LIBEL — EITHER DIRECT OR BY INUENDO.(sic)"

Hurn said he would have "no comment whatsoever" on the memorandum and indicated that he would stand by previous public statements that his office has been completely objective and nonpolitical in its work.

White could not be reached for comment.

Immediately after his resignation Eldridge charged Hurn with conducting an investigation of the Hearnes administration which "Is purely political in nature." At that time Eldridge indicted that his June 20 memorandum would outline the charges.

Eldridge said in an interview Saturday at his Raytown home that he was reluctant to release the memorandum publicly until the Justice Department had had a chance to investigate his allegations. However, he changed his mind, he said, when a reporter called him and said the memorandum was leaked by a source in Washington.

Eldridge has also charged Hurn with conducting an investigation of a former state Republican representative in order to make his office seem nonpartisan in its work. Hurn is a Republican and Hearnes is a Democrat. Eldridge said he had been ordered by Hurn to inspect insurance contracts between the state and a St. Louis County insurance firm with which former Rep. R. J. (Bus) King (R-Clayton) was associated. Hurn has denied these charges.

Eldridge moved here from Phoenix when he was appointed an assistant U. S. attorney. He had been in private practice in Phoenix 12 years and ran once on the Democratic ticket for country prosecutor. Eldridge says he has since become a Republican.

UN IS PREACHING GLOBAL CLASS WARFARE

At the World Population Conference in Bucharest, all the ugly sentiments surfaced. One formal recommendation runs as follows: Resolved that this conference promote the establishment of a new economic order by eradicating the causes of world poverty, by ensuring the equitable distribution of world resources, by eliminating the injustices of existing world trade systems and exploitation perpetrated by capitalistic multinational corporations.

As Ray Vickers grimly told Americans in the Wall Street Journal: "One of the main targets of the meeting is you. You eat too much. You consume too much of the world's natural resources. You don't give enough foreign aid to needy countries. You are raising this overpupulation specter to practice genocide upon poor Third World nations by preaching family planning to them. You could solve the problems quickly by sharing your wealth with the poor of India, Botswana, South Yemen and all the other impoverished nations. The subject fits neatly into a Communist propaganda campaign that seems aimed at convincing the Third World that affluent America is the root cause of most of the world's ills."

Despite the endless affronts, and the sorry record of non- achievement, Washington persists in coming back for more. Congress and senators are eagerly vying for places on the U. S. delegation to the forthcoming UN World Food Conference in Rome, where the champagne doubtless will flow, and the cup of anti- Americanism will run over. In accepting the Nobel Prize two years ago, Alexander Solzhenitsyn condemned the United Nations as "immoral." In our book the UN is guilty as charged.

CRIMINALS AS "CONSUMERS"

Half of all the serious crimes in the United States today are committed by persons under 18, legally classified as juveniles. The mild term "juvenile delinquency" is still officially used to cover even the most vicious crimes perpetrated by these young people.

With only 20 negative votes, the House of Representatives has passed a new Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Act which would impose more federal "standards" and controls on the efforts of states and communities to cope with the wave of young criminals. It would place new restrictions on the suspension or expulsion of even the most dangerous young people from schools, where they often terrorize fellow students and teachers alike.

These controls and restrictions would be administered by a new Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Administration to be set up, not in the Justice Department or even the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, but in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

To cap the climax, the bill refers to plans for special treatment of young criminals by means of "programs of community supervision and service which maintain community and consumer participation in the planning, operation and evaluation." The "consumer" here means no more nor less than the young criminal himself.

When criminals become consumers, what happens to the victims? Almost no publicity has been given to this exceedingly dangerous bill with its fantastic philosophy of criminals as "consumers." Every effort should be made to block it in the Senate, and if this is not successful, to prevail upon our new President Gerald Ford to veto it. HLH

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Acting President Haig

WASHINGTON — Our own White House sources have confirmed former press secretary Jerry terHorst's report that President Ford and his staff, when they moved into the White House, found Gen. Alexander Haig functioning as the "acting president."

This characterization of Haig has been given by sources totally familiar with the White House operations during Nixon's final months. The harrassed former President had become so obsessed with his Watergate woes, they say, that he left Haig in charge of running the country.

To his credit, the able, articulate Haig held the government together as the Watergate nightmare slowly stifled the oval office. The only exception: He left foreign affairs in the hands of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

We have now established beyond doubt that Nixon spent almost his full time brooding over his Watergate predicament and scheming with a few trusted advisers how to get out of it. "He was like a man groping through a poisonous fog," said one source.

Haig handled the presidential powers, which were thrust upon him, wisely and well, our sources agree. He was acutely conscious of his military background and tried to take a civilian's view of the nation's problems, they say.

He has tried quietly to relinquish his tremendous powers, according to our sources, since President Ford took over. But the White House staff is so conditioned to taking orders from Haig that he still wields more authority inside the White House than Ford's top aides.

This is one reason the President would like to ease Haig out. But it has been a problem finding an appropriate assignment for the man who behind the scenes has been exercising the powers of the President.

Footnote: General Haig refused comment.

WATCH ON WASTE: As part of our watch on waste, we have uncovered another Ernest Fitzgerald in the National Institute of Education, which dishes out government millions for educational research.

Fitzgerald was the cost analyst who was fired by the Air Force for blowing the whistle on cost overruns.

Now the NIE has fired a $21,300- a- year contract specialist under similar circumstances. This latest Ernest Fitzgerald is Robert Drucker.

The NIE claims Drucker was fired for failing to do his job. But on close examination, it looks suspiciously like it was his zeal to save money for the taxpayers that got him in trouble.

The $8 million contract went to Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory of Portland, Ore., on a noncompetitive, favored-source basis. As the negotiations reached a climax, Northwest's Dr. Larry Fish flew to Washington to complain about the low fees.

He took his complaint among others to Marc Tucker, a power at NIE, who previously had worked under Fish at Northwest. Tucker immediately ushered his former boss into Drucker's office and suggested pointedly: "It seems to me you guys should sit down together."

In the language of the Washington bureaucracy, when a bigwig says this to an underling, it means "strike a deal." But Drucker refused to allow Northwest more than a 4-1/2 per cent fee, which still gave the lab a whopping $360,000 profit.

Drucker also held the line in other negotiations. Suddenly, his performance ratings, which had always been high, began to plummet. A few days ago, he was fired.

Drucker has also complained about a $6 million grant in 1969 to Far West Laboratory for Educational Research in San Francisco. The lab bought a huge old warehouse with the money but occupies only three floors. The other three floors are going to waste.

He has objected, too, to a $4 million deal with Southwest Educational Development Laboratory of Austin, Texas. He questions a $230,000 developer's fee and a $300,000 prepaid rental.

Both Tucker and Fish insist that their friendship had nothing to do with the awarding of the $8 million contract. All the dealings with NIE, they swear, have been totally proper. The NIE also contends there is no evidence of wrongdoing and, in an unusual move, has taken the initiative to invite the General Accounting Office to investigate.

HUNTING GRIZZLIES: The powerful grizzly bear, which once roamed in great numbers through the West, is now threatened with extinction below the Canadian border.

This is the main conclusion of an unpublished Interior Dept. report which warns that the animal may be endangered unless immediate steps are taken to protect it.

To save the grizzly, the report urgently recommends that "sport hunting be temporarily banned" in the Yellowstone Ecosystem of Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

Conservationists estimate that only about 900 of these magnificent carnivores still survive in the lower 48 states. Yet the state of Montana, where the largest population of grizzlies exists, issued 919 grizzly permits for this year's hunting season.

If only a small number of these hunters are successful, the entire species could be nearly wiped out in the area. Yet Montana has refused to close down its season, and the U.S. Forest Service has refused to take action.

Ann Landers

Breast reconstruction is sometimes possible

Dear Ann Landers: Your encouragement to women who have had a breast removed was greatly appreciated by those of us who have gone through the experience. Mrs. Birch Bayh's letter which backed up your statements was a beautiful shot in the arm. My thanks to you both.

And now a question, which I hope you won't think is foolish. I had a mastectomy in 1970. Since that time I have been wearing a bra with a built-in breast and it looks very natural. No one would suspect it wasn't real. But I have heard and read a great deal about those silicone implants for women who are flat- chested or want to be larger. Would such an operation be possible for those of us who have lost a breast to cancer? Will you check with an authority and let me know? Thanks and God bless. -- Greatful in Great Neck

Dear G: I checked with one of the world's most distinguished surgeons, a pioneer in the field of reconstructive surgery. He is Dr. John Marquise Converse, at the New York University Medical Center. His reply is as follows

"If, after a breast has been removed, the skin has remained intact and is of good quality, an implant can be placed under the skin thus reestablishing the breast contour and a degree of symmetry with the opposite breast. In some cases, however, the skin of the breast must be removed during the operation and the area skin grafted. In such cases the implant cannot be applied.

"Some surgeons do not approve of placing an implant after an operation for cancer. In such cases, a prosthetic breast (made of rubber) is advised. Thousands of women are wearing the false breasts built into their bras and find them completely satisfactory. The reconstructive operation can be performed by grafting tissue from the abdomen up to the breast, but a number of stages are required and the results are not very impressive."

So there you have it from the Mt. Olympus of medicine. And now I hope you will return to your physician and see if you qualify for reconstructive surgery. If he says no, please don't be unhappy. Thousands of women are using artificial breasts built in to their brassieres and they are indistinguishable from the real thing.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a woman, 26, and fairly sane, at least for the present. I am now living with a man I love dearly. He is not the problem. It's his parents. We moved in with them two years ago and it's more than I can take.

J's mother is 68. His father is 71. It's like living in a geriatric ward of a county hospital. There is no such thing as privacy. Our bedroom is the only place I can relax.

I could go on and tell you how unhappy I am, but I don't have that much ink in my pen. I've talked to J about moving, but he says we can't afford to right now. I need a life alone with the man I love. I'm sick and tired of keeping house for his parents. What should I do? -- Old Before My Time

Dear O.B.: Why don't you just shoot 'em? For heaven's sake, girl, don't you understand that you moved in on THEM? If you're unhappy, how do you think his parents feel?

My advice is to clear out -- either with Mr. Wonderful or without him. Two years is long enough for aging parents to put up with a shack job right under their noses.

How much do you know about pot, L. S. D., cocaine, speed, meth, uppers and downers, glue and heroin? Are all these drugs dangerous? Get Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill plus a long, self-addressed envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Many a kitchen shelf or cabinet needs reorganizing! Supplies and equipment should be stored at place of first use.

Top winners recognized

Two of the top three winners in the District Sew with Cotton contest received an opportunity Tuesday night to talk with Debra Ploch, left, of Memphis, Tenn., the 1973 Maid of Cotton and tour manager for the 1975 Maid of Cotton to be selected Dec. 29 in Memphis. Rosemary Scherer, center, of Portageville and Diane DePew of Campbell were recognized as top winners in the district, along with Linda Sue Brigance of Kennett, who was unable to attend the Sew with Cotton recognition banquet Tuesday night at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord.

District winners honored

"Creativity and imagination seem to be suffering today, especially in the field of homemaking," Miss Debra Ploch, tour manager for the 1975 Maid of Cotton, told about 60 people attending the first district Sew with Cotton awards banquet Tuesday night at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord.

Miss Ploch, who recently moved to Memphis, Tenn., from Dallas, Tex., said homemaking talents seem to be suffering somewhat because of the increased emphasis and desire on the part of women to get out of the home and into professions.

"At this banquet we are celebrating creativity and imagination and celebrating cotton," she stated.

"Cotton is the most versatile fabric a person could choose for creative outlet," Miss Ploch told district Sew with Cotton winners, their teachers, youth leaders, parents and guests. Cotton is also a universal fiber, she explained as she related some of the enthusiasm for cotton which she viewed on a worldwide scale during her rein as 1973 Maid of Cotton.

Honored during the program were 1974 district Sew with Cotton winners:

Suzy Nelson of Fairdealing, Judy Eby of Sikeston Route Three; Linda Sue Brigance of Kennett; Judy Staelbel of Kelso, Joyce Anderson of Cooter, Cindy Blagg of Neelyville, and Paula Siebert of Chaffee.

Miss DePew, Miss Scherer and Miss Brigance were recognized as the top three winners in the district. These girls will model their winning garment in March before the wives of Southern Ginners Association members at a meeting in Memphis.

Norman Bartmess, vice president and manager of Kennett Oil Mill Inc., served as master of ceremonies. The event was sponsored by Kennett Cotton Oil Mill Inc., Sikeston Cotton Oil Mill Inc. and Mississippi Valley Oilseed Processors Association Inc., headquartered in Memphis, Tenn.

INSULATE GARAGE WALL

If a home has an attached garage, the wall between it and the house should be insulated by stapling mineral wool blankets between the studs. The vapor barrier should face the house. Although the mineral wool fibers won't burn, the insulation should be covered with gypsum board or some other non- combustible material as an extra safety precaution and to protect the insulation from damage.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

For the last few years neighborhood businesses have been going out of their way to aesthetically fit into a neighborhood.

Our bank blends so well into the surroundings that I expect any day to see a bread card in the window. And we have a service station so homey I feel guilty if I pull in after dinner when he is trying to get his grass cut before dark.

When a beautiful two-story colonial was going up, we took our Welcome Wagon lady aside and said, "Be sure and find out if she works, if they like music, if he has a riding lawn mower and if they are over 30."

She came out of the house in shock.

"Well?" we asked.

"They have two fire trucks," she said.

"Then they have children," I said excitedly, "probably boys with a whole fleet of Tonkas."

"You don't understand," she said slowly. "They have two full-scale fire trucks. It's the Fire Department."

We were quite prepared for a restaurant in Hawaii called Plantation Gardens because the tourist brochure said it once belonged to a plantation owner who converted it to a restaurant.

"Look for a place that looks like an old mansion," instructed my husband.

"Will there be a sign on it?" asked one of the kids.

"There won't have to be a sign," said my husband, "after all, how many old plantations could there be?"

About half an hour later as we all hung out of the window checking each house, we began to notice an abundance of cars. They lined the highway on either side and my husband said, "I'm glad we got reservations. I think we're here."

He slowed down the car and there it was to our left -- a spacious white two-story mansion with rocking chairs on the porch for diners to await their turn and gardens to tour for those with cameras.

"I suppose you get a lot of your business from AAA," I smiled.

The man looked at us blankly.

"There are five of and we have reservations," boomed my husband.

It wasn't until we were being escorted to the larger room that we saw the sign, "Rest Haven Funeral Home."

We parked the car and walked across the beautiful lawn to the entrance where a line was formed. When we got inside the door my husband leaned over to the maitre d' and said, "We're the Bombecks."

"So nice of you to come," he said softly.

"You came so highly recommended," said my husband.

Frankly Speaking

Senate opposes rule requiring belts, buzzers

WASHINGTON — The Senate has gone on record opposing the Department of Transportation rule requiring a buzzer and interlock seat belt system in new cars.

By a vote of 64-21 the Senate accepted the Eagleton-Buckley amendment stopping "big brother" government from forcing its citizens to protect themselves whether they want to or not.

Similar legislation was passed by the House of Representatives as an amendment to another bill which is now being considered in conference committee.

There is therefore no question that the buzzer and interlock seat belt system will be eliminated from 1975 and future cars.

The wearing of seat belts is a useful safety precaution. But I feel that Americans are mature and intelligent enough to make that decision themselves. Without a doubt this bureaucratic attempt to dictate to individuals in matters which concern only themselves is not only expensive and annoying, but insulting to a person's intelligence.

Increased use of the seat belt because of the buzzer and interlock systems is sometimes cited as a reason the systems should be continued.

But these figures must be given closer attention. Only 15 to 20 per cent of the drivers with the buzzer system use the seat and lap belt. As it is hard to believe that the rest of them drive with the buzz in their ears, it may be assumed that most of them have disconnected the system.

Use of belts in cars with the interlock system started at 60 to 70 per cent. It is now down to about 30 per cent. Drivers are learning how to defeat this system as well.

In the long run, use of seat belts will probably level out to those who would use them voluntarily.

American citizens are overwhelmingly opposed to this denial of their freedom of choice. As evidence of this is the broad support my legislation received in the Senate.

Ideological opposites such as Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and James Abourezk, D-S.D., lined up together to defeat an annoying regulation and a bureaucratic concept that if the citizen does not make the "right" choice, the government must make it for him.

Task forces help determine energy policies

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) State task forces on energy can and will help determine national energy policies, the director of the National Governor's Conference energy project said here Tuesday.

Ed Rovener spoke to 60 members of the Mid-Continent Research and Development Council, meeting here to consider energy planning for an 11-state region.

Rovener pointed out that total state energy problems can best be handled at the state level, with the help of other states and their universities and institutions. The project is strongly committed to conservation of energy, he said.

The meeting of the council, made up of representatives from business, government, engineering and social sciences, was sponsored by the economic department of the College of Administration and Public Affairs at the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Wilbur Jenny, petroleum specialist for the Federal Energy Administration, discussed the impact of the energy shortage on the region. He expressed concern for individual users, which he said oil firms had abandoned in reshaping their market. Jenny said the federal government may require some large gas users to shift to coal, brining problems with water use and rail transportation of the coal, and with pollution control.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — If you want photographs of those quaint wooden fishing boats, take your pictures now because they are about to go the way of the old frigates.

Following the lead of recreational boat makers, commercial yards are switching to fiber glass reinforced plastic for the material's safety and durability advantages.

A manufacturing company here, the nation's largest producer of shrimp boats, has been phasing into fiber glass for four years.

Firefighting equipment demonstrated at Dexter

DEXTER — The owner of the property smiled Tuesday evening as three houses and two sheds burned slowly to the gound in the 200 block of Matthews Street, north of the Swift and Co. processing plant.

"Nice night for a burning," C. M. Lawson, a land developer from Louisville, Ky. and owner of the property, said. An arsonist or villain burning his property for the insurance? No, the occasion was a demonstration test of a new kind of firefighting equipment.

Demonstrated was a foam-making machine described by Fire Chief Al Banken as "not the answer to fire fighting, but another way to fight fire. We're always looking for ways to upgrade the department, and this is one possible way."

"Everybody's impressed when they see this machine in action," Alex C. Waters, owner of Waters Automatic Fire Protection of Sikeston, said, as he set up the machine before the demonstration.

"It takes about a minute to set up," he explained, "and it's ready to go. The main difficulty is finding a source of water-- a fire hydrant or a pumper."

The fire department came prepared to give a realistic demonstration.

On hand to witness the demonstration were Mayor Willis Conner and Aldermen Doren Vancil, Leslie Day and Bob Curtis.

"It was a pretty interesting demonstration," Conner said.

Will the Dexter fire department get a foam making machine? "I don't know yet," Conner said. Would he support such a move? "I haven't made up my mind," he said.

People started to gather around the deserted houses about 6:30 p.m., and firemen set the first house on fire at 6:45.

As the flames grew in the deserted, rundown house, the order was given and the machine started. A three- foot wide hose rolled from the machine and foam was directed into the burning house through a window.

In a minute and 16 seconds the flames were all smothered.

"We didn't hardly get a chance to get it going good," one firemen yelled.

"Open the back door, and we'll blow the foam out and do it again," Waters responded.

The second time a different house was burned, and this time the flames were allowed to grow. The limbs on a nearby tree began to catch fire in an impressive blaze.

Again the machine was turned on and the foam leaped into the building and smothered the flames almost instantly. A blazing board fell from the roof into the foam, smoldered a second and went out. Foam oozed out through the windows and firemen waded through the bubbles.

Lawson was going to have the buildings town down but said the fire department wanted to test some new equipment and he was glad to let them burn.

Waters estimated that it cost $6.50 to put out the first fire, and $19 to extinguish the second one even though "they used twice as much foam as was needed."

"We were all well pleased with the machine," Banken said. "We were amazed at how fast it put the fire out. And it's good for all kinds of fires -- oil, gas, even electrical."

"You can also use this foam to keep other houses from burning," Waters said. "You simply build a wall of foam between the flames and the other houses to contain the fire. It takes maybe a minute."

Police announce 3 arrests

Police today announced the arrest of Gary L. McClain, 226 Broadway Ave., and Marvin H. Gilmore, 704 N. Ranney St., for allowing a dog to run loose and Rachel Sue Bennett, 208 Smith St., for careless and imprudent driving.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Let us stop going over the same old ground again and again, always teaching those first lessons about Christ. Let us go on instead to other things and become mature in our understanding, as strong Christians ought to be. Surely we don't need to speak further about the foolishness of trying to be saved by being good, or about the necessity of faith in God; you don't need further instruction about baptism and spiritual gifts and the resurrection of the dead and eternal judgment.

Last known prisoner of war returns today

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Emmet James Kay returned today to freedom as the last known U.S. prisoner of war in Indochina. He insisted he knew of no other Americans in custody.

The lanky commercial pilot said the pro-Communist Pathet Lao had treated him so well he left good friends behind him.

Kay, 47, of Hawaii, landed here shortly after sundown after a two-hour flight from Thailand in a C9 Nightingale hospital jet to climax a day in which he went to freedom from imprisonment in a cave in Sam Neua in northeastern Laos.

"As far as I know there are are no other Americans there," he said on arrival.

A British army major who flew to Sam Neua to pick up Kay, said he saw the American exchange warm embraces with his Communist captors in an emotional farewell.

The officer, Maj. Peter Shield, said he pledged them he will work toward peace in Indochina and quoted at length from a book the Pathet Lao gave him. He strongly opposed U.S. intervention in Indochina and said he fully supports the Indochinese people "in their struggle for peace," Shield related.

Maurice Gralnik, political-military officer of the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, said Kay had been told by his captors that whenever they had come across the site of a plane crash, they had buried the bodies of the dead and had taken no one prisoner.

"Presumably, they meant Americans," said Gralnik, who escorted Kay and his wife, Florence, after the pilot was turned over to American authorities in Vientiane.

Drug increases body's defenses

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug significantly increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment.

The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and some other infections.

Because interferon is effective against all viruses, it has been considered promising in the control of respiratory infections, such as the cold.

Colds are caused by so many types of viruses that a vaccine against all of them is thought impractical.

The scientists at the university's medical school in Chicago said they used 39 young volunteers to study the effects of propanediamine.

Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the scientists said the results of their study make them optimistic that ultimately effective drugs can be developed for the common cold and other viral respiratory infections.

An editorial in the journal points out that the limitation on use of the drug is that it must be administered throughout the period in which a person might catch a cold.

And it notes that the production of interferon decreases with repeated stimulation.

Fifteen subjects in the Illinois experiment were given the new drug via nose drops. Then they were exposed to cold-causing viruses.

They developed either no cold symptoms or so few that they were considered insignificant.

Other subjects not given the drug were exposed to the same viruses. They developed severe colds.

Missouri governor's veto not overridden since 1838

JEFFERSON CITY — A Missouri governor's veto has not been overriden since 1838. And that record will stand for at least another year because the second veto session in the state's history came and went early this month with no bills enacted over Gov. Christopher S. Bond's vetoes.

Bond has vetoed 26 bills passed by the General Assembly during the last regular session. House Republicans stopped the only Senate attempt to override. A pay raise bill for employes of the St. Louis collector of revenue fell 18 votes short in the House after senators had voted earlier to increase salaries of that office over Bond's veto.

The governor had vetoed nine pay raise bills for elective officials in St. Louis. He said the city is in a tight financial situation and that salaries are lower in comparable offices in Jackson and St. Louis counties.

More than half of Bond's vetoes involved spending bills on appropriations or new programs. He vetoed salary increases for most of the state's judges, for the workmen's compensation division and for the Missouri Boat Commission.

Bond had warned that a tax increase would come about if his vetoes were not upheld.

"One veto would be the signal for the legislature to continue the spending, and that might set the precedent which would ultimately result in a tax increase," Bond said. He said he did not think any vetoes would be overridden.

Still, key legislators thought two bills stood good chances of being passed. Those bills would have increased aid to dependent children in the state by $3 per month and given Missouri junior colleges an $8 million increase. House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, and Senate president pro tem William Cason, D-Clinton, tried in vain to raise the necessary votes to override the two vetoes.

The junior college bill fell three votes short of the two-thirds majority required for Senate passage, while the aid to dependent children bill fell five votes short. Both bills passed easily in the 1974 regular session.

House members thwarted an attempt to override Bond's line item vetoes of $3.5 million for higher education. The override attempt fell 23 short of the 109 votes needed.

House Appropriations Committee chairman James Russell sought to override the higher education veto to prevent further tuition or fee increases at seven state colleges and universities. But Robert Snyder, minority floor leader, told the House, "You will be voting fiscal irresponsibility if you override this veto."

Old age assistance payments to university employes accounted for $2 million of the vetoed higher education funds.

Not all vetoed bills were considered during the two-day session. The Senate dealt with only five of the 14 vetoed Senate bills and the House considered only six of 10 House bills.

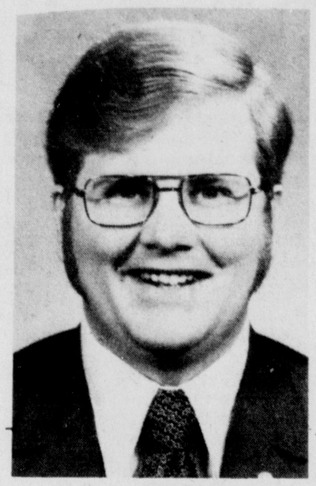
Insurance agent to be granted designation



Dwayne C. Lorenz

Dwayne C. Lorenz, agent for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., is among 2,200 who will be granted the chartered life underwriter designation at national conferment exercises of The American College of Life Underwriters Sept. 24 in Bal Harbour, Fla.

Lorenz, who maintains his office at 731 N. Main St., began business in Sikeston in 1970. He is a past president of the Sikeston Life Underwriters Association, in which he currently serves as vice president.

He lives in Westview Estates and is the youngest CLU in Southeast Missouri.

The American College grants the CLU designation to men and women engaged in activities directly or indirectly relating to the insuring of human life values. In order to qualify, the candidates must pass a series of professional examinations and meet the stringent experience and ethical requirements of the college.

The CLU study program was established to meet the professional education needs of the men and women who provide life and health insurance service for the public.

The courses cover such areas as: fundamentals of life and health insurance; group insurance, health insurance and pensions; law, trusts and taxation; finance and economics; and business insurance and estate planning. This year's 2,232 graduates bring to over 32,000 the total number of people who have received the designation since The American College was founded in 1927.

The typical candidate for the CLU designation enrolls in a special study class at a college or university and spends four to five years in the program.

Persons who attain the chartered life underwriter designation may use the term or its abbreviation (CLU) after their names and wear a CLU key. They are also eligible to apply for membership in the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, a professional body whose principal objective is to maintain high standards of service to the public.

Cadillac offers elegance, value

DETROIT- The 1975 Cadillac, incorporating a newly designed front end with many refinements and engineering innovations, offers automotive elegance and customer value and convenience.

All domestic 1975 Cadillacs which include the Calais, De Ville and Fleetwood series, are equipped with the General Motors catalytic converter unit, which in addition to reducing emission of pollutants, will also help permit improvements to Cadillac driveability and fuel economy.

In the area of design, the grilles, hoods, front fenders and front lights are all new on this year's standard models.

The grilles feature a bold horizontal and vertical cross hatch design, emphasizing a height reduction accomplished in the vertical face of the hood. The grille and hood designs contribute to a lower, more distinctive overall front end appearance for the 1975 Cadillacs.

The single most attributable factor to the contemporary front end on the standard Cadillacs is the lamp theme, incorporating rectangular head lights and rectangular shaped parking and cornering lamps, which are set in the front fenders as a continuation of the head lamp.

A new fixed rear quarter window for the 1975 Calais and De Ville Sedan models affords the customer increased rear visibility.

Fourteen exterior color finishes are new, offering the Cadillac buyer an excellent blend of metallic, non-metallic and firemist colors, complemented by a selection of 14 padded vinyl tops and 8 convertible tops.

The 1975 Cadillac Fleetwood Eldorado lineup includes a coupe and a convertible, with a newly designed grille and front bumper. The front of the fender has been changed on the popular front-wheel-drive Eldorado, with the front bumper outer bar now being vertical. The new urethane fender extensions deflect and move rearward when the bumper is impacted. They assume their original shape when the bumper returns to position, reducing costly sheet metal repairs from minor front-end accidents.

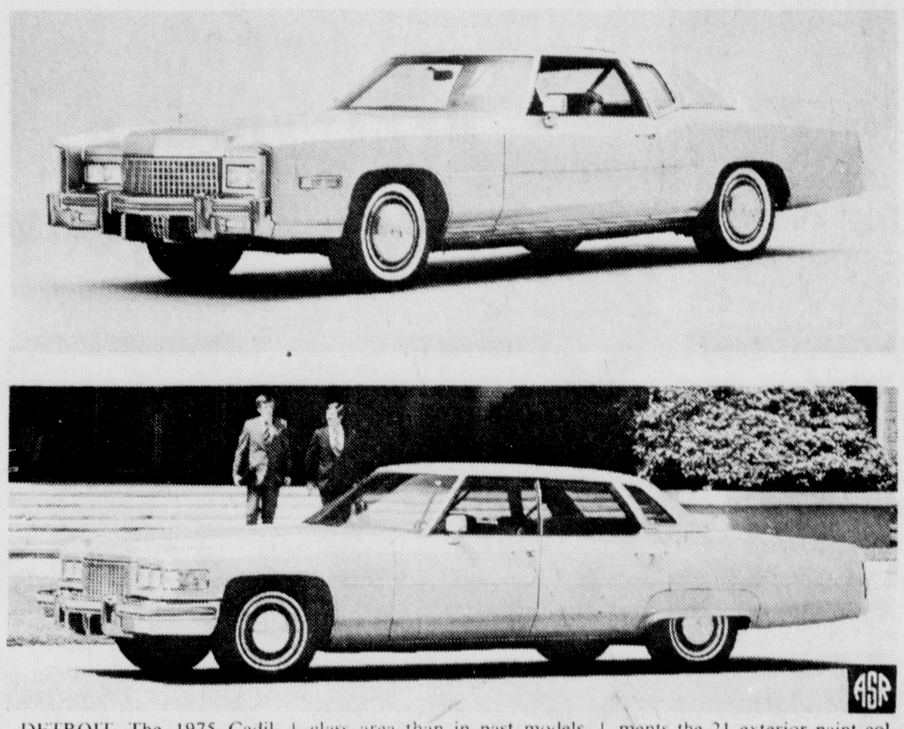
Cadillac's new standard items such as 2.73 axle ratio and GM specification steel belted radial tires, both of which were introduced as standard equipment on late model 1974 Cadillacs, and the new catalytic converter equipped engine have all contributed to an increase in fuel economy for 1975.

An "economy" setting feature has also been incorporated in the automatic climate control unit. When used in temperatures between 30 and 70 degrees, this new customer value feature will, under most conditions, automatically facilitate comfortable in-car temperatures, while not activating the compressor unit. This setting contributes to increased fuel economy, without loss of the customer comfort when used as recommended.

In addition, an optional electronic fuel injection system will be available shortly after the start of production. This is the optimum known system for providing the precise amount of fuel equally to each cylinder.

Several other fuel economy oriented engineering advancements have been made for 1975. Among these are a recalibrated, modified quadrajet carburetor, a high spark advance vacuum spark unit with tighter tolerances, a fast warm-up intake manifold system, and an electric choke for more positive choke operation.

Further customer value engineering advancements for 1975 include newly designed engine mounts for isolation of engine noise and vibrations.



DETROIT—The 1975 Cadillac Fleetwood Eldorado series again features both Coupe (above) and Convertible models and utilizes rectangular headlights, as on the standard Cadillac. A newly styled grille on these popular front-wheel-drive cars is highlighted by larger rectangular openings and bold vertical fins. A new fixed rear quarter window has been added to the Coupe, providing a larger glass area than in past models. The rear wheel openings are new on the 1975 Eldorados and no longer feature a cover.

The 1975 Cadillac Calais Sedan (below), along with the Sedan de Ville, features a new fixed rear quarter window, offering a larger rear glass area. Calais interiors for 1975 are highlighted by the new plaid "Morgan" cloth, which complements the 21 exterior paint colors and 14 padded vinyl tops.

All 1975 Cadillac models incorporate valuable fuel economy oriented engineering advancements as standard equipment, such as a lower ratio economy axle, several engine refinements, GM specification steel belted radial tires and an "economy" setting for the Climate Control unit.

Jack W. Kuhn, president, said the store is located in the Greenwood Shopping Paaza, a new shopping center on U.S. 82 in the eastern part of the city. The Greenwood unit is the ninth new Big K which has opened this year, and becomes the 66th Big K which the company has in operation.

Kuhn's Big K also operates 27 Kuhn's Vairety stores in a trade area which includes Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and Missouri (including the Big K discount department store in Sikeston).

One more new Big K is scheduled to open during 1974, Juhn said, and it will be located in West Helena, Ark.

The company disclosed earlier this week that its sales for the first eight months of the year increased 26 per cent to $85,694,662, and that August sales were up 25 per cent over the same month a year ago to $13,279,215.

Kuhn's-Big K stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

The first federal illegal election practices law in the United States was passed in 1907. The law prohibited corporations from contributing campaign funds for presidential or congressional elections. The World Almanac recalls. In 1909, an act was passed which prohibited corporations and national banks from giving campaign funds to any elective candidate.

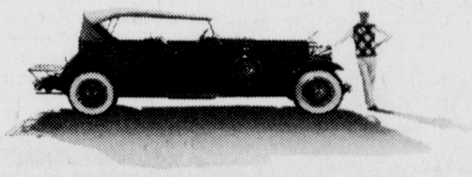
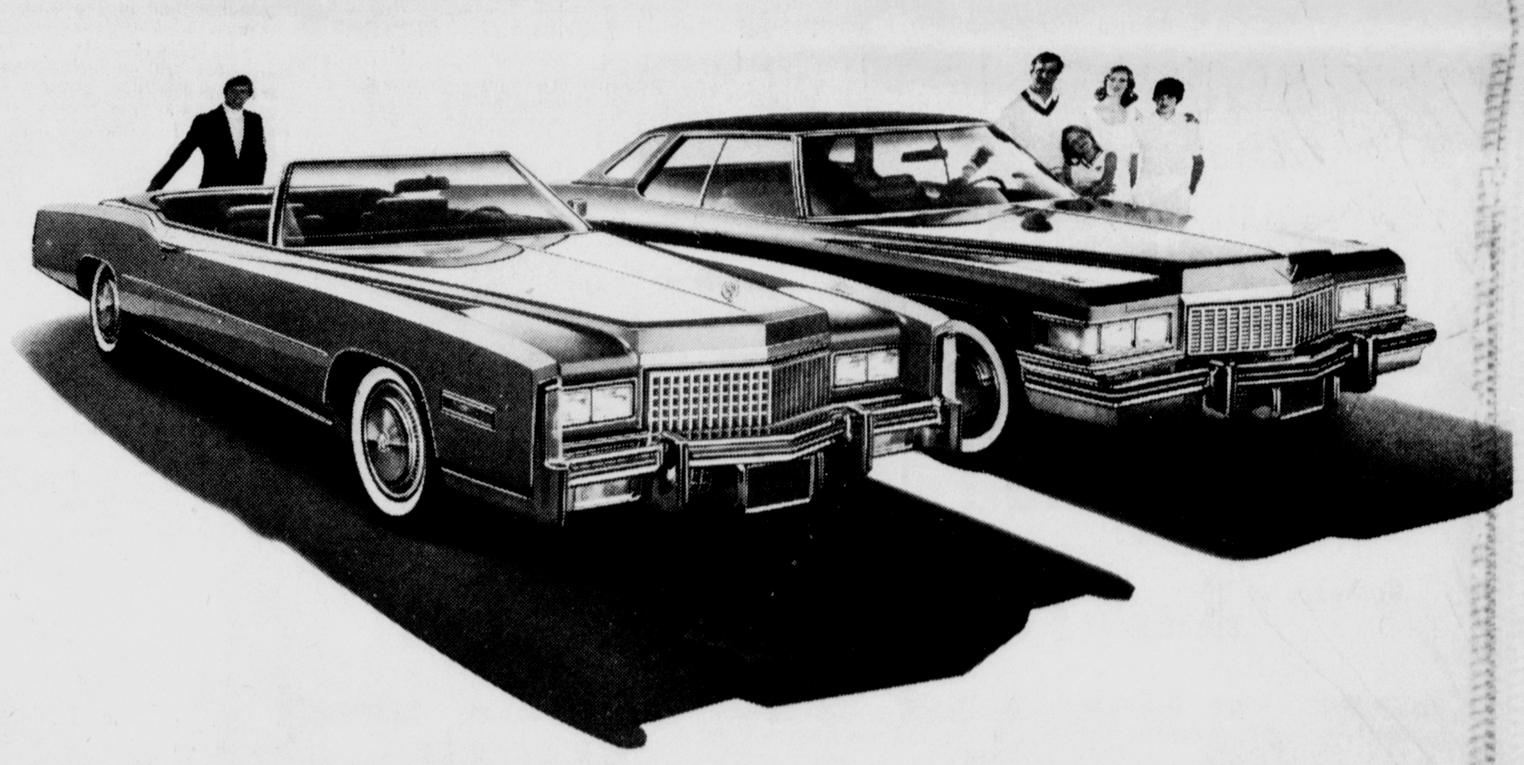
CADILLAC MOTOR CAR DIVISION GM





CADILLAC 1975
Then and Now...an American Standard for the World.

And what a standard it sets for 1975! There's the brilliant new six-window Sedan deVille, on the right. The bold new Eldorado Convertible, left, with that great profile. And seven other new models in the tradition of our 1931 Phaeton and other great Cadillacs of the past. Including a sleek new Coupe deVille. A magnificent new Fleetwood Brougham. Exciting new Calais with youthful plaid interiors. And new special edition cars for that special touch of elegance.

Efficient as it is elegant. The best overall operating economy in years is one of the benefits of a series of advancements we call The System. Included is the Catalytic Converter, a new device that does its job of emissions control outside the engine—rather than inside—making it possible to recalibrate the engine for smoother overall performance. Another vital link is our High Energy Ignition that delivers higher voltage to fire marginal fuel mixtures under adverse conditions.

Additional benefits. All this, combined with the use of unleaded gas, a "tighter" torque converter, steel-belted radial tires and other advancements adds up to the best Cadillac performance in years. As well as reduced maintenance and lower overall operating costs. Longer intervals between service. And cleaner air for everyone.

Our feature attraction. Consider that Cadillac 1975 has an array of standard features unsurpassed in Cadillac history. Including Automatic Climate Control, a six-way power seat, AM/FM radio with automatic power antenna (signal-seeking stereo on Brougham and Eldorado), lamp monitors, steel-belted radial tires, power door locks and tinted glass.

For your added pleasure . . . there is an inviting selection of other new features available. A glass dome Astroroof. An illuminated entry system for nighttime convenience and security. An air cushion restraint system. A reclining front passenger seat in Eldorado. And shortly after introduction, Electronic Fuel Injection will be available on all models.

This year, slip into something really comfortable . . . any 1975 Cadillac. The ride is smooth and quiet. Interiors comfortable and sumptuous.

When second best isn't good enough.

Charges filed against 2

CHARLESTON — A felony charge of stealing over $50 has been filed against Carl Finley, 17, of East Prairie and a 16-year - old juvenile boy in connection with a theft Sunday morning at the David Barnett farm on Route One, according to Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons.

The stolen articles included a truck battery, two saddles, two cans of gasoline, two spotlights and a chain saw. The articles were recovered at the farm, apparently after Barnett frightened the youths away.

Finley will appear in Magistrate Court Thursday and the juvenile has been turned over to the juvenile officer in New Madrid County, where he was on probation.

World News In Brief

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Ford, here to argue that "a global strategy for food and energy is urgently required," expanded an address to the General Assembly to laud Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Ford departed from his prepared text to underscore support for Kissinger, who was disturbed Tuesday by reports that a "transition recommendation" to Ford urged that the secretary be stripped of his role as the President's assistant for national security affairs.

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford's clemency program has temporarily freed most of the 95 Vietnam-era draft evaders in federal prisons, but some may be back. To some, Ford's offer to do alternative service in lieu of jail was no different than what they had refused to do before they were imprisoned. They said they owed the nation no service for refusing to fight in what they called an immoral war. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe had ordered the imprisoned draft evaders released late Tuesday on 30-day furloughs to give them time to appeal their sentences to a newly created clemency board.

CHICAGO (AP) — Inflation has brought on the biggest cafe caper in history, says a restaurant executive. Customers are walking off with just about everything but the kitchen sink. "People are calling for more rolls, bread, butter and crackers for their tables and are carting much of it away in their pockets, purses and in doggie bags — there never have been so many requests for doggie bags," says Larry Buckmaster, executive director of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association. Buckmaster said the take-home trend has been noted by many of the association's 4,800 members, who blame spiraling food costs.

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug significantly increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment. The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and some other infections.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Three Japanese terrorists who occupied the French embassy in The Hague for four days and the comrade they freed from a French jail were flown to the Middle East today, but their final destination was not known. The gunmen from the Japanese Red Army terrorist group released their nine remaining hostages, including the French ambassador, unharmed Tuesday night and took off from Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport in a French Boeing 707 jet with $300,000 ransom and a volunteer crew of two Dutchmen and a Briton. The plane refueled this morning at Aden, on the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula, and took off again but the destination was not known.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Emmet James Kay, believed to be the last U.S. prisoner of war held in Indochina, was flown today to Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines for a medical checkup after his release by the Communist Pathet Lao. Kay said he felt "great, just great" when he arrived in Vientiane aboard a British Embassy plane that brought him from Sam Neua, the Pathet Lao capital in Northern Laos where he was held for 16 months. Looking thin but healthy, the 47-year-old commercial pilot hugged by his wife, who had flown to Laos from their home in Hawaii.

Botsch joins Malden bank

MALDEN — Neal Botsch of Sikeston will become assistant vice president of First National Bank in Malden on Sept. 30, according to an announcement by Charles Royal, president.

Botsch is a native of Bernie, where he attended high school. He graduated from Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau and taught school for five years,. He is presently associated with Sikes Sporting Goods at Sikeston.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Botsch of Bernie Route One, and his wife is the former Myra Jolly of Fisk. They have one daughter, Tara, 7.

Mrs. Botsch will teach kindergarten in the Malden public schools. Botsch and his wife have been active in Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church and the Sikeston Jaycees.

"We are delighted to have such a fine young man from this area join our staff and we know that his many friends throughout this area will be pleased to have him serve them," Royal said.

Bond says Ford program for war resisters may be inadequate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Ford's program for the re-entry of Vietnam war resisters into American society may be inadequate in some cases, according to Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Bond, speaking to newsmen Tuesday, said he believed the maximum 24-month period in alternative service would not be sufficient for milirary deserters, who should instead face judicial proceedings and possible imprisionment.

"I recognize the President took a difficult step in trying to heal the wounds of a divisive war," the governor said, "but I would have rather seen a case - by - case review. Twenty-four months would not be adequate in some cases."

Similar feelings had earlier been expressed by state Veteran Affairs Director Robert Edwards, who acknowledged that while resisters are being given a chance to resume normal lives in the United States through the plan, the men who died during the war "weren't given a chance, were they?"

Bond agreed with other state Republican leaders that he has seen some slippage in Republican support in Missouri since Ford's pardon of his predecessor Richard Nixon 10 days ago.

"Quite a number are disturbed by the individual actions of the President," the governor said. But he contended pardon dissatisfaction would only directly effect the President's popularity. It will have a lesser effect on GOP congressional candidates and little effect on state office candidates, he indicated.

On state issues, the governor said he is awaiting the final submission of information from his Department of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing before making any decisions concerning the state's 8 per cent interest ceiling on long-term loans, the lowest in the nation.

He said, however, that a special legislative session to raise the ceiling has not been ruled out as an answer to the problem, which many have claimed has dried up the home-buiding market in the state.

The departmental inquiry into the problem, ordered by Bond, concludes Friday with a hearing in Kansas City.

At the opening of the news conference, Bond issued his fourth "report to the taxpayers" concerning the operations of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations.

Department Director Geoffrey McCarron said he plans to appoint a broad-based committee, of possibly 10 members, to review the operations of the state Board of Mediation and make recommendations for giving the board expanded responsibilities.

While not stating what the new responsibilities might be, McCarron indicated that the board should be given some authority to mediate bargagining disputes between public employes and management.

Low numbered plates case goes to appeals court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state's effort to eliminate the tradition of lownumbered auto license plates has gone from the circuit court of Cole County to the state Supreme Court and now to the state Court of Appeals in Kansas City.

The Supreme Court's Division One transferred the case Tuesday to the Kansas City court, upholding the contention of Walter McQuie that the high court did no have original appeals jurisdiction unless it decided the case involved revenue laws.

McQuie represents John and Dorothy Van Dyke of Montgomery City, who won a Cole County Circuit Court decision saying they can retain their license number, 1-248, which they have had since 1948.

Their suit, filed after Revenue Director James Spradling announced plans to discontinue numbers 1 through 9,999, was based on the license plate law which says the revenue director must assign a number to applicants and they are entitled to keep that number when they sell their vehicle.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond criticized the low number plates as a symbol of special favors and vetoed in 1973 a bill allowing "personalized" plates for an extra fee.

Spradling has said that while the circuit court decision stands, he will continue to renew the low numbers.

He has No. 7 on his official car but his private No. 7 has been given to U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor, R-Mo., of the 7th Congressional District. Five of the state Supreme Court judges have plates with four or less digits.

Richard Weiler of the attorney general's office argued that letting the circuit court decision stand would mean that all of the 2 million or so persons holding noncommercial license plates could demand that they keep their present license numbers.

This would cost about $4 million, depleting revenue of the Highway Commission, because the plates would have to be indexed, filed and mailed, he said.

At present, persons obtain their license plates at random from the Revenue Department branch offices.

McQuie argued that state law says the right to use a particular number does not expire upon the end of the registration period. He said the law calls for new plates, but not new numbers, to be issued every year.

He cited several references in a 1939 law which says the revenue director shall assign the license plate number to an individual.

While the law does not say specifically that license numbers are to be assigned on a permanent basis, it says numbers shall be assigned, and has this phrase:

Except that a set of plates for commercial vehicles shall not be assigned on a permanent basis."

The language was retained when the law was changed in 1947 to have permanent plates, with a tab covering the registration year; in 1951 when the revenue director was allowed to change the registration periods, and in 1969 when the state returned to issuing new plates every year.

Spradling says he favors going back to multiple-year plates to save money.

Farmers group to have adequate monetary funds

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — By the end of this week, the National Farmers Organization will have enough money to meet its obligations, including loans payable to members, NFO President Oren Lee Staley predicts.

He said that nearly $1 million in additional commitments to the NFO were phoned to the home office here Tuesday.

"The folks who contributed over $5 million to the NFO at our emergency meeting for action in Des Moines obviously got busy immediately when they got home and obtained further dues payments, contributions, loan forgiveness and donations from other sources," said Staley.

The Securities Exchange Commission has charged the NFO with fraud and deceit for accepting $8 million in loans, mostly from members, without taking in enough dues to repay those loans.

The SEC also claims the NFO did not tell farmers who loaned money all the outstanding obligations the organization has.

A hearing on the charges was to be held Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Des Moines.

NFO members from throughout the nation gathered together in Des Moines Monday and were told the NFO needed $10 million to remain alive.

The NFO contends there would be no case against the organization if the SEC would recognze as assets more than $42 million in uncollected dues, dating back several years.

Approximately $2.4 million in delinquent dues has been collected since the SEC took its original action, Staley claimed.

The SEC also charged the NFO was not capable of repaying its members, while Staley countered the NFO could more than meet its debt by collection of unpaid dues.

Cox awarded $1,500 in 'suit on a bet'

CHARLESTON — A Circuit Court jury Monday ruled in favor of L. R. Cox of Charleston and awarded him $1,500 damages in his "suit on a bet" brought against Viverette Lee of Charleston after deliberating about two hours and 20 minutes.

The suit was filed Aug. 31, 1973 in Magistrate Court by Cox, who charged that on or about Oct. 30, 1972, he made a bet with Lee and Delmar Alcorn of Bertrand as to the true identity of the writer of certain writings in a notebook.

Alcorn alleged that Lee had written in the book, a fact which Lee disputed. Cox and Alcorn then bet Lee $1,500 each that Lee was the writer. The men then wrote out checks totaling $1,500 each and gave them to Eugene Wade of Charleston as stake holder.

The suit then charged that before the real facts had been determined as to whether Lee had written in the notebook, Lee and Alcorn went to Wade and said the bet had been called off. Alcorn's check was returned to him and torn up. Alcorn reportedly then notified Cox that the bet had been called off and repudiated, and informed him that he had received his checks back and had torn them up.

The suit further states that on Nov. 9, 1972, Lee cashed three checks signed by Cox.

Witnesses in Monday's trial were Oarmen McKinley, Delmar Alcorn, Don French, Eugene Wade and Owen Stader.

Three dissolution of marriage decrees granted Monday by Judge Marshall Craig included: Mary Ann Linley and Gary Lewis Linley, with Mrs. Linley receiving custody of one child and $20 per week for child support; Peggy Jo Pry and Dewey J. Pry, with custody of two children awarded to Mrs. Pry, along with a total of $75 per week for child support; and James Edward Snowden and Evelyn Sue Snowden, with custody of one child awarded to Mrs. Snowden and $15 a week for child support.

In turning down the request, the commission decided it would be too expensive for the city to take care of the land which is of no use to the city.

The commission tabled a request by Charles Ainsworth, 600 Allen Blvd., that a vacant lot owned by the city on Allen Boulevard be deeded to him. Ainsworth has said he would like to take care of the property and plant tress on it.

Cards' pitching, hitting, running topple Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lithe, lean Lou Brock has just slid into the No. 2 spot on baseball's all-time stolen base list, but he seemed surprised that he had drawn a swarm of reporters.

"Why me? Go see Gibson, Hrabosky, Simmons ...," he said with a puzzled smile after helping the St. Louis Cardinals edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 13 innings Tuesday night.

True, Brock alone hadn't given the Cardinals their sixth win in a row and sent the Pirates to their sixth straight loss, and Brock alone hadn't boosted St. Louis 2 1/2 games ahead of runner-up Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Yet it was he who had scored the winning run after his second stolen base of the game.

The score was 1-1 into the 13th when Brock lined a single to left. It was his first hit of the game off Pirate lefty Jerry Reuss, who lost despite a startto-finish eight-hitter.

"The only foolproof way to stop Brock is to keep him off base," Reuss said later.

Brock had reached base twice previously. In the third he had been caught stealing. In the 10th he had stolen second to extend his own single season record to 108.

No. 109 came neatly and cleanly in the 13th inning after Reuss had made six straight tosses to first.

It was his 744th career steal, one more than former base thief Eddie Collins, whose 1930 retirement came nine years before Brock was born.

"I was fatigued in the 13th, but I was able to read Reuss' body movement and get a good jump," said Brock.

"Even if they had pitched out they wouldn't have gotten me," he added.

After stealing second, Brock took third on a sacrifice bunt by Ted Sizemore and trotted home with the winning run when Ted Simmons belted a sacrifice fly to the warning track in left.

That one run was enough because Cardinals starter Bob Gibson and reliever Al Hrabosky combined for a no-hitter over the final 9 2-3 innings.

The 38-year-old Gibson allowed a solo homer by Al Oliver in the first, but he checked the Pirates over the next eight innings.

Hrabosky, who pitched the final four innings to raise his record to 7-1, drew loud boos because of his penchant for stepping off the mound to psyche himself.

"I walk off the mound and turn my back to the batter to give myself confidence," Hrabosky explained from behind a dark moustache.

"Tonight was the first time I got booed and I liked it," added the Cardinal lefty, who has allowed just one earned run in his last 26 appearances.

"Let them boo," he added with a devilish grin. "I hate people anyway. I think a relief pitcher has to hate people.

"I'm talking basically when I'm on the mound," he added.

"We've always felt we had the best club," said Hbrabosky. "But the Pirates are a good club and they're not going to fold. We have to keep on winning."

League battles top prep grid

SEMO high school football moves into the third week of play this Friday night as the conference race opens in each division.

Last week was the final warmup for all teams in preparation for the upcoming conference season.

Sikeston had their trouble with the big boys from the big city of Kansas City but the season should get easier as the Bulldogs will hardly be facing any teams as big as Farmington or Lillis in the conference. The Bulldogs will be traveling to Perryville to take on the school that coach Terry Smith came from and built a fine football program. Sikeston will be looking for their first win over the Pirates in the last five years.

Dexter surprised Jackson 31-21, last week and Friday night coach Clyde Vaughn's Bearcats will begin to defend their Southern Division championship against Portageville at home. The PHS Bulldogs were the victims of the Charleston Bluejays last week at Charleston as the "Big" plays did them in.

The Big conference game in the Northern Division will be at Kennett where the Poplar Bluff Mules invade the Indians. The Mules edged Springfield Glendale 20-15 last week and seem to have things going right after an opening loss to Fox. Kennett shutout Malden 13-0 to tuneup for the contest. Jackson will travel to Ste. Genevieve for a non- conference bout before their conference season opens up nex week. Jackson had their hand s full in their loss to Dexter last week.

Hazelwood visits Cape Central in a big city battle. The Tigers aren't as strong this season as in the past five and will be having their troubles when the conference season begins for the Bengals.

Caruthersville takes on Southern Division rival Hayti after taking last week off. The HHS Indians romped over hapless South Pemiscot 38-0. This battle is always a close one no matter who is favored.

Illmo- Scott City travels to Malden in a non-conference battle. The Rams almost had their 19 game winning streak ended last Friday night at East Prairie but came from behind in the second half to win their 20th straight over a three year period.

The East Prairie Eagles travel to Chaffee to take on the Red Devils in a conference game. Chaffee took a tough loss last week to St. Vincent's of Perryville.

Doniphan visits Potosi for a big non- conference game. The Dons are hoping to whip the big Potosi team.

The Charleston Bluejays will be taking on St. Vincent's of Perryville at Perryville Friday night. The Bluejays will be showing St. Vincents plenty of speed and a good passing game.

SHS's Rob Newman (44) brings down Kansas City Lillis halfback in game Saturday night at Public Schools Stadium. The Bulldogs took a 14-13 loss from the Kansas City power, the teams second straight one point loss this season and third straight in a three year span.

Goose biologists are beginning to learn where the Canada geese that migrate through Missouri nest on Canada's Hudson's Bay, and how to predict what success the birds will have. The studies should enable the goose experts to set seasons that benefit both hunters and geese.

Goose guessing being refined

JEFFERSON CITY — Setting the Canada goose hunting regulation always has been a case of taking the best available information (which is limited), combining with a sixth sense, taking a deep breath and letting fly.

It has worked well. But if current studies in the far northern tundra pay off, the flock of Canada geese that migrates through Missouri each autumn will have its health measured before it ever leaves Mr. Hudson's Bay.

Missouri is one of several states cooperating in the program which is designed, first, to delineate the eastern prairie population's nesting site and, second, to figure out a method of determining productivity from an annual survey.

If waterfowl biologists can combine the known northward migrating flock of adults with an accurate estimate of young produced, they can design a fall hunting regulation that will offer hunters the maximum opportunity without cutting into the post- season flock population considered minimum.

"We've pretty well pinned a majority of the birds to about a 5,000 square mile area of the tundra along Hudson's Bay from Churchill to York Factory and inland maybe 20 miles," says Ken Babcock, waterfowl biologist with the Department of Conservation.

"The ideal is to have a north migrating flock of about 200,000 birds, and we feel we should have that next spring. They settle into an area of 60,000 square miles -- but more than 70 per cent of them nest in 10 per cent of that area."

There's not much that can be done to increase survival, for the conditions that affect mortality of young geese are not those that, for example, plague ducks.

Ducks suffer more from loss of habitat than anything else -- draining of marshlands -- and the obvious solution is to provide more marshlands, something that the federal government and private groups such as Ducks Unlimited have been doing.

But the geese nest in uninhabited tundra and weather appears to be the largest mortality factor. "We've always felt the week before and the week after hatch is the most critical," Babcock says.

"Our limited observations indicate that the birds tend to lose whole broods, rather than having them picked off one at a time by something. They either raise what they hatch — or they don't raise any at all."

The average brood size to flight stage over the last five years was 2.5, down somewhat from the best years because of late springs. "We've found that late springs result in smaller clutch size and less productivity," Babcock says.

On the other hand, the number of nesting females in 1974 was up 14 per cent from 1973 and that should help offset the lower average broods.

Part of the problem in studying the nesting birds is their extreme wariness, Rich Malecki, a University of Missouri graduate student, and George Seek, an area assistant at Shell- Osage Wildlife Area are two of the team involved in the productivity study.

"They tell me that they frequently put field glasses on geese a half mile away and see them running as hard as they can go," Babcock says.

"These birds have been to school. They've had contact with man before."

Now waterfowl biologists are going to bird school themselves and the result, hopefully, will be one on which hunters and geese both thrive.

Baseball for CHS

CARUTHERSVILLE

The Caruthersville high school may have baseball as a spring sport for the first time in the school's history when baseball season rolls around in 1975.

The school has never had baseball due to the lack of playing facilities. But as a result of the England Park improvement program, Kiwanis Field has been renovated and the dimensions for a baseball diamond has been added.

At the recent meeting of the school board, the issue was discussed but no action taken.

"We feel it would be a good thing," Superintendent of Schools Carl Hutchison said. "For that reason we are checking into the matter more fully."

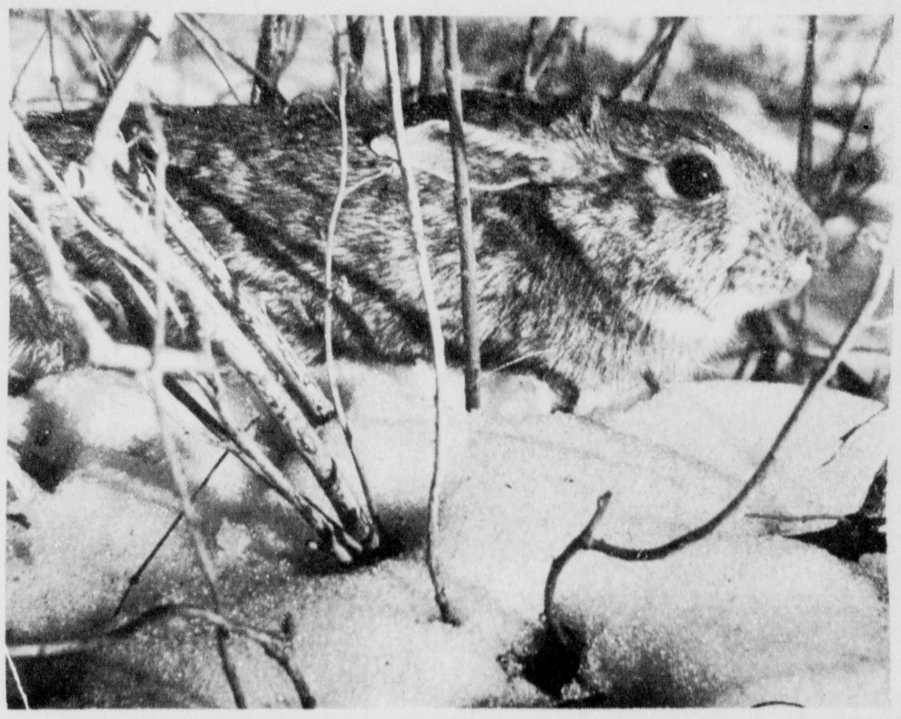
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A group of investors headed by William Pease of New York City bought controlling interest in the World Football League's Jacksonville Sharks, a team official said.

TENNIS

ORLANDO, Fla. — U. S. Open champion Billie Jean King defeated Ann Kiamura 62, 4-6, 6-0 in first-round action of a $50,000 women's professional tennis tour stop.

LOS ANGELES — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors survived a first-round scare from unseeded Mal Anderson to win 7-5, 5-7, 76 in the $100,000 Pacific-Southwest tennis championship.



Rabbit prospects for the upcoming season are "cautiously optimistic" according to Ken Sadler, Department of Conservation rabbit biologist. Although population surveys showed little increase from last year, Sadler thinks weather conditions kept rabbits from being seen. The season is Oct. 1 — Feb. 15, with a daily limit of six, possession limit of 12.

Repayment agreement is reached

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Agreement has been reached between the state Highway Commission and the state treasurer's office on repayment of nearly $21 million in interest earned from invested highway funds.

Although the deal has not been officially closed, Treasurer James I. Spainhower said Tuesday it was only a matter of his formally notifying the highway department of his acceptance.

"The Highway Commission offered to settle on a four-year payback period and I have verbally agreed with them to do so," Spainhower said when reached by telephone at a meeting in St. Joseph.

Under provisions of the plan, agreed to by the six-member commission Aug. 14 and transmitted to Spainhower's office a week later through the attorney general's office, four annual payments would be made beginning this December to repay the $20,947,286 in interest that had been mistakenly deposited in the state's general revenue fund between September 1967 and this June. The first payment will total $5,242,286 and the remaining three payments will each be $5,235,000.

Resolution of the issue concludes the controversy which began early this year with the state Supreme Court's decision that the interest earned on invested road fund money must be redeposited in the road fund and that interest put in general revenue over the seven year period would have to be repaid.

Although there had been some suggestion that the entire $21 million would have to be repaid in a lump sum, which Gov. Christopher S. Bond said would place the state in a financial crisis, there appeared to be little doubt that some agreement would be reached on a time-repayment plan.

Members of both the House and Senate appropriations committees, who are charged with watching the state's budget, had initially supported a seven-year repayment plan while the highway commission proposed a three-year program. Spainhower had suggested that a five-year plan would work out best. The four-year proposal came, officials said, after discussions concerning a compromise.

Division of Accounting Director W. J. Raftery, in his fiscal statement for August, said interest from invested highway funds is still being deposited in the general revenue fund because procedures have not been implemented to allow it to go directly into the state road fund.

"A method is being developed by the state treasurer and the highway department which will permit interest received to be allocated to the appropriate accounts during the month in which it is received," Raftery said. "It is estimated that this transfer will be made prior to Sept. 30, 1974."

The total amount of interest earned on highway funds for July, August and September and to be transfered to the state road fund would not exceed $1 million, Spainhower said.

Pension law seeks to aid plan problems

By STUART SYMINGTON
U.S. Senator—Missouri

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The first significant legislation to regulate private pension plans and to protect the pmsion benefits of employes has been passed by Congress and is now public law.

This legislation seeks to respond to problems that have arisen in private pension plans. For instance, bankruptcies and mergers sometimes have resulted in loss of workers' pension rights.

Many Missourians had written to me to report that despite many years of employment under pension plans on which they had counted, it would be difficult for them to obtain retirement benefits.

To help remedy some of these problems, I cosponsored the pension protection bill.

The new law does not require businesses to provide pension plans for their employes, but it does set standards to be met by employers who now have or any extablish such retirement programs.

Some 35 million Americans are now covered under private pension plans. This law is an important step toward assuring them and millions of workers in the future that their pensions will be protected and that their pension programs will be equitable.

Small Business Seminar — Nine federal agencies will co-sponsor a conference on government assistance to small business Sept. 30-Oct. 1, 1974 at the Plaza Inn in Kansas City, Mo. The Small Business Administration is coordinating the meeting in conjunction with the Departments of Commerce, Defense, Housing and Urban Development, Labor, the Environmental Protection Agency, Federal Energy Administration, General Services Administration and Internal Revenue Service.

The conference was organized to answer questions and inform amal business of the services offered by these agencies; services which can assist in business development, expansion or management. A $15 registration fee covers the price of admission to all activities, including two luncheon meetings and 24 "how to do it" Seminars.

Inquiries should be sent to the Small Business Administration, 911 Walnut, Room 2300, Kansas City, Mo. 64106, phone (816) 374-5288.

State Highway Department fails to use money

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state Highway Department has failed to make use of millions of dollars in interest-free federal loans, causing either delays in construction projects or loss of interest on state funds that could have been invested, according to state Auditor John Ashcroft.

"During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1974, approximately 30 million was expended by the department for regular right-of-way acquisition using state funds and partial reimbursement by the federal government," an audit report on the highway department released Tuesday, stated.

But the report noted that in 1973, the highway department told the federal government to redistribute $1.2 million it had been given in interest-free advance right-of-way loans, which did not have to be repaid for seven years, and that in fiscal 1974 the department did not even apply for such loans, whose repayment period had been extended to 10 years.

"Had all available interest-free funds under the advance federal right-of-way revolving fund been used, the department would have had additional funds to do even more construction work in the state, or could have earned additional interest on state funds invested by the state treasurer," the report stated. The audit covered a two-year period through June 1973.

Ashcroft recommended the department take full advantage of the federal loan program in the future and also in the 43-page report called for better use of other federal funds, improved staffing and policies in the internal review and auditing section and strengthened property control.

The report said nearly $9 million in federal funds for highway use "were unnecessarily tied up" for as long as six years, recommending release of such monies as quickly as possible so new projects can begin at an earlier date.

That situation appeared to result from lack of coordination of those funds, the report noted.

Williams inspires new league

By EARL HENDERSON
MAN WITH FORESIGHT

Sikeston, a town of approximately 15,000 people, has numerous outstanding men, but a newcomer, had the desire, fortitude, ambition, conviction of self, dedication to youth, and the can- do- attitude to push these convictions till someone listened and the community now has a Little League football program.

Floyd Williams, originally from Mariana, Ark., and more recently from Scottsboro, Ala., was this man.

Floyd knew nothing of Sikeston's great football years. He only knew that his son Vince, Mark Henderson and Randy Bohannan who played little league football in other communities, had nothing to do but be a spectator, and being a spectator wasn't enough for these boys.

Knowing the importance of physical activity for boys like Vince and others, Floyd Williams wanted to do something, and like so many of us, he didn't day - dream, he like so many men- of - action, did something about it.

Floyd met a man — Clem Beal — of the Bank of Sikeston, and convinced Clem that he had a good idea. Mr. Beal arranged to speak before the Sikeston JC's about Floyd's proposal. Clem talked and Floyd answered

JC'S ACCEPT CHALLENGE

No organization is 100% for anything — JC's no exception, but with men like Robb Mitchell and Charles Blumenberg on Floyd's side, to push and fight for the league, how could the JC's resist?

Robb and Chuck pushed Clem and Floyd's proposal and the JC's not only took on the management of the league but sponsored one of the four teams in the league. It was decided that in this first year the league would consist of sixth and seventh graders with four 25 man teams.

The JC's appointed a committee to organize the league. Robb Mitchell and Charles Blumenberg were the co-chairmen. Members were: Phil Boyer, Dane Lair, Dennis Ziegenhron, Eric Piel and Steve Sikes.

Charles Blumenberg revised the little league rules of Scottsboro, Alabama, to conform to the general purposes of this league, which are:

1. Provide boys an opportunity for fun and enjoyment through a football program.
2. Teach boys football skills and techniques.
3. Practice good sportsmanship and physical fitness.

Phil Boyer arranged for practice and game fields along with lining up officials. Dane Lair is secretary- treasurer and arranged the schedules. Eric Piel and Scott Mathews were in charge of publicity. Clem Beal acquired the sponsors who in turn gave money to the JC's to purchase equipment for 100 boys.

Steve Sikes arranged for Sikes Sporting Goods Company to purchase the best equipment possible for sale to the league at cost. The players purchased their own shoes and mouth- pieces and the league furnished the rest. The retail price of the equipment would be close to $50.00 per player. Safety- being a prime factor in the league, was kept in mind in selection of equipment.

LEAGUE ORGANIZATION

The league formulated rules and by-laws under which to operate. A nine member commission, of which five are JC's, and one from each team, are charged with the operation of the league. At this time the only names available are those of the JC's: Robb Mitchell, Charles Blumenberg, Eric Piel, Dane Lair and Phil Boyer.

The commissioners are charged with the responsibility to see that the rules and by-laws are carried out by each coach, player and parent, and to rule on any infraction.

The league had two basic ideas when formed: One- Everybody gets to play and second - there would be no tryouts.

Idea one is enforced in the rules by the third quarter rule which states that the eleven most inexperienced players will play all the third quarter. Idea two is also in the rules. The complete rules and by laws, along with the purpose of the league are stated below in their entirety.

LEAGUE RULES

GENERAL PURPOSE OF LEAGUE:

The purpose of this league is to provide a recreational football program with major emphasis upon fun and enjoyment for young boys interested in playing and learning the skills of football. Major emphasis of this league is to:

1. Provide boys an opportunity for fun and enjoyment through a football program.
2. Teach boys football skills and techniques.
3. Practice good sportsmanship and physical fitness.

The program will always promote safety -- first play by encouraging only programs with strict controls over age, weight, equipment and proper behavior of participants, adult coaches and spectators.

LIABILITY:

The Sikeston J. C. Little League Football, League, Officers, Sponsors, Coaches, Managers, Referees or any other Supervisory Personnel are not responsible for injuries to person or damage to property. This is entirely the responsibility of persons participating, such as players, coaches, managers, officials, parents and spectators -- All of whom participate at their own risk.

PRACTICE:

More than three players of the same team on the field with a coach from the same team will be called a practice. It shall be the duty of the Commission to investigate all complaints and determine if there has been a violation of the practice rule and take action according.

If a player misses practice for any reason, he must, at the discretion of the coach, bring a written excuse from his parents before resuming practice again. All boys must play in every game. If for some reason a coach feels he should bench a boy, he must notify the Commission before the game in writing, expressing the reasons. The decision will be made by the Commission, and must be implemented.

Unlimited practices per week will be allowed until school starts, but no longer than two two- hour sessions per practice. After school starts, two two - hour practices per week and one game, or three practices will be OK if there is no game scheduled that week. No practice will run longer than two hours or will run later than seven o'clock P.M.

Violation of this rule or any other rule set forth in the By-Laws and the Constitution of this department will mean the suspension of that coach in violation from the league immediately upon a majority vote of the Commission. If the Commission feels that the other coaches of the league should vote on the matter they will be allowed to vote only after a majority vote of the Commission. It shall be the responsibility of the Commission to see that each head coach is furnished with a set of rules and regulations at the beginning of each season. This is in no way to be used to exempt the coach of his responsibilities to the league.

No player will be allowed to participate in any one scheduled game without at least two two- hour practices. Failure to abide by this rule will mean an automatic forfeit for that team in which this player participated in.

It will be illegal for any person to participate in any practice helped by a coach in this league without a permission - to - play slip (liability slip). This slip must be on file with the Commission. Failure to do so will mean a forfeit to that team on the up-coming game. All liability slips must be on file with the commission of each individual player prior to his first practice. Penalty for not abiding by this rule will mean a forfeit for that team in which that individual player dressed out.

Before the season starts, scrimmage games will be allowed; but not to exceed four eight- minute quarters.

STARTING LINE-UPS:

Starting line-ups must be printed or typed complete with name, jersey No. and position. Any teams' line-up or roster can be changed by the Commission. If upon detection that the intent of the third quarter rule has been violated by person or persons a coach may have starting. This change can be done with or without the approval of the head coach. All starting line-ups must be turned into the press box to the third quarter director five (5) minutes prior to starting of game. In case a coach does not have his line-up in on time there will be a ten (10) yard penalty for delay of game; no decision or discussion will be necessary. The time- keeper will notify the official of this penalty. If in case the starting line-up is not as states above, that teams' coach will correct the lineup and will be charged with a delayed penalty.

GROUND RULE SAFETY PROPOSAL:

1. Bull in the ring shall not be done.
2. Scramble for the ball shall not be done.
3. Head-on tackling shall not be done at a distance of more than four (4) yards. Weight balance within a few pounds will be observed.
4. Beware of exhustion of the child.
5. Burma road shall not be done.
6. Wind sprints shall be limited to three (3) each of not more than forty (40) yards each. Laps are limited to one of not more than one hundred (100) yards per practice.
7. Duck walk plus any other exercise that causes total (maximum) bending of joints shall not be done.

PLAYER LIMITS PER TEAM:

Each coach should file with Commission his completed roster prior to the first scheduled game. No player can be added once the season has started, except when a team gets down below twenty- five boys, and then the players will be assigned by the Commission by written notice to that head coach with name of player, age, team to be assigned to, permission to be assigned to that team, and signed by the Commission. Without this information he cannot be accepted.

MEMBERSHIP

Any boy meeting the requirements as to age, weight, and residence as set forth shall be eligible for participation. The Commission shall have the authority to suspend, discharge or otherwise discipline any member, coach, player or other person whose conduct is considered as detrimental to the best interests of the association.

Members of the Commission shall, upon evidence of misconduct of any boy, notify the coach of the team of which the boy is a member within twenty- four (24) hours of the act. The said coach shall appear, in the capacity of an advisor, with the boy before at least three (3) members of the commission within three (3) days of the act, for appropriate action.

LEAGUE CHAMPIONS AND AWARDS:

League Champions will be determined by the team with the greatest number of wins. In case of a tie for a league championship, a playoff game will be scheduled to determine a winner. Should the playoff game end in a tie, the game will be determined by the penetration system.

The Sikeston J. C. Little League Football League will provide trophies to the League Champions and the runner-up in each league.

UNSPORTSMANLIKE CONDUCT:

Any player or coach whose conduct is unbecoming, who curses, is unsportsmanlike or in any way is ungentlemenly, stands to be put out of a game. The officials will report all such conduct to the Commissioner. Should the same individual be reported a second time, he will be brought before the Commission for disciplinary action which could mean suspension from the league.

PLAYER WEIGHT:

The estabilishment of player weight and control shall be as follows:

Age 11 - 12 - 13

PEE-WEE

1. No minimum weight.
2. Maximum weight shall be one hundred fifty- five (155), pounds during the second weight check.
3. No back in this league shall weight more than one hundred twenty (120) pounds.
4. There will be two (2) weight checks in this league as stated above.
5. Any boy weighing over one hundred fifty-five (155) pounds on the night of the second check will be dropped from the league.

ESTABLISHMENT OF WEIGHT:

1. Weights shall be based on a boy stripped, with the exception of playing shorts. Weighing of the boys in uniform is acceptable provided a suitable and consistent allowance is made for the uniform weight.

PUNT RULE:

In the Pee Wee League the high school rules will be in effect, with the exception after a punt the receiver will have a five (5) yard rule in effect to protect him. This five (5) yard rule will mean he the receiver will have five (5) yards to catch the ball before a defensemen can tackle the receiver. The purpose of this rule is to keep a man from getting hit as soon as he touches the ball.

Violation of this five (5) yard catch rule will mean a fifteen (15) yard penalty for the defensive team. This again will be a judgment call by the official and no way can it be protested.

KICK-OFF RULE

There will be kick-off's in the league this year. High School rules will be in effect on these kick-offs for the league. The only exception will again be the five (5) yard rule for the receiver to field the ball.

PEE-WEE LEAGUE:

Pee-Wee's will carry twelve (12) man roster and in case of an injured player the opposing coach will select this injured players replacement. In case a team has less than twenty- five (25) players, the opposing coach will select these or this player to participate in the third quarter. The Pee-Wee rule will be the same as stated in Part "C" of above Midget League, except it will be numbered as 13- 23 on the roster for third quarter team and, as last year, no Pee- Wee coach will enter onto the field.

No player starting the game on offense shall be permitted to play in third quarter on either league.

On the night of the third game, no coach will change his third quarter roster in the league for the remainder of the season. If in case of injury or a boy quits, the roster must be changed and it must be in writing in the form of a request and must be approved, in writing, for the commission.

PROTESTS:

Protests on matters of judgment as rendered by any official will not be considered. Protests of eligibility will be heard. Protests must be in writing and submitted to the Recreation Office no later than twenty- four (24) hours after termination of the game. The protest must be made known to one of the officials handling the game to the effect that the game is being played under protest. It will be up to the protesting team to furnish proof of guilt. Within twenty- four (24) hours after receipt of the written protest, the Recreation Director will select a protest board. The protest board, upon notice to the team managers of teams involved, shall conduct a hearing within forty- eight (48) hours after their appointment. The protest board shall render a decision on whether the protest shall be allowed, or not allowed, within six (6) hours after the hearing is closed.

Teams found guilty of using ineligible players not only lose the protested game, but violators are also subject to suspension from the league. No forfeit or replay will be allowed due to the conduct or a decision of any official, but teams may protest in writing to have said official appear before the board of directors for disciplinary action.

All protests must be filed with a ten ($10) Dollar deposit. If, in case the protest is up-held, that head coach will be refunded the ten ($10) Dollars without interest. If a coach protests a game during that game and informs the official the game is being played under a protest and after the game is over, he changes his mind as to the point that he no longer wants to protest the game, his ten ($10) dollars will be paid within the following three (3) days, meaning if you tell an official a game is being played under a protest you will pay ten ($10) dollars whether you decide to carry out the protest or not. If this ten ($10) dollars is not paid within three (3) days, this coach will be suspended from the league without any voting, meeting or discussion.

At no time will an assistant coach protest a game unless he has been appointed head coach for that game because of absenteeism of the official head coach. The head coach is the only person that can legally file a protest.

OFFICIALS:

All league games will be played with two (2) officials, one of which must be a "Journeyman" scheduled by the league secretary. No game will start without at least one official and then only when mutually agreed upon by both team coaches. League officials will report all undesirable situations to the Commission. Should fans or spectators at any time get out of hand or display conduct unbecoming to the league's reputation by booing players, parading up and down the side lines, or showing conduct detrimental to the game, the umpire will have the responsibility of informing the coach that should this conduct continue, he will penalize the team whose spectators are in question. Should this behavior continue, the official can penalize the team.

GAME

No team can go on first count, but can start on the second. Mouth pieces must be worn by each player in accordance with high school rules. There will be three (3) time outs per half. The coach will not go on to the field; Whereas, A team captain will be necessary in the league. The only exception for this rule to change be for an injured player; Whereas, the head coach is permitted to go on the field. Coach and players must stay inside thirty (30) yard line with teams' or on both sides of field. If both teams are on same side, each team will stay within fivteen and forty- five (15-45) yard line. Time between halves will be ten (10) minutes and between games fifteen (15) minutes. Failure to meet these times will be a cause for delay game penalty.

The team scheduled for next game cannot enter field area until the beginning of third quarter of the present game. The home team will warm up on the Northeast end and visiting team on the Southeast end. Both leagues will play six (6) minute quarters consisting of four (4) quarters.

COACHES

All coaches will keep their rosters up- to - date and on file with the Commission. If a coach has an inadequate file, as to the point he has one or more players participating without a liability slip on file with the Commission, the games these players dressed out for will be forfeited.

Head coaches are responsible for conduct of assistant coaches and players before, during and after the game. Each head coach will see to it that his team, upon entering the gate of the football field, will sit together before the game and will not allow running around. Coaches are responsible both before and after their games. In reference to this statement, any player whose conduct is unbecoming to his uniform will be reported to his coach. Upon such a report by the Commission, that coach will see to it that player is not dressed out at the next game. He must sit out for one game. If reported again, his uniform will be taken by that coach.

There shall be four coaches permitted per team for the training and direction of players. Any coach, whether head or assistant, who deliberately breaks any rule in this constitution, without just reason, will or can be dismissed from this football league.

All coaches, whether head or assistant, must be approved by Commission. This pertains to any help during practice, as well as, game. If an illegal coach, meaning a person not approved by the Commission, is used during practice or game this will mean a forfeit for this team in up- coming game or that game which this illegal coach participated it.

If for some reason a coach feels he should bench a boy, he must notify the Commission, prior to the game, in writing, expressing his reasons.

There is nothing in the constitution that states as assistant coach will automatically be head coach if a head coach quits or retires. All head coaches must be appointed on a year to year basis. No exception will be made to this. This also means assistant coaches as well, meaning although you may have coached last year, this does not mean that you will be able to be head or assistant coach this year without the approval of the Commisssion.

ROSTER:

After the night of the first game, all boys that participated in that first game or any boy issued equipment at later date and then dropped from that team roster for any reason the head coach of that team will file with the Commission within five (5) days after the player has been dropped or quit: Name of player, address of player, father's name of player, telephone number, and reasons, if known, for being dropped or quitting. Failure to do so in this time limit will mean a five (5) dollar fine to that head coach for each boy not reported. Failure to pay the fine will mean dismissal of that head coach. This penalty money will be used for the purpose of buying cokes for this team. This roster that has to be turned in within five (5) minutes to starting time should show a teams' first eleven (11) as 1 - 11 and third quarter team as 15 - 25. Failure to evaluate in this manner will mean a forfeit for that particular game for the use of illegal players. No excuses, will be heard for not abiding by this rule.

Remember that the third quarter team will be selected from bottom up. The most unskilled boy will be on the third quarter roster. If in case a team has less than twenty- five (25) players and has to use the same or the first eleven (11), the opposing coach will select this or these players to play in third quarter. Each team will be twenty-five (25) boys per team and will be maintained by assignment by the Commission. If it becomes necessary to add more to the twenty- five (25) man per team roster, the board will make the decision.

To repeat a statement pertaining to evaluation of the roster. This does not mean a boy that may be great on defense and poor on offense makes a third quarter player. We mean a boy that is unskilled both defensively and offensively for third quarter. League evaluation and line-up will be 1 - 12 best players; 15 - 25 will be your third quarter team and also repeating the statement, all boys over this will be noted as extras on the roster and can participate in any quarter except third quarter.

INJURED PLAYER:

Any boy injured in a ball game will be taken out of such ball game, within the judgment of the head official the boy's health or safety is in jeopardy. Any boy injured badly enough to need the care of a doctor must present a written statement to the coach before he can return to practice or play in a game.

If a player is taken out of the game or time out is called because of an injured player, this player must stay out for one play. Failure to keep him out for one play will mean a fifteen (15) yard penalty for that team. Explanation for injury meaning a coach having to call the out or an official having to call time out because of an injured player.

TEAM SPONSOR COMMENTS

1. Sikeston JC's: You cannot write enough about the JC's. Just read the purposes of the league. Anyone who believes in these ideals would want to sponsor a team.

2. Bank of Sikeston: Why involved? Ned Mathews said, "We realized the need the city has to get young people involved, and the need for a sponsor. We also like to support any worthwhile activity, and thought this was a good opportunity for young people."

3. National Lock: Gaylen Kruger of National Lock said, "Our company has an obligation to attempt and help promote the community, and little league football will not only do this, but will provide youth a recreational activity."

4. Sikeston Daily Standard: We were more than happy to sponsor a team, and hope that these young boys prosper from their experience and stay associated with the game throughout their life.

It's a great game and the experience they gain from this program should help them both mentally and physically, and hopefully give them the added and needed experience to stay with the sport throughout school.

Sikeston High School has been a dominant figure on the gridiron until recent years ... We hope this program will be a determining factor on returning the Bulldog's to the prominence they and the townspeople once enjoyed.

Winning in this league is only secondary, the sportsmanship and experience is the big thing. Although we would like to see The Daily Standard squad win the title. It's only natural though.

We look forward to the season and hope all the athletes stay with the program. Who knows ... maybe one of these young men will be yours and our next professional idols.

BULLDOG'S COACH INVOLVED

Head coach Terry Smith of the Sikeston Bulldog's was approached by the JC's to help with the league. Smith — totally committed to football — and already overworked and overloaded with his own football activities, graciously accepted the JC's challenge.

Smith met frequently with the coaches and JC's. Smith formulated a play book based on the plays the boy's would need when playing on the Junior High teams.

Smith is excited about this league. These boys if handled right by the coaches will be future Bulldog's. Coach Smith said, "I'll be glad to hold a football clinic next summer for the players and coaches, and help the coaches in anyway possible."

Smith knows what he's doing when he said, "I hope the coaches and parents look at this league in its right perspective, that is, these kids are inexperienced, and will not do well, and should not be expected to win always. Parent pressure on their kids to play well, when they don't have the ability at this time can cause them to quit football forever. This league should be child centered and not parent- coach centered."Thanks Coach Smith — Remember it's the boy's game, they will get along O.K.

LEAGUE COACHES COMMENTS

Qualifications that the league looked for in approving their coaches:

1. Interested in children.
2. Background in football.
3. An attitude to treat everyone equally, regardless of ability.

1. National Lock
Head coach: Floyd Williams
Ass't Coaches: Dr. Larry Lester DDS, Rev. Ed. Stephenson

Williams the league founder works for Clinton Construction Company as a field engineer. Williams said, "The boys are really enthused, and want to play football. Vince, Randy and Mark know what it's like to participate, and the other boys are eagerly awaiting the first game with the JC's."

2. Sikeston JC's
Head Coach: Steve Ferrell
Ass't coaches: Dennis Overby and Brian Montgomery

Steve Ferrell was an All- State tight- end for Sikeston in 1971, and holds the Bulldog's pass reception record. Steve volunteered to coach as soon as he heard about the league. Steve works for Ferrell Coal Co.

Steve said, "This league is great, it doesn't matter if you win, it's to teach the boys the basic fundamentals of football." Steve feels all his boys are learning fast and really want to play. His first eleven can run plays by themselves and the players have a good attendance record.

3. Daily Standard
Head coach: Ron Carmody
Ass't coach: Craig Hahs

Ron Carmondy was an All- State center in 1956 for the Bulldog's, and played one year at Southeast Missouri State University. Ron said, "Football is my sport, and volunteered to coach as soon as the league was announced." Ron has a terrific philosophy — That of the league. Ron told me that he was small as a freshman and if the coach would have told him he couldn't play because of his size, he would have quit forever. Ron had a smart coach then and made all-state for him. Ron believes in that type of philosophy. Every boy needs the opportunity to try.

Ron said, "This league will give our kids more of a jump in football before high school as compared to the other communities, and every coach has to keep in mind that everyone has to play and not to get down on these little boys. Our job is to teach fundaments, so the boy's can learn the sport. A boy must love contact and remember that football is a team sport and one boy can't do it alone."

4. Bank of Sikeston
Head coach: Ray Sanders
Ass't coach: Terry Williams

Ray Sanders works for United Parcel and when he saw the article in the Standard volunteered to coach. Ray played football in Jr. and Sr. high and two years in the Army as linebacker and offensive guard.

Ray's team is a little behind at this time through no fault of his. Most teams received their equipment and play books several weeks ago. Ray's team received their Sept. 6th and 7th. Ray is experiencing an attendance problem. Of 25 boys on the roster only 15 have never missed a practice. Some of these enthuisastic boys are his lesser ability boys now.

Anyone who can count to eleven can realize it takes 22 boys who attend regularly to scrimage and have regular positions. Come on Bank of Sikeston parents, if your boy wants to play football see that you get him to practice and if he doesn't want to play turn in his uniform and give another boy a chance.

Coach Sanders said he knows this league will help the high school in the future and likes the idea that everyone must play. and "if you lose every game, but the boy's grasp the fundamental ideas of football, the league will be worthwhile," he said.

PARENT- PLAYER COMMENTS

Mr. Clayton Bohannan said, "Fantastic! Best thing that happened in Sikeston, help high school in future, produce good football players for someone in the future. The kids play just as rough in the backyard, it's safer now."

Mr. Bill Ferrell said, "Good for the boys and future of Sikeston high school. Kids are getting in shape and looking good."

Joey Kyle said, "I like the league, like physical contact, fun - Don't like exericses - like to hit."

Paul Murphy said, "I like contact, wanted to play, wouldn't be doing anything now if it wasn't for football."

What's the law?

The case of the frightened passenger

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Frieda boarded a 747 jet airliner in anticipation of commencing her vacation. Instead of heading for a first-class resort, however, her destination soon looked like it might be a place of last resort.

The plane was hijacked and, notwithstanding the fact that the hijacking was ultimated squashed, Frieda was flattened by the experience. Certain that she was going to die and frightened half to death, she suffered a severe psychic trauma and sued the airline for damages.

"Under the law," argued the airline, "a person can only hold an airline liable when there is an accident and he suffers bodily injury. In this case, there was no accident and Frieda suffered only mentally."

"If I suffered no bodily injury," was Frieda's answer, "how come by body suffered so? And since the hijacking was unforeseeable and unexpected, it certainly could be considered an accident."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit frightened Frieda to collect for her hijacking experience?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge siding with Frieda, held that if a hijacking causes a passenger to suffer severe fright that manifests itself in an objective bodily injury, the injured passenger can collect damages sustained as a result of the injury, including damages for mental suffering.

COOKING-UP

The recipes for today's Cooking Up column were provided by Mrs. Pat Benney of Sikeston, chairman of the Delta Community branch of the Southeast Missouri Diabetes Association. Although the recipes are designed for diabetics, others will find them a treat, also.

The local chapter was formed March 17 of this year in Sikeston and serves the areas in and around Dexter, Poplar Bluff, Sikeston and Cape Girardeau.

Diabetes is a major personal and public health problem for which there is no cure or preventive. In the United States, it ranks as the fifth leading cause of death by disease, the second leading cause of new cases of blindness and is a major cause of heart attacks, strokes, high blood pressure, gangrene and kidney failure.

Conservatively estimated, there are now 4,400,000 diabetics in this country, of whom up to 1,600,000 have not yet been detected.

There is a widespread public misconception that diabetes was conquered more than 50 years ago when insulin was discovered ... Insulin was a major discovery and because of it many severe diabetics can control their condition and live longer, but complications of the disease are still a problem.

With proper care and control, most diabetics can lead a normal life.

The SeMo Diabetes Association was formed to further the general welfare and undertake in the public interest activities which will improve the wellbeing of people afflicted by the disease.

The name of the person who donated each recipe follows each recipe.

SPANISH MEAT LOAF

No starchy "filler" is added.
2 eggs
1-3rd cup milk
1 pound ground beef round
Small onion, minced
1 or 2 roasted peeled green chilies (from a 4-ounce can), seeded and minced
Medium clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried thyme
½ teaspoon salt
2 slices bacon

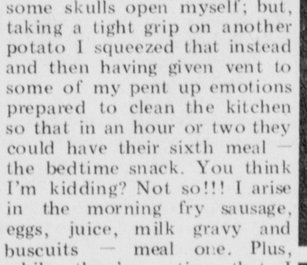
Beat eggs with milk until combined. Add all the remaining ingredients except the bacon; mix well; mixture will be very soft. Turn into the center of an ungreased 11 by 7 by 1½ inch baking pan or similar utensil; with a spatula, shape into a loaf that is about 8 by 6 inches. Place bacon crisscross over top, tucking in ends. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven for 1¼ hours. Let stand about 5 minutes before cutting. This meat loaf is moist but slices well. Any leftover is good sliced cold and used in a sandwich. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LIME PIE

It's so declisious that having to do some of the preparation just before serving is worth it.

4 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lime rind
¼ cup lime juice
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
9-inch baked flaky pie shell

Beat egg yolks, gradually adding ¼ cup of the sugar, until thick and pale colored; beat in lime rind and lime juice. Cook over hot but not boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover and cool. Just before serving, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until they hold stiff peaks; gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar until very stiff; fold into lime mixture. Turn into pie shell. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 15 minutes. Serve at once.



There's only one thing worse than having a fella out for football, and that's having two fellas out. They started this Pee Wee League this year just in time for Brete my sixth grader to sign up, and of course Lee who is a ninth grader had already gone out for this great fun but something else to worry mom half to death sport last year. I mean it's not bad enough that you have to lay awake nights thinking about broken necks, crushed kneecaps and teeth (especially now that you've put out a fortune on braces) knocked out, but the inconvenience of the thing is almost too much. A day or two ago as I was cooking my fifth meal for that particular day and was listening to Charles avidly discussing plays with the guys and they were all talking about how much fun they were having, well, I almost flew among them with the iron skillet and laid some skulls open myself; but, taking a tight grip on another potato I squeezed that instead and then having given vent to some of my pent up emotions prepared to clean the kitchen so that in an hour or two they could have their sixth meal — the bedtime snack. You think I'm kidding? Not so!!! I arise in the morning fry sausage, eggs, juice, milk gravy and buscuits — meal one. Plus, while they're eating that I make sandwiches and pack school lunches (and I wasn't even counting that as a meal). Then, at noon Charles comes home and I fix him a grilled ham and cheese and a piece of pie — meal two. At three - thirty Lee goes straight from school to football practice, but Brete who doesn't have practice till five thirty, comes home starved and since his practice won't be over until seven thirty, I have to feed him right then. Usually a couple of hamburgers, fried onions, chips and a piece of pie will tide him over till later — meal three. At six thirty Lee walks in the door with his stomach growling like a lion and then all of us except Brete sit down to a large dinner — however, it has to be a roast or something that will stay warm easily, because at seven thirty Brete is picked up starving from his practice and I must feed him his big dinner then — meal five. By now I am getting awfully tired of pots and pans, but no sooner do I get all washed and put away than I hear two male animals say, "How about another piece of pie mom, with maybe a pizza to go with it!" And as I open my mouth to make a rude remark I hear from the depths of his big easy chair where he has reclined all evening, "Say, fellas, wouldn't some brownies and milk taste good with that too?" No wonder I hate football so very-very much!!

Maybe you didn't know it, but Nescafé® is the largest selling brand of instant coffee in the world. And for good reason: flavor. Today's Nescafé has dark, hefty chunks that brew up into a rich, full-bodied flavor that really satisifies.

And when you compare Nescafé to a pound of ground roast, you'll see that Nescafé goes farther for your money, too. Take this coupon to your store before November 2nd and save even more now.

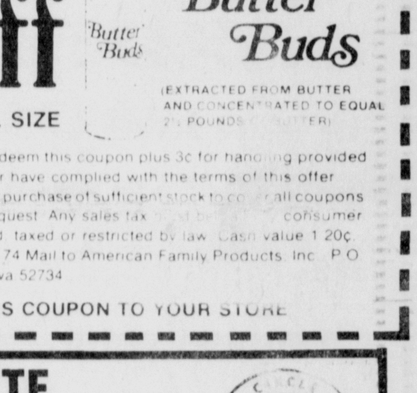
Butter Buds
Ends the fight between your taste and your waist.

New Butter Buds is the essence of rich butter flavor but not the cholesterol, calories, or fat. All the flavor of butter comes from just ½% of its bulk. We use that ½% in making Butter Buds—2 oz. contains the flavor strength of one pound of fresh butter with only 1% of the cholesterol and 6% of the calories.

In your grocer's dairy section.



And we'll put our money where our claims are . . .

PEANUT BUTTER BRAN MUFFINS—Good to pack in a back-to-school lunchbox and nutritious fare for the whole family.

Peanut butter goes to school

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Youngsters who take lunch to school will undoubtedly often carry along peanut-butter sandwiches to enjoy with a glass of milk.

That's all to the good because two peanut-butter sandwiches plus a glass of milk supply about three-quarters of the protein a school-age child needs every day.

On a day when a sandwich is of another variety, tuck in a couple of Peanut Butter Bran Muffins. These, unlike most other muffins, are good cold as well as hot from the oven.

PEANUT BUTTER BRAN MUFFINS

- ¾ cup flour, fork-stir to aerate before measuring
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup ready-to-eat whole bran cereal
- 1 cup regular or skim milk
- ½ cup creamy or chunk-style peanut butter
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup raisins

Grease 12 medium-size muffin-pan cups (each 2½ by 1¼ inches).

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder and salt.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the bran and milk to moisten bran.

In a medium mixing bowl cream peanut butter, butter and sugar; add egg and beat until blended. Beat in bran mixture. Stir in raisins. Add flour mixture and stir only until flour is dampened. Fill muffin-pan cups 2-3rds full.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — 25 minutes. With a small metal spatula, loosen edges and remove; serve hot. Or remove muffins to wire racks to cool and serve cold — in this case store muffins in a tightly covered tin box.

Makes 12.

Add variety to breakfast

Breakfast menus may seem limited, but there are a wide variety of foods that can be enjoyed at breakfast. Try these frozen French toast breakfast sandwiches and add variety to breakfast while surprising the family.

Frozen French toast makes great sandwiches

FRENCH TOASTED MEAT 'N CHEESE SANDWICHES
Makes 3 sandwiches

One 9-oz. pkg. frozen French toast
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- Dash curry powder
- 6 slices Cheddar cheese
- 3 slices cooked chicken or ham

Place French toast on cookie sheet or foil. Heat in preheated hot oven (400°F.) about 8 minutes. Remove from oven. Combine mayonnaise, mustard and curry powder; spread on toast. Top 3 toast slices with 1 slice cheese, 1 slice chicken and 1 more slice cheese. Cover with remaining 3 toast slices, spread side down. Return to preheated oven (400°F.) an additional 4 to 5 minutes or until cheese is melted.

BREAKFAST SANDWICHES
Makes 3 sandwiches

- 6 slices bacon

One 9-oz. pkg. frozen French toast
- 2 tablespoons creamy or chunk-style peanut butter
- 2 bananas, thinly sliced

Pan-fry bacon until crisp; drain on absorbent paper. Prepare French toast in toaster or oven according to package directions. Spread 1 teaspoon peanut butter on each toast slice. Cover 3 toast slices with sliced banana. Top with 2 bacon slices. Cover with remaining 3 toast slices, peanut butter side down.

Try these special pancakes

BLUEBERRIES AND CREAM PANCAKES

- 1½ cups pancake mix
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 1 and 1-3rd cups milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
- 8-ounce container sour cream
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Fresh blueberries, sweetened if desired

Stir together the mix, lemon rind, milk, eggs and butter until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto a hot lightly greased griddle; when covered with bubbles and edges look cooked, turn; brown other side. Stir together sour cream, sugar and lemon juice. Place 2 pancakes on each serving plate; top with sour cream and blueberries. Makes 12 pancakes

House resolutions commend state 4-H

COLUMBIA — Three resolutions commending 4-H in Missouri were adopted by the Missouri House of Representatives during the September session of the 77th General Assembly.

Introduced by Ed Bohl of Harrisonville, representative from the 115th District, the resolutions first commended 4-H members and volunteer leaders on the 60th anniversary of the founding of 4-H in Missouri.

The first 4-H clubs in the state were organized in Iron County in 1914, according to Frank Graham, director of extension youth programs at University of Missouri-Columbia.

Other resolutions commended the Missouri International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) program and the Missouri 4-H Foundation, both celebrating 25th anniversaries this year.

"Since 1949, the Missouri IFYE program has sent 89 former 4-H members abroad to 38 countries and has had 162 exchanges from 48 nations visit here," Graham said.

The Missouri 4-H Foundation was established Oct. 10, 1949, as a non-profit educational corporation through which private citizens, organizations and businessmen could support the Missouri 4-H program.

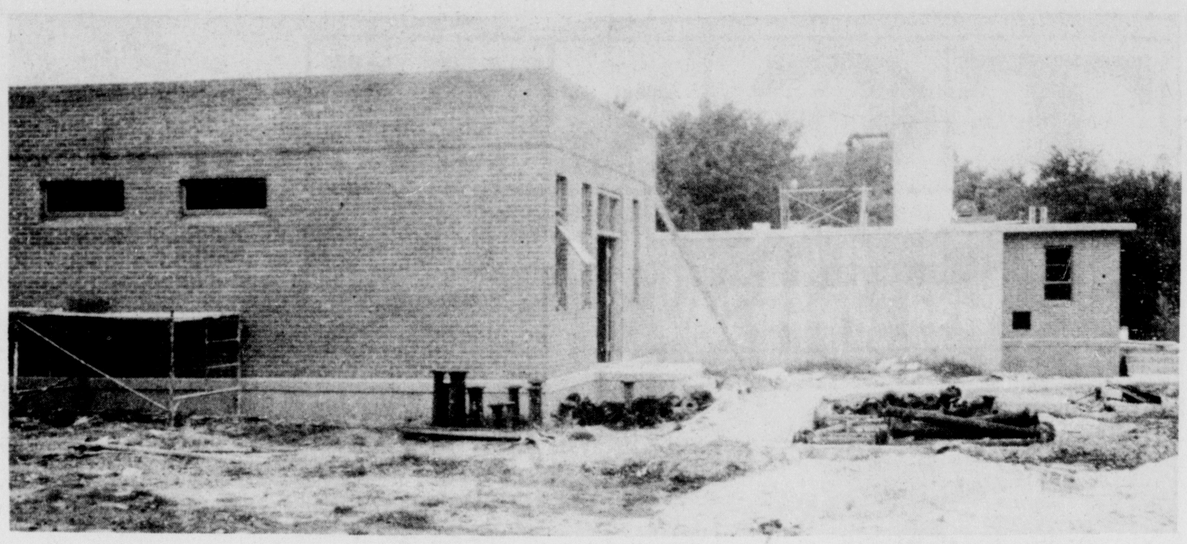
Bohl, a former 4-H club member, IFYE delegate to Australia and extension youth specialist in Cass County, was also instrumental in arranging the proclamation of October as 4-H Month in Missouri by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Four-H programs in Missouri are administered by the University of Missouri Extension Division through local extension centers in all of the state's 114 counties, Graham said.

"About 52,000 boys and girls in Missouri are currently enrolled in 4-H programs," he said, "and nearly 15,000 adult leaders are volunteering their time."

Plant takes shape

Bloomfield's new $250,000 water treatment plant is beginning to take shape as construction work progresses. Mayor J. C. Newcomer said construction is expected to be completed by April.



Vo-Tech center offers adult evening classes

HOWARDVILLE — The New Madrid County R-1 Vocational Technical Skills Center has started adult evening classes in 16 different areas and will continue to offer courses through April.

Four different courses are offered in each area, starting Sept. 5, Nov. 7, Jan. 30 and April 10. A person may enroll in any or all of the courses offered if he meets the qualifications.

To qualify for enrollment students must presently be working in the field of instructional choice and need instruction to improve or upgrade skills, or they must be unemployed and desire to develop job entry skills.

A minimum of 10 students must be enrolled before any course will be held.

Courses are scheduled to be held three hours weekly from 6 to 9 p.m. each Thursday, except for classes starting April 10 which will meet on Monday and Thursday nights.

A fee is charged for each course to cover materials used. The fee is payable when the course begins.

Areas in which courses are offered include graphics, welding, business data processing, auto body and fender, air conditioning and refrigeration, drafting, clothing and textiles, farm mechanics, auto mechanics, electronics and electricity, accounting, typing, reception skills, institutional foods, health occupations and building trades.

The courses are scheduled to last either nine or 18 weeks.

Unemployment benefits announced

JEFFERSON CITY — Unemployment insurance benefits paid out at local offices in Cape Girardeau, Caruthersville, Kennett, Poplar Bluff and Sikeston totaled $385,123 for August, according to Murl Nash, informational supervisor for the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

The most benefits, $122,589, were paid at the Sikeston office. The Cape Girardeau office was second at $112,314. The Caruthersville office paid out the least with only $21,271. The office at Poplar Bluff paid out $88,084 in benefits, and the Kennett office paid $40,865.

The office paying out the most benefits statewide was St. Louis, $2,421,050, and the one paying out the least was Marshall, $16,401.

Benefits paid statewide were up 4.9 per cent from July.

John F. Meystrik, director of the Missouri Division of Employment Security, said that this was due to unemployment in the automobile and related industries as a result of the energy crisis.

Missourians to voice opinion on reform

ST. LOUIS — Controversial recommendations that the Missouri House of Representatives be reduced by 38 members and that the lieutenant governor be removed as presiding officer of the Senate will be subjected to public opinion at six regional hearings.

"This is the first time in modern history that Missourians have been asked directly for their ideas on legislative reform, and we anticipate a large public response with the voicing of strong opinions," said William H. Harrison, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Joint Interim Committee on Improvement and Modernization of the General Assembly.

Harrison's 25- member committee, appointed by the House, Senate and governor, is charged with recommending specific plans for modernization of the legislative branch of state government. Research consultants have submitted a variety of proposals, including a call for sharp increases in legislative salaries, and the committee now intends to test public reaction and wishes in hearings throughout the state.

Hearings are scheduled Oct. 1 at Columbia, in the public library auditorium; Oct. 3 at Kansas City, in the City Council chamber; Oct. 8 at Cape Girardeau, in the common pleas courtroom at city hall; Oct. 10 at Kirksville, in the circuit courtroom at the county courthouse; Oct. 15 at Springfield, in the City Council chamber; and Oct. 17 at St. Louis, in the Missouri Historical Society auditorium at the Jefferson Memorial Building, Lindell and De Baliviere.

Each hearing will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until all wishing to testify have done so. Additional hearings may be scheduled in other Missouri cities if public response indicates such a need. Harrison said time reservations for testimony were not required, but said scheduling would be helpful. Groups or individuals may reserve time by contacting Harrison at P. O. Box 267, St. Louis, Mo. 63166.

Work of the legislative reform committee is designed to update the legislative branch in much the same manner that state administrative agencies were revamped this year in reorganization of the executive branch of Missouri's government.

Consultants who recommended reducing the size of the Missouri House cited present problems of management, expense, facilities and the number of committees.

Having the Senate choose its own presiding officer, a position now held by the lieutenant governor, was presented as a matter of equality with the House which chooses one of its own members as Speaker. Proposed salary boosts were based upon inflation, annual legislative sessions and increased workloads which have arisen since the last salary increase in 1967.

Other recommendations being considered by the committee include proposals to reduce the number of Senate and House committees, remove most state agencies from the Capitol in order to provide additional committee rooms, enlarge and restructure legislative staff and services and establish a central records office for legislative and public use.

Besides seeking public reaction to proposed changes, the committee hopes to gather a broad range of comments from groups and individuals who have met with either success or failure in legislative relationships.

Rh problems can be licked

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 24-year-old woman. I would like to know about the Rh negative factor. I have one child, he was a 7-month pregnancy, but I didn't have any trouble in his delivery. I have Rh negative blood, and I would like to have another child. Different people have told me it is dangerous for a second child since I have the Rh factor. My husband has type B. I also have a heart condition, but my heart specialist said I could have more children. Could you tell me the facts of Rh blood? I do not want to take any chances if it is dangerous.

DEAR READER — This is a problem that shouldn't exist today. It is preventable. Did you know that 12 per cent of the couples in American marriages are between an Rh negative woman and an Rh positive man?

The Rh factor is a substance that most people have in their blood. Such a person is Rh positive. If you don't have the Rh factor and it gets into your body, for example from a transfusion of Rh positive blood, you develop an immunity to Rh factor. It is literally a foreign body, and the body takes measures to reject it.

When the prospective mother is Rh negative without the factor and her developing baby is Rh positive (which means the father had to be Rh positive) some of the Rh positive cells formed by the baby will leak across the placenta into the mother's circulation. These sensitize her to Rh positive cells. She becomes allergic, so to speak, to Rh factor. If the baby is also Rh negative (about two out of five in such a union will be) then there is no problem.

But when the baby is Rh positive the antibodies developed against the Rh factor by the mother get into its circulation. Here they start an allergic-like reaction that destroys the baby's Rh positive red blood cells. If the process is severe it will result in a still birth. Less severe instances may cause jaundice and other damage to the baby.

It doesn't matter that your husband is type B. What counts is whether he is Rh positive. It is important whether your first baby is Rh negative or positive. If he is negative you may not yet have antibodies against the Rh factor. If you get pregnant and the next baby is Rh negative there will be no reaction. It takes a sensitized Rh negative mother with an Rh positive baby to create the problem.

Now, sensitization can be prevented by giving the mother an injection of protective immunoglobin within 72 hours of delivery of an Rh positive baby. This will protect the mother and baby for the next pregnancy. Here is the catch, though. You must also have this done after an abortion or miscarriage, whether it was for medical reasons, social reasons, or spontaneous. If the pregnancy is two months along and is an Rh positive fetus it will sensitize the mother. If there is any question about the age of the fetus the shot should be given to the mother. The protective vaccine carries no significant risk.

You have left some unanswered questions — your husband's Rh factor (positive or negative), your baby's Rh factor, and whether you have had other pregnancies. These must be answered before anyone can advise you properly.

'La Boheme' opens Memphis opera season

MEMPHIS — Puccini's all-time favorite opera, "La Boheme", will open the Memphis Opera Theatre 1974-75 season. It will be staged Oct. 3 and 5 at the Auditorium Music Hall.

Starring as the ill- fated lovers of the romantic opera are Metropolitan Opera baritone Raymond Gibbs in the principal role of Rodolfo, a poetn, and lovely New York City Opera soprano Patricia Craig as Mimi. Baritone John Darrenkamp of the New York City Opera will sing the role of Marcello, a painter, and young soprano Harriet Beebe will sing the role of his sweetheart, Musetta.

Others in the cast include young American bass Tom Fox in the role of Colline, a philosopher; baritone Joseph Galiano, as Schaunard, a musician; and Ronald Combs, in the dual roles of Penoit, a landlord, and Alcindor, a councillor of state. Rounding out the cast are Michael Walker, as Parpignol, and Richard Vernon, as the Custom House sergeant.

Guest directed by James de Blasis of The Cincinnati Opera Company and The Corbett Foundation, Boheme will be conducted by maestro Kurt Klippstatter, designed by John Wright Stevens, lighted by Thomas Mendenhall and costumed by Dean Brown.

Other productions of the season include "La Forza Del Destino", Oct. 31 and Nov. 2, with Martino Arroyo; "La Traviata, Jan. 11, with superstar Beverly Sills, and "Of Mice and Men, March 6 and 8.

Season tickets are still available and all students are offered a substantial discount at the Memphis State University ticket office, located in the Student Center.

Betterment meet set

JEFFERSON CITY — The 11th annual Missouri Community Betterment Conference will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 22 and 23, according to an announcement by Joe Butler, director of the Missouri Division of Community Development, which now administers the Community Betterment Program as a result of state government reorganization.

This year's conference will again be held at the Jefferson City Ramada Inn and will get under way with a luncheon session on October 22.

The program for this year's conference will revolve around a series of seminars explaining services and programs of the recently established Community Development Division. Conferees will have an opportunity to participate in seminars on funding for community facilities, community management programs, local and regional planning or industrial development and other assistance programs available from state government.

The registration desk will open at 8 a.m. on Oct. 22., but Butler urged delegates to register in advance if at all possible. "The conference always draws overflow crowds," he said, "and this year seems to be no exception. There are in excess of 300 communities in the program; and our records reveal that in these communities, where there is significant civic involvement, considerable progress toward economic growth is occurring."

Butler indicated that a good example of this is the fact that Missouri Community Betterment towns gained 87 per cent of all jobs created by new industries in nonmetropolitan Missouri last year.

As a caution to those planning to attend.

Labor members urged to register and vote

ST. LOUIS — Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, urged Missouri's labor union members today to get back into the decision - making process in government.

"I think it is important," he told delegates to the State AFL-CIO convention, "that you get your members interested enough in government to get out and register and vote.

"In our recent primary election, only 30.2 per cent of our registered voters turned out, and I think such apathy cannot long continue if we are going to preserve our democratic system of government.

"What it means, apparently, is that almost 70 per cent of our citizens are willing to turn over their government to the eastern educated and oriented whiz kids appointed by our eastern educated and oriented millionaire state officials; and how are the working people going to get a fair shake out of that?"

Cason said it is important for all working people, either in the shop or on the farm, to get involved in government instead of leaving it to the "experts" and the upper echelon of society.

"Politics and government cannot be a spectator sport for the working guy who pays the taxes or the housewife who is worrying about her budget," he said. "It is important that the working man who earns a living by the sweat of his brow get back in the game and insure that he is not ignored in governmental decisions."

In these times of economic stress, when prices keep going up faster than ever before, Cason said the people who pay most of the taxes should take a hand in the election of their legislators and their state and national officials.

"Personally," he said, "I am committed to no new taxes next year and I hope that if revenue collections continue to hold up the way they have been in the last two months, we may even be able to make some tax cuts to help those at the bottom of the scale.

"So far as I am concerned, the year 1975 in the Legislature should be the year of the taxpayer."

"A DAUGHTER'S LOVE
By Gene Godwin

If we all had love for one another
Like my daughter has for me
Then what a wonderful place
This world would surely be

If we showed our true emotions
With tender loving pride
Then all quarrels would have ended
All hatred would have died

There are gaps in generations
But I know there is none in mine
Our love grows ever stronger
Just like a clinging vine

And when I have gone to heaven
My little girl will carry on
I will remain in her heart
Our love shall not be gone

Balanced federal budget urged

INDEPENDENCE — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) Friday night called for a return to fiscal responsibility in government during remarks at the opening of the "Santa-Cali-Gon Fair."

"Unless our government recaptures the determination and the spirit of frugality exhibited by those pioneers who left Independence on the Santa Fe, California and Oregon Trails, inflation will not be brought under control," Symington asserted.

"We need a return to a balanced federal budget.

"During the years when this town's number one citizen, the late President Harry S. Truman, led the nation, our economy showed a steady growth and the federal budget was very nearly in balance," Symington said.

"But during fiscal year 1970 through the estimated budget for the current fiscal year, 1975, the total deficit will be more than 78 billion, 400 million dollars. These figures are based on the estimates of the Office of Management and Budget."

"Total outlays during the Truman years were 409 billion dollars, with a deficit of only one billion, 57 million dollars. If we exclude the fiscal year 1946 when the country was winding down from World War II, the Truman years would have shown a 16 billion, 600 million dollar budget surplus," the Missouri senator said.

Hate mongers are own worst enemies

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The nomination of Nelson Rockefeller for the vice presidency has brought expected screams of protest from those who loathe his politics or his money. Much of the dissent is honest and intellectual and therefore welcome. Some other, however, is fanatical and so constitutes only confusion and possible danger.

The muckiest opposition, and perhaps also the most perilous, can be heard on the street corners of several of America's largest cities. There, almost any day, members of something called the National Caucus of Labor Committees, pass out literature and empty opinions condemning Rockefeller as an oppressor of the people. Such is the ferocity of the complainers, and the dread reputation of their group, that federal law agencies are said to be "seriously concerned" that the opponents may yet turn their hatred of the Vice President - designate into something violent.

The concern may be legitimate. Though outwardly not much more that another of the small hate groups which try the nation's tolerance, NCLC has something else: magnetism. As did the Symbionese Liberation Army, it is able to draw recruits from mainstream America, program them and ever after expect conformity and obedience. The Nazis of Hitler's Germany made the tactic high art; "We can," said Goebbels, "take anyone and make him do anything." So too, reportedly, can the NCLC today.

I base the latter comment not only on evidence from government investigatory bodies, but also on a personal experience. A friend of mine joined NCLC at the beginning of the year and ruined his life by devoting it. I won't name the friend, suffice it to say that until January he was a young man of good nature with a lovely wife and promising future. Now, after nine months in NCLC, following orders, he is jobless, drawing unemployment compensation from a system he deplores, a ne'r-do-well loafer who has abandoned his promise for the glories of hating Nelson Rockefeller.

His wife, who still hopes for his return, says the ruination of his life began almost without notice. "One day he just said he was joining NCLC and he did. At first he lived at home and I tried to accept his new interest. But some of the things he began saying just made me laugh. So he moved out. He said he didn't want to get a divorce but he was going out to 'return the country to the working people.' Now, after all this time, we hardly even talk. I don't see him anymore at all."

Though forsaken herself, the wife has not forsaken my friend. In an effort to understand her husband's radical philosophy, she met and talked with former NCLC members. Then she talked with friends of members and relatives of members. Finally, in desperation for knowledge, she went to the FBI.

"What I learned was this: nobody, but nobody, has anything good to say about NCLC. Everyone agrees it's made up of confused people who subscribe to the dictates of a founder named 'Doctor' Lyn Marcus. That's not his real name. Neither is he a doctor. All he dictates is hate, hate Rockefeller, hate the CIA, hate the whole system."

The wife, naturally, is in a state of severe frustration and at times near depression. "How do things like this happen?" she asks. "How do groups like this form? How do they trap people like my husband?"

The answers, unfortunately, are unknown. No doubt many of the NCLC members, including my friend, are sincere in their wish to change the nation, sincere in their contempt for the Rockefeller fortune. But their blind faith in a hopeless, malicious cause goes unexplained save the fact free men have many rights, including that of being damn fools.

And were the principal horror of NCLC merely the creation of foolish members, the group would merit no editorial comment. Sadly, though, their potential for evil is much more worrisome. "It's the kind of organization that scares me," says an investigator for the House Internal Security Committee, "who knows what crackpots like that will do?"

Still, of course, NCLC may never do anything but simply exist. And, ironically, in such eventuality their foes such as (Nelson Rockefeller) would be safe and only their friends, such as my friend, would be destroyed.
